ANNUAL MEETING

Woman's Association of Central Church have luncheon and elect officers

The annual meeting of the Woman's Association of Central Church was held on Wednesday. The morning was spent in work. Luncheon was served at 12:30 in charge of Mrs. Dame, who took the place of Miss Marion Bryant, who was prevented because of her recent bereavement from being present.

Mrs. C. A. Richardson, secretary of the association, read a most stimulating report of the year's work, showing the growth of the society in membership, the new lines of work which had been introduced during the year, and the increase in efficiency owing to certain changes in the organization. Her report was full of touches of wit and humor which added greatly to its interest.

Following her, Mrs. D. Brewer, the treasurer, read her report, which showed the flourishing condition of the society financially.

The speaker of the occasion was the pastor of the church, Rev. M. H. Lichliter, who spoke on "Lengthen the Cords; Strengthen the Stakes." The title was a figurative one taken from the Bible and referring to the tent cords which in Oriental lands are lengthened to give greater room, and the stakes of the tent strengthened to give greater support.

Enlarging upon the first thought, the speaker told of the changing conditions in the mission fields abroad, of the rise of nationalism and of other conditions which will necessitate a change of policy in the missionary work of the churches.

He said that in his opinion the greatest advance in the future would be along the line of women's work. The influence of the war has been felt in the freeing of women everywhere from their former restrictions. In our own country, too, important readjustments will have to be made.

Mr. Lichliter then went on to point out to members of the association some ways in which the society might extend its work. He emphasized the importance of the right use of one's leisure time, and said that the individual gained in spiritual growth far more by seeing and doing than by hearing.

In regard to the second half of his subject, he pointed out some ways in which the home church might be made more useful.

Other reports were also read, and pledges taken for the coming year. The following officers were then elected: President, Mrs. Austin H. DeCatur; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. W. C. Boyden, Mrs. W. H. Allen; Recording Secretary, Mrs. C. A. Richardson; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. P. F. Williams; Treasurer, Mrs. D. Brewer; Eddy (Mrs. B. F. Kenney to take her place during her absence abroad); Auditor, Mrs. E. S. Woodbury; Directors: World Missions, Miss Abby A. Miller, Housekeeping, Mrs. Otto Bachman, Work, Mrs. J. D. Bennett; Nominating Committee, Mrs. Graham Harris (1 year), Mrs. C. P. Frail (2 years), Mrs. H. B. Nickerson (3 years); Advisory Board, the deaconesses of the church; Special Committees: Publicity, Mrs. E. K. Titus; Surgical Dressings, Mrs. W. H. Allen; Layette, Mrs. Harold Sherman; Attendance, Mrs. G. W. Auryansen. Affiliated Organizations: Mrs. W. E. Strong, Seaman's Friend; Mrs. Ruth D. Whitney, Central Guild; Mrs. Percy Ziegler, Cradle Roll.

25th ANNIVERSARY

The Women's Association of Eliot Church celebrated its 25th anniversary on Tuesday by a luncheon and business meeting. Mrs. Arthur E. Holt, the retiring president, in the chair.

Before the reading of the report of the year's work, Miss Mary F. Speare paid a beautiful tribute to the late Mrs. Woodbridge, who was for so many years a devoted and faithful member of the association.

Following her, the secretary, Mrs. George L. Parker, gave an excellent report of the year's work, touching upon each of the organizations of the church in turn, and speaking of the affiliated work, and of the recently formed federation of Newton churches. She concluded with the motto for the coming year, "Alliance to the Faithful and Wholehearted Service."

The treasurer's report was then read after which Mrs. Holt in a graceful speech turned over the meeting to the new president, Mrs. George Angier.

Mrs. Angier spoke of the origin of the society under Mrs. Davis, and of its growth under each of the succeeding presidents. She regretted that Mrs. Davis was unable to be present, and called upon Mrs. Everett Kent, who read a poem written by Mrs. Davis for an earlier celebration, and greetings for the 25th anniversary sent by her. Greetings were also read from some of the absent vice-presidents.

The birthday candles were then brought in by a group of ladies representing different periods, and dressed in appropriate costumes. The woman of seventy-five years ago was represented by Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, of fifty years ago by Mrs. F. A. Franklin, of twenty-five years ago by Mrs. Frank Lamson, the woman of today by Mrs. Frank A. Day, and the woman of the future by Miss Margaret Fitts.

Following this, Mrs. Alfred Fuller gave interesting reminiscences of her thirty years with the association, and Mrs. H. H. Powers spoke of her twenty years' association with the society.

Rev. M. H. Lichliter of Central Church, Newtonville, then brought the greetings of the sister churches to the association, and spoke briefly of the doing of new things in new ways.

He touched upon the new conditions which necessitated "new ways." He emphasized particularly the value of personal service, and made a plea for the best use of one's leisure time.

At the conclusion of his speech, Mrs. George Angier moved that a vote of thanks be given to the retiring officers, and it was also moved to send an expression of sympathy to Mrs. Loren D. Towle because of her recent bereavement.

In the absence of Mrs. Towle, who was chairman of the luncheon, Mrs. Louis D. Gibbs and her committee had charge of the luncheon.

PRESENTED WITH $100

Mr. Charles C. Noble, who has been director of Camp Frank A. Day for the past two years, is to return for another year. This was the announcement made by Mr. C. D. Kepner, Chairman of the Camp Committee, at the Camp Reunion Banquet held Thursday evening, December 28th, at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

In spite of the severe storm, the campers appeared like magic about six o'clock, and there were more than 100 who sat down to the banquet prepared by Messrs. Conroy and Burke, the camp cooks.

Mr. Noble acted as toastmaster and called for remarks from Mr. C. D. Kepner, H. W. Bascom, General Secretary, Mr. Hess, Boys' Work Secretary, and L. C. Kepner, Chairman of the Boys Work Committee. Each spoke enthusiastically of the past year at camp and predicted the best year yet for Camp Day in 1923.

Then in behalf of the parents of the boys, Mrs. George Deffen thanked Mr. Noble for his very fine leadership at Camp last summer and presented him with $100 in gold as a token of their appreciation.

Mr. Noble was completely taken by surprise but managed to express his thanks in appropriate words. There were cheers for Mr. Noble and for Mr. Hess who is to be associated with Mr. Noble next year at camp, and for "Doc" Doubleday who has done so much for the camp in past years, and for Messrs. Conroy and Burke who have promised to take charge of the "eats" at Camp this coming year.

Alfred J. Stafford and his assistant Donald "Cutie" Cunningham, two of the popular tent leaders of Camp Day, entertained with music. "Cutie" did the tricks, and "Cutie" proceeded to give them away. Roger Salinger read selections from the Camp Log and Mr. Hess gave a reading which was much enjoyed.

In closing all joined in the Camp song led by Mr. Noble.

Music was given by the Y. M. C. A. orchestra under the direction of Philip Horne, Dwight Shapler looked after the decorations and the following ladies waited on the tables: Mrs. C. D. Kepner, Mrs. G. H. Cleason, Mrs. C. T. Noble, Mrs. J. A. Stafford, Mrs. H. W. Bascom, Miss Theodora Albee, Miss Hazel Beckwith, Miss Mary Heard, and Miss Margaret Bascom.

Camp Frank A. Day is conducted under the auspices of the Newton Y. M. C. A. by the following committee: C. D. Kepner, Chairman; G. H. Cleason, G. C. Colburn, H. T. Dougherty, F. D. Fuller, C. G. Hess, L. C. Kepner, and H. W. Bascom, Secretary.

The topic of Professor Bailey's address will be "The Bible and the Spade." Professor Bailey is professor of art and archaeology at Boston University, and is well known as a writer and speaker on these subjects. He has a gift for making vivid and interesting the incidents of Bible history. He has conducted many parties on tours of Palestine and other places of interest to Bible students. At the Northfield Summer School of Religious Education, Professor Bailey has been a popular instructor in a course entitled "The Religious Value of Art." One of his best known books is "The Gospel in Art."

NEW CITY GOVERNMENT

Seven new aldermen and one new member of school committee take office

The city government of 1923 was inaugurated on Monday afternoon, the members-elect of the aldermen and school committee being sworn in by Mayor Childs in the presence of a small number of spectators. The inclement weather being no small factor in keeping down the attendance.

There was a brief meeting of the 1922 board early in the afternoon, the new board coming together at three o'clock.

The following were present: Aldermen Earle, Grebenstein, Smith, Young, White, and Hollis; Aldermen-elect William S. Ball, John C. Madden, Roy V. Collins, Daniel O'Connell, Sinclair Weeks, George M. Heathcote, Harry B. Ross, Henry W. Ball, J. Earle Parker, Randolph F. Tucker, Norman F. Pratt, Harry W. Fitts, and Howard Norton, and Mrs. Helen S. Hutchinson and Mr. Salmon W. Wilder, members-elect of the school committee. The only persons absent were Alderman George W. Pratt and Alderman-elect Timothy C. Hickey.

City Clerk Grant called to order and Alderman-elect Madden was chosen temporary chairman. He appointed Aldermen Earle, Weeks, and White a committee to notify the Mayor, and Mayor Childs, with Rev. Robert L. Rae and ex-Mayor George Hutchinson was soon escorted to the chamber. Prayer was offered by Mr. Rae and the members-elect of the board and of the school committee were then sworn in by the Mayor. The Mayor then delivered his annual message which will be found in full in this paper.

Alderman Hollis was then elected president and took the chair, the Mayor and his guests retiring.

In accepting the office President Hollis said in part:—

"I thank you for this honor which you have conferred upon me for the second time. I promise you that I will at all times work for the good of the city as I see it. I ask you to approach your work in the same spirit."

The old members know and the new members will soon find out that it is not always easy to do this. Unfortunately there are many citizens only too ready to criticize and find fault with the work of their public servants. It is impossible to satisfy them unless your mind runs in exactly the same channel as their own. The newspapers, too, are more inclined to censure than applaud. They do not always represent public opinion. A minority often makes more noise than a majority.

If you will act and vote as you yourselves think right, that is all that should be asked of you. Let us all "dare to do our duty as we understand it."

The work of carrying on the city's business is increasing every year. Members of the board are required to give more time to their duties than did their predecessors of eight or ten years ago. As some indication of how the business of the city has grown let me call your attention to the budget of the year 1915—my first year in the board. It amounted to $1,507,000. The budget last year was $2,784,000. The total expenditures for 1915 amounted to $1,814,000. In 1922, over $3,000,000. These figures, however, should mean more to us than an indication that the work of the aldermen has increased. They should be a warning to us to be careful of our expenditures during the coming year and to see that no appropriations are made which are not absolutely necessary or expedient. It is true that conditions the past eight years have been abnormal. The high cost of living made it imperative for us to increase the salaries of our school teachers and other employees of the city and we all know that the cost of materials and supplies have gone up. On top of this we have been obliged to embark upon a program of new school building which will cost the city hundreds of thousands of dollars. This program is absolutely necessary to handle the school situation at the present time—a situation made acute by the fact that over a long period of years no new school buildings were erected. The citizens of Newton demand the best of everything and on the whole are willing to pay a fair price for what they receive, but that does not relieve us of the duty of practising economy wherever possible. It is the people's money we are spending—let us be sure it is not wasted.

Much of the time of the board at present is taken up by hearings on garages, gasoline stations, etc. I believe it would be wise to consider some

SWEET VOICE WON HUSBAND

Romance of Fortunate New York Telephone Girl and Wealthy Young Mexican.

A romance was recently enacted indirectly by telephone in one of the New York hotels. Six weeks ago a wealthy young Mexican arrived on business and engaged an expensive suite. A few hours later he was knocked over by a motorcar and suffered a broken leg. He insisted on being taken to his hotel, rather than to a hospital, and since expense was no consideration, he was installed with nurses and attendants in his own suite.

He kept to his room for six weeks and when he felt able to work a little, he hired a secretary and proceeded to carry on his affairs by telephone. They were complicated and required an immense number of conversations. Within a day or so he became aware that his calls were handled with skill and patience. The next discovery was that the voice at the other end of his private line was easy to listen to. There was a smile behind the voice.

Day by day the telephone conversations grew longer. It began with a respectful inquiry as to the patient's health. Gradually the inquiries went more into details. By the end of two weeks the invalid and the voice at the hotel switchboard were on good terms. At the end of a month long conversations were the order of the day. When the sixth week had passed the man's brother arrived just as the patient's leg was strong enough to permit a visit to the hotel lobby.

"Where do you want to go first?" the brother inquired.

"I want you to help me walk down to the telephone switchboard," the invalid explained. "I want to see the girl there. And oh, by the way, I am going to marry her."

"Great heavens, what's she like?" was the natural inquiry.

"Haven't seen her yet, but we've fixed it all up over the phone."

The voice with the smile is now directing an establishment in the City of Mexico.—New York Sun.

"Curbs Fit for Heroes to Stand In."

The New Statesman says that London has not had so many beggars within living memory as today, and the worst of it is, they have none of the romance of beggary.

"They are prosaic, dull, hopeless. Most of them look as if they had been born to be commonplace citizens, earning a more or less honest living like you and me. To speak strictly, indeed, they are not beggars, but collectors. They stand on the curb; they wait in the doorways of restaurants; they haunt the streets of the respectable. All the time they keep shaking their narrow white boxes, and asking for more."

"They vary from the sullen to the responsive. Some of them seem to demand a right rather than to beg a favor. They believe that there is money somewhere, and it is only just that it should be shared."

"It is the habit of civilized societies, at the end of a great war, to provide curbs fit for heroes to stand on."

Is "Deceased" Man Dead?

A Jeffersonville woman, who formerly lived at Greencastle and supposes that is the reason she was chosen to receive the letter, has received a communication from a resident of Putnam county, of whom she had never previously heard, asking for information concerning the writer's brother, who lived in Jeffersonville for many years, reports the Indianapolis News. The writer said she had not heard from him for five years, and letters had brought no answer. She sent a registered letter at last, she said, and it was returned to her marked "deceased." "I should like to know," she said, "whether he is dead." The answer went back. "He is, since November, 1919." But the woman believes the Post Office department should be more explicit.

Found Red Dye in Fruit.

A German medical journal reports the injury of a young girl at Frankfurt from the point of a hypodermic needle which she swallowed while eating a blood orange. Investigation developed the fact that the needle had been filled with a red aniline dye.

The girl, it seems, had purchased a dozen of the oranges. These were examined and it was found that all contained an injection of the same nature. It appears that frauds of this sort are no novelty in Germany. Similar cases often having been reported—the chemical transformation of ordinary oranges into fake blood oranges.—From Le Petit Parisien, Paris. (Translated for the Kansas City Star).

They're Sometimes in the Way.

Jack—Well, what's the idea of cutting it off now when it took you so long to grow it?

Bill—Of course, you saw me catch Gladys under the mistletoe during the last dance.

"Oh! Wouldn't she kiss you on account of it?"

"Not exactly, but she became so unconscious that she lost her gun in it."—Boston Beantop.

Oldest Living Newspaper Man?

Amable Maillet-Saint-Prix, a Parisian journalist, who was born in 1821 and is therefore in his one hundred and second year, is in all probability the oldest journalist alive. He is at least the oldest working newspaperman, for he is still vigorous and not only writes a weekly article in the Abille de Seine-et-Oise, published in Corbeil, but actually makes up the paper.—The Argonaut.

NEW CITY GOVERNMENT

change in legislation by which the board would be relieved of the major part of this work.

What effect, if any, the new Zoning ordinance will have on these matters is a question but it is probable that whatever time is saved due to fewer applications for permits on account of the ordinance will be more than offset by the consideration of questions due to the ordinance itself.

I mention these matters not with a desire that the board may shirk any of its duties or responsibilities but rather that it may have more time to give to more important matters.

The fame of Newton as the home of honest and efficient city government extends not only throughout the Commonwealth but throughout the entire country as well. Without exception, the city's business in the past has been conducted honestly and well. Let us see that the same high standard is maintained during 1923.

Alderman Heathcote was elected vice president and City Treasurer Newhall and City Clerk Grant unanimously re-elected, the latter for a term of three years.

Mayor Childs sent in the nomination of Joseph Lourie as a public weigher and it was confirmed. He also recommended some $2500 for care of snow and ice the last two days of the year and this appropriation was authorized. His recommendation of $30,000 to carry on the garbage collection to October 1st and for a study to be made of the matter was referred to a committee.

Petitions of the Newton Centre Garage, Newton Highlands Garage, Evans Motor Co., Newton Motor Sales Co., T. C. Crowner, G. C. Weed and J. P. Jewett for renewal of automobile licenses, of P. J. and J. F. Reilly for 2 taxis, Charles Brothers for a taxi, L. E. Dukett for transfer of taxi and truck licenses of Smart's Stable, of the Edison Company for poles on Beacon street were granted. A petition was also received from the Newton City Employees' Union for a half holiday on Saturday throughout the year.

These committees were appointed by President Hollis:

DOCTOR'S DILEMMA IN CHINA

Ignorant and Superstitious Natives Beseech Physician to Perform All Kinds of Impossibilities.

The rain was coming in sheets, and we had to stop at three this afternoon. Since then I have had a number of patients. A boy of eleven, who fell over a cliff and broke his arm, eleven months ago, is here with all his relatives, asking me to make the bones grow together again. There was no treatment for the arm when the accident happened, for the native doctors know nothing of surgery. They bound some vile-smelling concoction to the arm with bamboo splints and put another plaster of the same mixture on the back, "to draw the bone up." The arm is, of course, useless. I suggested an amputation, but the relatives will not consent to a mutilation of the body. The boy tried to prove to me, by opening and closing his hand, that the arm had life, and he would not believe me when I told him that the ends of the bone could not be brought together except by an operation. An old woman, bedridden for many years, is lying in the rain, on a stretcher made of sackcloth and bamboo poles, while her half-blind husband, who almost fell into the water when he came up the plank, pleads with me to give her some medicine to make her "feet walk, her tongue talk and her fingers able to hold her chop sticks." A leper, blind, footless and without hands, is sitting on the bank, begging for relief from the terrible disease that is slowly killing him. He promises to spend his life in making prostrations before me if I will condescend to heal him. A girl with tubercular sinuses in her bound foot tells me that she is to be married soon and that her future husband says he will beat her if she comes to him in poor health.

About four o'clock we went out for a bit of a walk. A poor woman on the bank held out her emaciated baby and asked me to make it see. Some ignorant medical practitioner had run needles into its eyes to drive a demon out of its stomach. The mother offered to bow before every shrine within a radius of three miles if I would only give her baby power to look up into her face.—From "A Fortnight in a Cargo Boat," by William L. Hall, in Asia Magazine.

Social Climbers in Germany.

Old decorations and titles are still craved by social climbers in republican Germany. This is shown in a case in which an international impostor and his accomplice, who is a lunatic, were tried for fraud, says the Montreal Herald. The prisoner was charged with having traveled over Germany representing himself to be a papal count and chamberlain of the Vatican and selling papal baronetcies and orders for thousands of marks each. The titles are said to have been solemnly bestowed by the demented accomplice, who was formerly a veterinary surgeon, and whose mania is believing himself to be a ruling prince. A Munich art dealer paid 16,000 marks for a nonexistent Lateran order, while a Frankfurt merchant underwent solemn investiture as a Maltese knight. But when the new knight did not pay the promised sum he was deprived of his title, which originated only in the fertile imagination of the false papal count.

The Tipping Problem.

"The tipping problem in Italy," said a traveler, "has been solved—incorrectly. Ten per cent is added to your hotel bill for tips; these tips the management distributes among the hotel staff; you give nothing yourself."

"A solution, but an incorrect one, for by it the Italian waiter who has been rude to you gets as much of your money as the one who has been devoted. That is wrong, of course."

"In a Nice hotel I encountered a solution that was better. There 10 per cent was added to my bill for tips, but I was given paper vouchers, a kind of hotel currency, for the amount, and they told me to distribute these vouchers as I pleased. I did so. The people who had served me well were generously rewarded. Those who had neglected me got nothing."

"A solution, eh? But I asked myself, as I distributed my paper vouchers, how I was any better off by the new system than by the old one."

Learning to Play.

Albanian children are playing for the first time since the beginning of the war and are being taught American games. This has been made possible by funds contributed by American children through the Junior Red Cross. These children have never learned to play nor to laugh, but every day now, outside the old parliament building in Tirana, schoolboys may be seen playing prisoners' base, burn the city, duck on the rock, hop scotch and other games that have made the American children the brightest in the world.

The girls indulge in all the games and frolics popular among their little sisters in America. During school hours they are taught also to sew, embroider and care for the sick.

Ease and Comfort in Java.

Living in Java is so inexpensive that a European resident in moderate circumstances may keep many servants; while the Mohammedan residents, whose religion allows them four wives, are usually able to support the full number. Of late, however, the H. C. L., penetrating in a degree even to Java, has forced them somewhat to reduce their families. In Java if a nobleman marries beneath him he does not bother to go to the ceremony, but very kindly sends his sword or his hat to represent him.

ALVORD BROS.

(Est. 1890)

81 UNION STREET, - - - NEWTON CENTRE
Centre Newton 1136 or 358GOD OF WEALTHJapanese Deity Whose Favor
Naturally Is Sought.

Worshippers at His Shrine, However,
Are Comparatively Few Considering
His Reputed Powers.

Japan's "Seven Gods of Good Luck" are a clan of deities from which philosophy, religion and superstition have borrowed much of their origin.

They are a queer set of deities, swept together from many incongruous sources—Japanese Shintoism, Chinese Taoism, Indian Buddhism and Brahmanism. Orientals all, but cosmopolitan Orientals!

They comprise, to give them their full names, Ebisu, Daikoku, Benten, Fuburoku, Bashamon, Jurijin and Hotel.

A full discussion of their origin and attributes would doubtless reveal how slender a basis the modern popularity of these deities has been reared on. Their union in one group is the result of nothing more recalcitrant than popular ignorance and confusion of ideas. They themselves never chose to be thus united. They reign in an ideal state, for they have no king or even spokesman among them. Collectively they command perennial, perpetual and everlasting interest. Individually they celebrate their own festivals and each can boast of an entirely different group in his train of devotees.

On Daikoku's birthday a few of his disciples will worship at his shrine at Azabu and in Osaka. It seems so strange to say "a few," for of all the gods in the cycle of Japanese mythology, in this material age, Daikoku, the god of wealth, should find greatest favor! But perhaps he has not proved himself to be gracious to supplicants! Perhaps efficacious influences have not been felt in result of worship at his shrines—or is it that even he, the god of wealth, has failed to live up to the extravagant standard our present-day civilization has set as a basis to contentment?

Daikoku is a Hindu and a Buddhist. The word "Daikoku" means "great blackness," and when he first came to Japan he was a god of physique and frightful aspect with a face as black as night. Since his naturalization Daikoku has thrown off some of his native characteristics and has adopted a new mode of living, the chief of his models being Okukikushinokoto, a famous god in the mythology of Japan.

In the old records this god was represented carrying a large bag on his shoulders. As there is a similarity, in this material age, Daikoku, the Japanese people somehow mixed up the two characters and molded them into one perfect deity who combines the good points of both. Makhala (Sanskrit) was the original name by which he was known in India, where he was feared as god of destruction. His immigration to Japan has changed his incarnation to that of wealth and plenty.

He stands or sits on three bales of rice, having in one hand the usudenokuchi or the lucky hammer from which he can produce anything in the world he chooses to, from a palace down to gold or silver, man or beast! He carries on his back a bag full of treasures of all sorts, while rats are his earthly messengers and oftentimes he is represented with one on either side of him, waiting to do his bidding.

Daikoku is generally coupled with Ebisu, the god of tradesmen. Though they are of totally different birth, race, religion, etc., they have been linked together and one seldom sees the one without the other in close proximity. Although Daikoku is not a god to whose shrine worshippers flock, his popularity is told by the number of metallic images of his divinity which are bought and carried as amulets by people seeking wealth.

Shall we test this jovial little man's powers? Go to his shrine and beseech him to command a shower of gold, or carry his image in our pocket and see if we find it gold-lined by night?

We are snobs—all of us—of one kind or another. "We don't care for money," say some haughtily, having none. "I don't know how to spend my money," complains a millionaire. It's Daikoku's turn to speak and if he but could he would strip the world of its snobism and no doubt reveal a race of human beings all alike in their allegiance to him, the god of wealth!

Described.

"What sort of a fellow is he?"
"Well, were you ever driving along a busy street and held up for several minutes by a man who had discovered that somebody was about to vacate a parking space?"
"Yes."

"And were you forced to stay there until the other man cranked up his car and arranged his bundles and finally started up?"
"Yes."

"And then compelled to wait still longer until the hog had maneuvered his vehicle in and out several times in order to squeeze his car into the vacant spot?"
"Yes."

"Well, the chances are it was the fellow you just asked about."

STUDY AND WORK

Columbia Students Give Cafeteria an "Atmosphere."

Variety of Races and Countries Represented in Small New York Eating Place.

There is one cafeteria in New York where the dishwashers discuss relatively and the fourth dimension, where the counterwomen have master degrees, where the bus boys are prepared to give an opinion on the Genoa conference, or the Rapallo agreement. This cafeteria is located in a one-story building just back of the massive gray-domed library of Columbia university and is best known by its title of "commons," the New York Sun points out.

Needy students are given all the jobs in this cafeteria, with the exception of some managerial positions and those in the culinary department.

A visit to this cafeteria a little after noon on a week day in the company of one familiar with the place and its habits will yield some interesting information. The man who serves the soup, for example, is a Nova Scotian. A student of journalism, he is earning his way through by free lancing and by doing odd bits of work. Beside him is a Greek, in this country only a year, but already a master of English.

The dark-skinned man at the griddle is a native of Turkistan, a pre-medical student. He has announced his intention of leaving Columbia at the end of the present semester to continue his studies at Iowa State university, because the expenses are less at the latter institution. The 1,700 miles from New York to Iowa he is to travel by emulating Jack London in his adverse days. This man will practice in Persia when he has finished his education.

Behind the salad counter stand two Chinese students, both beneficiaries of provincial government scholarships worth about $90 a month. There are more than 300 Chinese students in New York city alone, it is said, and more than 2,000 in the whole country, mostly sent here by their governments. At the dessert counter is a Japanese.

Further along are to be found native American counterwomen, like the others, obliged to earn their way through school. The man who operates the butter cutting machine was a seaman all the early years of his life and went up as far as a third mate's berth before he decided to chuck the sea and get an education. He has four years of college and two in a professional school ahead of him, even after he works off his matriculation requirements. Besides this work at the cafeteria he has a job taking care of an old man, a paralytic.

Among the dishwashers is a Hindu, already the possessor of a master's degree and now working on his thesis for a doctorate. In another year he hopes to return to India, where he has a wife waiting for him, and take charge of an Indian college.

There is a cosmopolitan air about those who eat in this cafeteria. At one table there may be seen a group of olive-skinned Filipinos, more than 100 of whom are now studying in New York city. Next to them there may be two or three striking blonde students, presumably Scandinavians. A Mesopotamian, a student of philosophy, is a frequenter of this place. So are two Russian students and several Italians. It is probably one of the most cosmopolitan eating places in the city and one of the most interesting when something of the history of the employees here is discovered, and something is learned of their struggle against odds to get an education.

Time to Stop.

Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," is fond of lecturing as well as writing, and the best story he told us on his arrival here from America referred to an occasion when he was holding forth on the subject of matrimony.

"Mine has been an ideal marriage," he exclaimed (while those whose marriages had not been ideal listened with pained interest). "My wife and I share our sorrows, our joys, our ambitions, our hopes, our—"

Then a Scotsman interrupted: "What about conversation, Mr. Lewis?"

And it is reported that there was considerable silence.—London Answers.

He Couldn't Tell.

The bus was tilting along at a good speed when an elderly man of ample proportions threw his dignity to the winds by falling into the road in trying to alight while the bus was in motion.

Presently the injured one struggled up and dashed after the vehicle with frantic speed.

"Didn't you see me fall off, conductor?" he shouted.

"Yes, sir."

"Then why didn't you stop?"

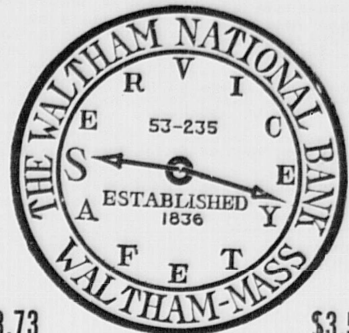

"Stop!" ejaculated the conductor. "How was I to know you wanted to get on and do it again?"—Kansas City Star.

London Police Pay Soars.

London's police today costs nearly as much annually as did the whole of the force in England and Wales before the commencement of the war in 1914.

DEATH

Mrs. Mary A. Towle, 215 Franklin street, died at her home on Wednesday, January 3rd, 1923, at the age of 78 years. She was a native of Cornwall, N. H., and the daughter of Ruel G. Towle, who was a cousin of Sam Walter Foss, the poet, who was widely known around Boston during his lifetime. Besides the son with whom she made her home, Mrs. Towle is survived by a step-son, Charles H. Towle, of Concord, N. H., and a brother, Walter Towle, of Manchester, N. H.

MR. ARGENTO RESIGNS

LEADERSHIP is rarely attained by accident—it comes as a reward for diligent adherence to the highest standards of quality.

Thus the Barrett Company's undisputed leadership in the roofing field is the strongest possible pledge of uniform quality and thorough dependability.

Barrett Multi-Shingles are a typical example of the sound value for which Barrett products are famous. Made of the best waterproofed sheet-roofing, and heavily mineral-surfaced in fadeless shades of dark red or green, they are durable, fire-resisting, strikingly beautiful and need no painting.

They come four shingles to a strip for easy laying. This time-saving feature, combined with their moderate cost and long life, makes them exceedingly economical.

Other popular Barrett products include metal protective paints, roofing cements, shingle stain oil, fly spray and a wood preservative.

An appropriation of $39,000 for the collection of garbage in this city for a period of nine months, as compared with a cost of $18,000 for the same period last year, ought to make our tax payers sit up and take notice. Here is a good field for activity for the Chamber of Commerce.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Great and General Court of Massachusetts, otherwise known as the Legislature, began its annual session on Wednesday morning, re-electing President Frank G. Allen in the Senate and Speaker B. Loring Young in the House.

For the first time in history, women became members of the House, two being present, one a Republican and one a Democrat. They were greeted with applause when they entered the House and were given the courtesy of selecting their own seats. We trust this action will not create a precedent, because if women are to have equal rights in matters of legislation, they should take equal chances with the men in the routine work of the session.

In the appointment of committees, the Newton members of the House shared very well indeed. Mr. Early retaining his important chairmanship of State Administration and having a place on the also important committee on Taxation. Mr. Saltonstall, the new member, not only received one of the coveted places on the Judiciary committee, but was given fourth place on that committee, a position which may presage his receiving the chairmanship of the committee in the future. The writer was honored with the chairmanship of Election Laws, a committee which seems likely to be a political storm center, and was also given a place on Labor and Industry.

Senator Rice was made chairman of the committee on State Administration, thus making the two chairmanships on that committee filled with Newton men, and was also placed on Education, Metropolitan Affairs and Street Railways—all important committees.

On Thursday Governor Cox was inaugurated for a second term of two years, with the usual formalities. His address should be read by every citizen. It contains many important recommendations, including steps looking to a new State prison, a possible plan for old age pensions and the inauguration of a short ballot.

The writer has seen fit to put in a bill to remedy the obvious discrepancy between the definitions of "intoxicating liquors" by the Federal and Massachusetts statutes. It will be recalled that while the Massachusetts statute defines intoxicating liquor as having more than 2.75% of alcohol by weight, the Federal law, which always supersedes the state law, defines intoxicating liquor as having more than one half of one per cent of alcohol. So far as enforcement is concerned, the state law is without any effect whatever and it would seem to be plain common sense to make the state law definition conform with the all powerful Federal statute.

The presentation of this simple bill has apparently aroused all the ire of the "wet" element, even though its passage would make no change in the present situation and as a sample of the language with which this bill was greeted, just read the following words sent to the writer on an unsigned postal card.

"Well I see you are about to make an ass of your self with your Prohibition Bill. I wonder who is paying you the GRAFT to introduce this BILL?

Your record ought to be looked into for my private opinion is that you are a member of the Ku Klux Klan. This Country is going to hell, while a bunch of mutts like you are belly-aching about the red-blooded American who has the courage and MANHOOD to take a drink of WHISKEY. You poor sap, you and all them laws from here to hell and back again, will never stop us from drinking all the booze we want. We'll be drinking long after your poor carcass is rotting seven feet down below."

The writer has also filed bills to either increase or abolish the present limit of expenditures for nominations and elections and to provide for the appointment of district attorneys, sheriffs, registers of probate and clerks of courts. The latter being a step towards the short ballot recommended by Governor Cox.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Garden City Poultry Club of the Newton Vocational High School has shown that its members are interested in keeping pure-bred birds. At the Junior Exhibit of the Boston Poultry Show, Clarence Frost, the president of this club, took first prize in the Ancona Breed, William Ramsland, the secretary of the club, took first prize in the White Leghorn fancy class, and fifth in the Rhode Island Red utility class. Alfred Obermeyer took fourth prize among Black Minorcas. The fourth prize in the Utility pullet class was won by John Simoni, with his White Plymouth Rock pullet.

John Simoni also represented Newton as leader of the County Senior Poultry judging team consisting of three members. This team competed Tuesday with other county teams, and it is hoped that the result will be decided in their favor. Two members, also, Clarence Frost and William Ramsland, presented a demonstration of City Backyard Poultry Keeping. This was well received by a large and interested audience.

The five-week report cards will be given out to pupils this week. It is rumored that there will be a Freshman orchestra organized in the Technical High School, under the leadership of Mr. Hussey.

This week's issue of the "Newtonite," the Classical High School paper, will not be out until later due to the fact that school opened on Tuesday after the Christmas recess.

On Jan. 12 the Science Department of the Technical High School will give its annual entertainment for the benefit of the library. On Dec. 21 the Freshmen of the Technical High School held an Assembly with the Freshmen Fine Arts divisions of the Classical High School as its guests. Themes and recitations followed by a scene from Dickens' "Christmas Carol," made up the program.

The meeting opened and closed by the singing of Christmas carols. On January 5th the Sophomore English Club of the Technical High School will hold a business meeting to arrange for a Valentine's Day entertainment and to amend the constitution before its adoption.

On December 14 there was a sewing exhibit in the Technical High School, under the direction of Miss Murray, Miss Owens and Miss Allen. Material for exhibition was contributed by Sophomores of the Technical and Classical High Schools.

Certain division in the Vocational High School who have just studied the drama "Abraham Lincoln" went in to see the play on Wednesday, Jan. 3rd.

None of the Newton Schools held session on Thursday, last, owing to the severe snow storm which raged from late Wednesday afternoon, until Thursday noon.

RANKS THIRD IN PETROLEUM

Russia's Output in 1921 Amounted to 28,500,000 Barrels, Engineering and Mining Journal Says.

Prior to the outbreak of the war the production of petroleum in Russia amounted to about 20 per cent of the world's production, and, in spite of political and industrial upheaval, the production of soviet Russia still occupies third rank in the countries of the world, says the Engineering and Mining Journal-Press. During the year 1920 the production amounted to 25,400,000 barrels, and in 1921 to 28,500,000 barrels. In the district of Baku the production in 1921 amounted to 155,000,000 poods (thirty-six pounds), as compared with 215,000,000 poods in 1919. In the district of Grosny the monthly production during the second half of 1921 amounted to 6,100,000 poods, and in January, 1922, to 7,100,000 poods. On account of lack of suitable machinery new borings cannot be made. The equipment in the refineries as well as the pipe lines is in bad condition. According to the regulations of the soviet government, adopted at the beginning of the present year, concerning the grant of mineral oil concessions, 30 per cent of the oil produced is reserved to the state and 45 per cent must be reserved for the home demand. Only 25 per cent can be exported, and all export orders must pass through the official mineral oil office. Payments for export orders are to be effected through the State bank or the oil office, and all payments are to be based on foreign values.

At the time of their being pawned the king of Denmark was also sovereign of Norway and Sweden, and hoped that the marriage of the Danish princess would help to effect an alliance with Scotland—then a separate kingdom from England.

To help matters on the Danish king agreed to fix the princess' dowry at 60,000 florins (about $120,000)—10,000 florins to be paid before the lady left Denmark, and the islands of Orkney to be given in pledge for the remainder. But at the last moment the king could only lay his hands on 2,000 of the 10,000 florins, and was obliged to pledge the Shetland islands for the balance.

The pledge has never been redeemed, and, though Denmark has made several attempts to get back these islands all the negotiations have come to naught.

ISLANDS LEGALLY IN PAWN

Orkney and Shetland Were Pledged to Scotland by King of Denmark in 1471.

The islands of Orkney and Shetland are legally "in pawn," says the Detroit News. They were pledged to Scotland by the king of Denmark on the occasion of the marriage of the Danish Princess, Margaret, to James III of Scotland, in 1471. These island groups were then Norwegian territory, and had been so since the close of the Ninth century.

WILL MAKE GAS ON THE FARM

Flivver Fuel Can Be Manufactured by the Farmer From His Waste Products.

In a few years many kinds of farm waste will be converted successfully into liquid or gasoline fuel, writes Floyd W. Parsons in the World's Work. For some time alcohol has been manufactured in large quantities from "blackstrap" molasses, but now we find that it is possible to obtain 150 pounds of potash from each ton of this low-grade molasses, in addition to the liquid fuel. During the war the price of potash averaged as high as $1,000 a ton.

Federal chemists have found it possible to obtain gas by the distillation of wheat, oat and rye straws. It is not too much to expect that one day straw gas and gas made from cornstalks, corncores and other vegetable matter will be used by farmers to supply light and heat for their homes, power for their stationary engines and fuel for their tractors and motorcars. Fifty pounds of straw will produce 300 cubic feet of gas—an amount sufficient to drive a light roadster 15 miles. The next step in this experimental work will be the perfection of a method of reducing the gas to liquid form so that it may be carried conveniently as a motor fuel.

Pleasantries at an Operation.

Dr. T. Victor Keene, Indianapolis physician and surgeon, once was being prepared for an appendicitis operation. He was a fellow among those whose loving hands were to gas him out and carve him up. So they were making grim humor about the cutting party. So pleasant did the occasion become that to this day Doctor Keene doesn't know whether he was placed under the influence of an anesthetic or whether he was just simply scared into unconsciousness and did not come to until after the operation. They began regularly enough to give him the gas and then he heard the following pleasant little remark—and heard no more until after it was all over:

"Hey, be careful there with that ether. Don't you know he's a nervous devil? Look out! Say, you'll sniff him out!"

Needed Help.

Standing on the slippery pavement of a small Southern town one rainy night, like sailors on a reeling deck, they were discussing a member of their party who had to retire from the scene of action. The principal speaker in the group appeared to be having some difficulty in keeping his footing on the swaying pavement. The buildings on either side bowed and rocked. The telephone poles did some sort of contortionist stunt and even his voice was a bit thick.

"Where's Sam?" another member of the group asked him.

"We took him home," the first speaker informed him between hicoughs.

"Was he drunk?"

"Drunk? It took three of us to get his hat in the car,"—The Argonaut.

Men and Women Not Seen Together.

Unlike the women of some other Spanish speaking countries, the women of Montevideo go out in the streets. They go about in groups together, but not in the company of men. The Montevideo woman doesn't even go out with her husband. If she wishes to dine in a public restaurant she cannot sit in the main dining room with her lord and master. If she wishes to enjoy his society, they are obliged to engage a private room and thus maintain their dignity. This custom is carried to such a degree that in the theaters there are separate galleries for the men and the women.

BOYS DEMAND BETTER BOOKS

Youngsters Not Content These Days With Anything Dreamed by Old-School Writers.

A Chicago librarian has made the discovery that boys are quitting the so-called "boy fiction" for reading of a different kind. They still read fiction, to be sure, but it is not their chief reading nor is the fiction they read that provided by the old-school writers of boys' books, who had the notion that the youthful masculine mind required and demanded a specially prepared and specially flavored food.

The boys of today, according to this finding, are calling for the biographies of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Edison. They are reading Christy Mathewson's "Book of Sports," the "Boys' Book of Mounted Police," the "Boys' Book of Home Science and Construction" and books on camping and woodcraft.

When they go in for fiction they read Mark Twain, Scott, Dumas, Stevenson, Jules Verne and Kipling. They do not read Henty and Oliver Optic.

The only thing at all curious about this is that it should ever have been believed that boys had standardized minds capable of taking anything but spoon food. Boys want first of all the genuine, and it would be strange if they didn't learn where to find it. A boy who has heard of Roosevelt's life in the West is not likely to be content thereafter with the pretended adventures of the old make-believe heroes, whose authors turned out their thrills in New York boarding houses. A boy who has read "Treasure Island" and "Kidnaped" will have small use for Nick Carter.—Kansas City Star.

IMMENSE POWER OF MUSIC

There is Almost No Limit to its Influence on the Human Soul.

Music! The dictionary defines it as "The science of harmonious sounds; melody or harmony." The tide of battle has been turned by the "science of harmonious sounds," and to hear some old familiar melody has often resulted in soothing the troubled heart.

Music can call the patriot to the defense of his country; can enthuse anew the worshiper at the shrine; can call the lover to his beloved; can fan into flame the dying embers of the fire in the enthusiast's breast. There is no limit to the power of music over the human soul.

The world needs music—music of the soul; music of the heart; music of the voice; music of the spirit. There are people who can't sing, yet they can be moved to tears or laughter by the words of some simple melody. Some people sing their way through life, and such people have a wonderful influence on the lives of others.

Music can have an almost magical effect in producing the desired results. In fact, the imagination fails to picture a world without music.

Mind Conquers Matter.

Have you heard the latest Come story? A man with bandy legs called to see the great practitioner of healing by suggestion.

After an examination, the doctor said: "Yes, they can be cured. Massage them every night and before you go to sleep say, 'My legs are getting less and less bandy' a hundred and fifty times."

Full of hope, the man went home. That night he carried out the massage treatment, but he could not remember just how many times he had to repeat the magic words. He knew it was something and fifty, so, to make sure, he recited the phrase three hundred and fifty times.

Next morning he found that he was knock-kneed!

Death Rate Already Too High.

The death rate for the first quarter of 1922 among Metropolitan Life policyholders was higher among white policyholders by 5.3 per cent and among colored policyholders by 6.6 per cent than for the same quarter of 1921. This was due very largely to the effects of epidemic influenza. There are, nevertheless, many favorable trends in the figures for the quarter. The outstanding one is the continued low mortality from tuberculosis. The unfavorable developments, in addition to the much higher rates for influenza and pneumonia, are the increases for organic heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage and chronic nephritis. A higher rate was also registered for automobile accidents.

Art and Beauty.

A collier and his wife visited a picture gallery. They came to some photographs of classic art, and seeing one more striking than the rest, they asked what it was. "That," said a visitor standing by, "is a photograph of the famous Venus de Milo, the perfect woman." The collier gazed at the photograph for some time, and then, glancing at his wife, he said: "Hy gun, Lizzie, they made a mess o' thee!"

A Logical Youngster.

Father caught Willie smoking and lectured him severely. "Smoking is injurious even to men," he went on. "If they smoke too much they get 'bacco hearts'."

Willie reflected a moment and then asked: "And if they eat too many sweets do they get sweethearts?"—Boston Transcript.

STRATEGY OF LEE EMPLOYED

Marshal Foch Says If General Was Traitor He Wishes France Had
More of Them.

It is hardly to be wondered at that the greatest soldier of the Twentieth century should take occasion to pay his tribute of admiration and affection to the memory of one of the really great commanders of modern times, a soldier whose military genius was equalled only by the purity of his purpose and the splendor of his character, says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

Soldier-like, Marshal Foch employs few words in answering the anonymous "American Patriot" who had telegraphed him at a Virginia town that Robert E. Lee was a traitor.

"If Gen. Robert E. Lee was a traitor," said the marshal of France, "Napoleon Bonaparte was a coward. If General Lee was a traitor, I wish France had more of them. He was one of the greatest military leaders the world has ever known."

In winning the World war, Ferdinand Foch leaned heavily upon the shoulder of Robert E. Lee. It was "the sword of Lee" that flashed on every battlefield in France from the first battle of the Marne to Armistice day.

Lee's strategy, revived and employed first by Joffre and later by Foch, held the Hun along the French front, swift to attack again, until at length the Hindenburg line was pierced and the enemies of civilization sued for peace.

In his estimate of Lee, Marshal Foch takes his stand beside Viscount Wolseley, of England, who declared that Lee was "the greatest soldier given to the world since the days of Marlborough."

TIGHT WRIST WATCH WARNING

Neuritis in the Fingers and Hands
Has Been Traced to the Pressure on Nerves.

Be careful not to bind the strap of your wrist watch too tight. Several cases of neuritis in the fingers and hands have been traced to this cause. Dr. John S. Stopford tells in the Lancet of a student who experienced tingling pains along the inner borders of the hand and in the little finger. These had persisted for some time and caused discomfort and anxiety. On examination a tender point was discovered on the dorsal surface of the styloid process of the ulna, and pressure in this situation caused pain to radiate from this point into the dorsal cutaneous branch of the ulnar nerve. There was no sign of paresis or atrophy of any of the intrinsic muscles of the hand, nor were any trophic changes found.

On investigating the cause for this localized neuritis, the only possibility appeared to be the wearing of a tight wristlet watch, which clearly could produce compression of the dorsal cutaneous branch of the ulnar nerve as it curved round the lower extremity of the ulna. On discarding the wristlet the discomfort gradually disappeared.

"Hopeless."

She can do about as she pleases, this little mite of six summers. While her Aunt Ellen heartily disapproves of such "goings on" and never fails to give some well-meant advice, even she cannot always suppress a smile. The assertive young person was playing her mother's expensive victrola and as the golden notes of Mme. Galli-Curci's voice poured forth in her famous "Dinorah" record, remarked: "Say, Aunt Ellen, how can she sing like that?" Aunt Ellen thought this a fitting occasion on which to appeal to the child's better nature and told her that God had bestowed this great gift upon the singer at birth, under the tutelage of famous masters, it had been brought to its present power. Expecting some sweet childish response, she was completely taken off her guard at hearing her young relative rejoin: "Gee, God gave me some dizzy voice!"

Boottleg.

Liquor, shipped to foreign countries for storage on the eve of national prohibition, is gradually being brought back, some by smugglers, some through legitimate channels. The total of this liquor is worth $300,000,000 in the legitimate market, $1,000,000,000 if handled by bootleggers, says John D. Appleby, general prohibition agent in the New York and New Jersey district. At this rate, the bootlegging system takes 233 per cent profits for the risk it runs. This reduces bootlegging to a mathematical basis, operating on the law of averages.

Marks.

If you are holding a basket of German marks the news from Berlin is sad. In the last week of March, Germany added 8,496,000,000 marks to its paper currency in circulation. This sort of inflation is the reason why German commodity prices advanced an average of 20 per cent in March. When prices are low money is hard to get. When money is plentiful, prices are high. The system gets us, coming and going. It's a gambling game, with a permanent clean-up only for the gentleman who salts it away while the salting is good.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

A certain club woman in accepting the presidency of a club in this vicinity remarked that she had done so, because she believed that every club member should at some time be the president of her club. Then each one would understand at the difficulties of the office and be ready to help make the wheels go round. Of course in a large club that ideal is out of the question for the millennium would be well nigh reached before the last one had had her turn. But there is one club in the Federation—the Presidents' Club—where the desired condition practically obtains, for eligibility to membership consists in having been at some time the president of a club belonging to the State Federation. The business meetings of this club are a joy and an inspiration, full of spice and the unexpected. The executive board has only to present some recommendation, it hardly matters what, and it has "started something." These presidents do not fear to express themselves, as is so often the case in local clubs, and the outcome can seldom be foretold—not that there is ever any feeling displayed; but these women have been through the mill and know pretty well how things will work out, and if the majority feels that whatever is proposed will not work out, they are not afraid to vote it down. One very good result of this frank discussion is the fact that never is the comment heard afterward, "What made 'them' do that!" The elusive "they" does not belong to that club. The membership is a flesh and blood, substantial body of club women, who act intelligently and then abide by the will of the majority. More of that spirit is to be welcomed in local clubs, and that it is coming, the Club Editor is confident.

Legislative matters will be in the ascendancy for the coming months. Already eighteen dates for conferences are announced, two for this past week, and four for the coming one; at Westfield and at Scituate on Tuesday, January 9, and at Westboro and at Waltham on Friday, the 12th. Although the definite bills which the Federation will endorse will not be decided upon until the special meeting of the executive board on January 10, the general subjects will be Minimum Wage, Raising School Age, Direct Primary, Jury Service for Women, as State measures, and Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws, Townster Sterling Bill, Child Labor, Constitutional Amendment, of Federal measures. Leaflets giving arguments upon both sides will be prepared and may be obtained for a nominal sum by applying to Miss Marion B. Nichols, 3 Joy street, Boston.

Other Federation appointments for next week are:

The Art committee of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, Mrs. George W. St. Amant, chairman, has planned a treat for the meeting of the club on Friday, January 12, in the lecture upon "The Passion Play at Oberammergau," by Mrs. Alice Howland Macomber. The lecture will be illustrated by wonderfully beautiful colored slides taken during the performance of the past summer. Miss Helen Hayward will sing songs appropriate to the subject of the day.

Mrs. F. S. Keith will be hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club on Saturday, January 13, when Miss Alberta J. Crombie will be in charge of the study of the 3d act of Antony and Cleopatra.

Local Happenings

Owing to the holiday the Review Club of Auburndale postponed its meeting to Thursday of last week, when Miss Florence N. Bridgman was the hostess. Those who braved the storm felt well rewarded for their effort. Two papers were given, one on "Alice Freeman Palmer," by Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, and one on "Phillips Brooks," by Mrs. George E. Martin. Help from young school members added much to the enjoyment of the morning. Ruth Uford and Lucile Dewing sang two duets, Christmas Carols. Lucile Dewing sang a solo with Ruth Uford accompanying, and at the close all the club members sang several Christmas songs with Mary Elizabeth Frost leading on her violin.

At the business meeting of the Newton Social Science Club on Wednesday a group of resolutions relative to Forest Conservation and the enactment of laws thereon was passed, and it was voted to forward them to the State department.

The New Year's meeting of the executive board of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands was held at the home of the president, Mrs. B. Walter Godsoe. After a short business session the members were invited to the sun porch where a surprise Christmas tree literally showered gifts on Mrs. J. S. Gove, the dramatics chairman, who recently scored such a splendid success in her presentation of the three-act comedy, "Billeted." Dainty refreshments were served, Mrs. Chas. G. Wetherbee and Mrs. Grosvenor D. Marcy presiding over the tea table.

The annual musicale is always looked upon as the outstanding event of the season's program of the Newtonville Woman's Club, and that of Tuesday afternoon was of exceptional musical interest. The selections presented by the Alfred Holy Trio, composed of members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra—Alfred Holy, harp; Jacques Hoffman, violin; and Carl Barth, cello—were well arranged and so varied in character, the audience had opportunity to enjoy the talent and mastery of each artist. Their trio work was marked with such precision as is attained only through great patience, and the slow process of grinding practice. Their interpretation of Oerthurs' "A Fairy Legend" will be a delightful memory for many days to come. Miss Jessie M. French, contralto of the Eliot Church, Newton, accompanied by Miss Maud F. Middleton, was soloist of the afternoon. She was in splendid voice and her selections were warmly applauded. Although each artist was well represented in the program there was an agreeable and generous response to encores.

Auction Bridge beginners or advanced players, private lessons or classes at 924 Beacon street, Boston, or at homes. Groups of 3 or more individuals or small clubs may form their own classes. Thursdays, general practise day for any desire.

MAYOR CHILDS' ADDRESS

To the city government of 1923

GENTLEMEN OF THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN:

I wish for you and all of our fellow citizens a very Happy and Prosperous New Year, and I welcome you to the important task which has been assigned to us. We have been chosen to conduct the business of the city for the present year. That consists largely of spending money raised by taxation. We are the Agents or Trustees of the people, selected by them to furnish good government at the lowest possible cost.

The gospel of economy is being preached today everywhere. Economy in the management of city affairs is expected. The money we spend is taken from the people and is to be expended for their benefit. The economy, however, which we exercise should be wise economy.

There must be municipal progress and development, which costs money, but our aim should be to keep expenses down to the lowest level commensurate with a progressive and businesslike operation of the city's business.

Whatever can be spent in a sound and proper promotion of the better interests of the City should be spent and with considered judgment.

We have in this city no extravagant Departments and bureaus to support; only those necessary for the city to function properly. * * I wish at the outset to express to the members of last year's Board of Aldermen, to the members of all City Boards and Commissions, to Heads of Departments and to all city employees my appreciation of their efforts exerted for the public good, and my thanks for their cooperation in our common aim to promote the welfare of all our people.

Thanks are also due to the churches of the City, the Chamber of Commerce, Women's Clubs, Welfare Bureau, Newton Hospital, Philanthropic Institutions, Fraternal Organizations and to all those agencies which have cooperated in civic matters with the end in view of making a better city and a happier people.

Our representatives in the General Court also deserve our gratitude for the way in which they have guarded the city's interests on Beacon Hill.

To one in particular we are indebted for the statute which assures in the future cleaner political campaigns.

It has always seemed strange to me that so many who act like ladies and gentlemen most of the time so far forget themselves in the heat of political campaigns that they descend to levels to which candidates for public office who claim to be ladies and gentlemen cannot afford to go to meet them in debate.

The possibility of a jail sentence or substantial fine ought to deter individuals and even editors in the future from lying about candidates for public office.

The military and semi-military organizations in the city are functioning satisfactorily. The Grand Army, American Legion, Spanish War Veterans, and Company H have had a successful year and have been ever ready to respond to any civic call. One of the Legion Chaplains, Rev. William J. Farrell, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal by the United States government.

During the year an effort has been made to perfect the war records of Newton and a commission will be appointed shortly to check up names of veterans when selections are being made for public memorials. It is most important that there should be accuracy in such matters. The very generous offer of the Legion to respond at any time when emergencies in the city required additional men was accepted and the signal adopted is ten blows on the fire alarm followed by one or more rounds of the box number at which it is requested that men report.

During the past year death has claimed John Lowell, for many years one of our Sinking Fund Commissioners, a man of the highest character and the soundest judgment; also Charles Benyon, our Superintendent of Forestry, and James Dinegan, Patrick Harrington, and Philip Coyne.

Messrs. Cummings and Needham, old fire fighters, have also passed on to their reward, as have Matthew Connors, Michael McCarthy, and Timothy Mead, pensioners in the Street and Water Departments.

These all rendered faithful service in their respective departments and gave the best that was in them to the work in which they were engaged. Their memory will be cherished by those who worked with them. Death has also claimed Ex-Mayor Edward B. Wilson, who served the city most efficiently more than a score of years ago.

The following employees of the city have retired on pension: in the Police Department, Chief Frederic M. Mitchell, Sergeant Richard T. Kyte, and Officers Martin J. Neagle and Wade E. Dearborn; in the Fire Department, P.

E. Ellis and Captain E. C. Waterhouse; in the Street Department, Messrs. John Pendergast, Edward Hickey, Edward J. Healey, Thomas Burns, Peter Brady, Patrick Fitzpatrick, John Kelley, William Kent and John Kent.

All have labored long and faithfully for the city and we certainly wish for them in their remaining years the health and happiness which their fidelity deserves.

On December 29th I signed the Zoning Ordinance, an ordinance which means much to the city and property owners, to which much thought was given and upon which much time spent.

The first and second ordinances passed I vetoed and I have no apologies to make for the action taken.

Both were founded on selfishness and I did what I believed was for the best interests of the city after getting all the light that I could.

Residential sections are now set off from business and manufacturing and that is about what most people had in mind when the Zoning Act was accepted by the voters. After all it isn't so much the sort of house as the people in it which makes or breaks a city. All of the good people are not found in single dwellings.

The important matter is the proper development of the city by the building of homes and what we need in Newton more than anything else is more homes for young married people. I believe that they ought to have the privilege of living in the same city with their parents, if they so desire.

After all, it is the character of the citizen that counts and the Zoning Ordinance as adopted in my judgment will be of great benefit to Newton of the present and the future because it will make it possible for character to have an equal chance with money as our city grows.

The financial condition of the city is sound. A brief summary of the situation is as follows:

Bonds authorized to be paid in 1922.....	$405,000.00
Bonds matured during 1922.....	615,850.00
Leaving Gross Funded Debt on Dec. 31, 1922.....	4,469,500.00

There will be due and payable during 1923.....	328,500.00
Of which amount the Sinking Fund Commissioners will furnish.....	150,000.00

The Borrowing Capacity of the City of Newton on December 31, 1922, was.....	728,576.05
Showing a decrease during the year of.....	106,090.33

The tax rate for the year was $25.40. It is interesting to note that while labor, materials and practically everything else has more than doubled in cost since the good old days of a $14 tax rate, the rate has not as yet doubled.

Tax-Commissioner Long in a recent address to the Assessors of the State said in substance that more than a $30 tax rate is a dangerous point for municipalities to reach. Notwithstanding that fact 87 municipalities in the State have passed that figure and 36 more have reached it. Much of the increased expenditures of cities in recent years has been for so-called public welfare movements, which do not make any direct return to the municipal treasury, but which are absolutely necessary in city life today. In any policy of economy the danger is that in paring down expenditures we neglect necessary activities, and while money is saved for the present, a heavier burden is placed upon the future.

Newton has never been extravagant in her expenditures for welfare activities.

We have been fairly liberal because we have realized that prevention is better than cure; that it is better business to stop the cause than to repair the result; that it is easier to form than to reform; that it is more sensible to guide young men and women than to reclaim old ones; and that it is cheaper to prevent crime than to reform criminals.

The danger sometimes is that cities go too far in welfare work but nothing that has happened in Newton along these lines is cause for alarm.

A building boom interrupted during the war has started again in the city and much new property will beneficially affect the revenue of the city for the coming year. It will, however, be well for us to bear in mind the been adopted and readjustment has been made by the taking fact that while the permits issued for new buildings amount to nearly $7,000,000, there are more than $1,000,000 in exempt buildings in this total, reducing the amount by just that much. Many of these permits have been changed or will not be carried out at all. Included in the above $6,000,000 are permits from one party aggregating $250,000.00 of which not over $50,000.00 is under way or will be assessed next April.

There are other instances of two family apartment permits which will not materialize by April 1st.

Furthermore, permit estimates are generally much in excess of final valuations. Mortgage and sale considerations explain why many builders' estimates are high.

It is possible that the valuations finally reached by the Assessors may not exceed 60% of builders' estimates. When the above points are considered, the less than $6,000,000.00 in permits, will show a substantial shrinkage.

Another shrinkage in revenue may show in Revaluations. Last year $940,750.00 was added to Real Estate by revaluations. This work has been so thoroughly done throughout the city that no such gain is to be expected for 1923.

The same is true of the $712,296.00 gain in personal estate which was largely on corporations and cannot be repeated to any such extent in 1923.

The outlook, however, for the future is promising. We shall be able to provide for any legitimate needs.

The Gas Contract has been renewed during the past year and at the right price, thanks to our City Solicitor. The Garbage Contract has been extended to October first, subject to appropriation. I recommend a study of the garbage situation by your Honorable Board, in order that the problem may be solved to the best advantage of the tax payers.

I recommend for your consideration the matter of properly numbering the houses of the city. The present situation makes it extremely difficult to locate houses in certain streets. Compulsory numbering may require legislative action.

Another matter which I would suggest for study is that of street sprinkling. The oil which is now used for street sprinkling is practically a coating for maintenance of streets. Newton is about the only city which charges street sprinkling on the tax bill. In other places such work is a part of the maintenance of streets.

Another matter which I present for your consideration is that of having the work of Assistant Assessors done by the police, as is the custom in many places. There are many reasons which commend this change.

For the safety of the traveling public upon our highways I suggest for your consideration the advisability of taking land for the straightening of the curves on Commonwealth avenue opposite Prince street and on Auburn street opposite Greenough street. The exit from the Newton Railway Station should be improved by the taking of land of Brackett on Centre Place for widening purposes. I recommend such action.

The proper disposition of waste paper and rubbish is becoming more and more a serious problem. A substitute for the present method of disposal is an urgent need.

The present time is not the time to increase wages or salaries. I shall, however, suggest a readjustment of salaries of certain employees in City Hall in order that a fair compensation for services rendered may be given according to commercial standards.

Clerks and assistants in public departments ought to be paid the same compensation and required to do the same amount of work as those employed in prudently conducted private enterprises.

I trust that impartial consideration and unprejudiced judgment may be given to recommendations which may be made.

The health of the city during the past year has been very fair and health problems have been given careful attention as they have arisen.

The poor we have always with us and effort has been made to intelligently and sympathetically meet their needs. The Welfare Bureau, the Knights of Columbus, and the Elks, together with individuals and other organizations have most generously cooperated with the city in relieving and preventing distress.

The coal situation and unemployment have presented definite problems. Mr. Oliver M. Fisher, our Fuel Administrator, has solved his problem fairly and satisfactorily and the Chamber of Commerce and Y. M. C. A. were a tremendous help in finding work for the unemployed.

Law and order have been maintained and life and property in the city have been safe during the past year.

Upon the retirement of Chief Mitchell, Captain Burke was promoted to the office of Chief of Police and changes which he has inaugurated are already making for efficiency.

The "one day off in three" system for firemen has been adopted and readjustment has been made by the taking world war. The change is working satisfactorily. Newton's fire loss is light and crime does not flourish within our borders. A debt of gratitude is due the members of both the Police and Fire Departments for the situation as it is.

The Public Library with its splendid assortment of books and helpful service has met the needs of the reading public. The alterations made in the old fire station at Lower Falls will make a convenient reading-room and be a help to civic activities in that section of the city.

Our Public Works Departments have rendered good service.

A brief mention may be made of some of the city's public works which have been accomplished in the past year, and for which we may anticipate the consummation in the future.

Among cities of its size, Newton is particularly unique and probably dissimilar to any other, in the fact that it has no paved streets as that term is usually understood. The average person thinks of a paved street as one surfaced with granite block, wood block, vitrified brick, or sheet asphalt. Newton has no pavement of any of these types except between street railway tracks and at street railway crossings. Its population is widely scattered and a great variety of routes cross the city. Traffic, therefore, in Newton has been so distributed, and concentrated heavy motor truck traffic has been to date so inconsiderable in volume on any one thoroughfare, that pavements of a heavier type than bituminous macadam, constructed by the penetration process, have not been considered necessary or advisable. This may hold true for some time to come, particularly for the lesser travelled ways. Cement concrete roadway pavements have been greatly improved in design and construction in the past few years. The cost has been gradually decreasing from the peak. It is a matter for serious consideration whether or not this material should be used in future surfacing of some of our more important thoroughfares as the need develops. It is a material that is finding greatly increased use and favor for suburban and inter-city use.

Fewer streets have been laid out and built under the betterment act by the city than the previous year, as the demand appears to have been less, notwithstanding the abnormal amount of dwelling house construction.

As the city has adopted no board of survey act, it has no control over the location of new streets in estates being cut up for land development. In the majority of cases, however, the City Engineer is consulted by private engineers or their clients when laying out such properties and preliminary plans submitted for his approval. This practice tends to obviate frequently what might otherwise prove an undesirable situation.

Sometimes I wonder whether or not the city is aiding too much real estate speculators. With the great development which is bound to come and which is already on the way, I submit for your consideration whether the policy adopted of laying out streets under the Betterment Act should be continued or whether private owners should be required to finance their own projects under the supervision of the city and according to specifications furnished by it.

Except for the Charles River Country Club, the Oak Hill section of the city has been comparatively stagnant as to development for many years. A considerable section of the more desirable part of this portion of the city has been acquired by certain interests and plans are being formulated for its development on an extended scale, which it is expected will shortly be submitted to the Board of Aldermen. They should be carefully considered.

An unusually large amount of sidewalk construction has been done, cement concrete being used in all new work to the practical exclusion of the old form of tar concrete construction.

The usual amount of lateral sanitary sewer construction has been done to provide for the needs in that line for the increased development of the city. The time is rapidly approaching when it may be necessary to expend a substantial amount for intercepting or additional trunk sewers to relieve some of the present trunk sewers. The form and extent of this work will largely depend on the future sewerage work to be done in this locality by the Metropolitan District Commission, which will probably not be postponed many years, as at times the capacity of the Metropolitan sewer along the banks of the Charles River has been taxed beyond the proper limit it was designed to carry.

The numerous heavy rainfalls in June demonstrated the need of additional surface drainage works and of an increased future provision for drain maintenance. I recommend that greater attention than has been the case in the recent past be given to these important matters.

The heavy precipitation was of decided benefit to the city's water works as, combined with the cooler weather, a repetition of the excessive water consumption during the corresponding month of the previous year was avoided.

The great number of new buildings erected has also called for a corresponding amount of work in laying of water service pipes and of many new drains. The chief of the fire department has, for a number of years past, recommended a large number of new hydrants for additional and adequate fire protection. This is an important matter for your consideration.

As called to the attention of previous boards, much improvement can be made in the water distribution system by the elimination of numerous dead ends and the installation of additional large mains to provide better circulation and an unfailing sufficient supply for fire protection.

Experiences a year ago last summer indicate quite clearly the need of increased carrying capacity in water mains on certain elevations, namely, West Newton, Farlow, Hunnewell Hills and Mt. Ida, the flow in which can be materially increased at comparatively small cost by replacing the 6" line with 8" in Lenox street between Highland and Otis, replacing 6" pipe with 8" in Waverly avenue between Tremont and Washington streets and laying a 6" main from Langdon street to Surrey road. Also the completion of the 12" line in Mill street between Walnut and Centre.

The New England Insurance Exchange is at the present time making an inspection of conditions in this city for the purpose of ascertaining the few things Newton must do in order to qualify as a Class A City.

All has been done except making the hydrant tests and these have been postponed awaiting consecutive days of mild weather. The inspection is otherwise completed and a report may be expected in the near future.

A hearing has been held by the State Department of Health on the taking of the strip of river frontage between Bernard street and the Charles River, in the rear of the Upper Falls pumping station. Investigations required by this department as to whether the ground water in this strip of land forms a part of the sub-surface supply drawn on by the city's collecting conduit on the opposite side of the river are now being made by the Engineering Department, working in conjunction with the engineering department of the State Department of Health.

It is of interest to note what former Board of Water Commissioners had to say on this matter in a report to the City Council, November 1, 1877. I quote as follows:—

"It seems to us a matter by no means foreign to this report to suggest to the City Council the expediency of negotiating with riparian owners for the purchase of the lowlands bordering Charles River, lying between the new Needham bridge and Kenrick's bridge. If by concert with other towns on the river lowlands above Kenrick's bridge on both banks to or beyond Mother Brook could all be acquired for the public benefit the purity of the water would be more effectually maintained, and a noble public park might be acquired, embracing a river within its bounds."

Much of the health and comfort of a city is due to freedom from mosquitoes, an insect which is always extremely annoying and sometimes exceedingly dangerous as a disease carrier. Of the twenty to thirty species to be found in this locality, the most dangerous to encounter is the species which transmits malaria, although the common house mosquito and the marsh mosquitoes are sufficiently undesirable in themselves.

Many people are unfamiliar with the fact that the state now has a drainage board, created under General Laws, and composed of a member of the Department of Public Health and a member of the Department of Agriculture. Briefly, this Board is authorized, on petition of the proprietors, to investigate the general question of the use and improvement of wet lands, and disseminate facts of general interest in relation thereto, together with recommendations as to the best methods of drainage thereof. The work of the Board is done through the appointment of district drainage commissioners having charge of making the necessary improvements, and the cost may be assessed in the form of betterments. The affiliated Technical Societies of Boston propose to appoint a committee including representatives of the municipal engineering departments of the Metropolitan District to study and report on recommendations as to mosquito elimination and control in the district and the conclusions reached by this committee undoubtedly will be of help in abating the mosquito nuisance in certain sections of our city.

The schools of the city are meeting the requirements in the educational field. The purpose of education is to develop, enrich, and mature personality as well as to thoroughly ground students in reading, writing, arithmetic, etc. Youth is our greatest asset and every effort to make it mentally, physically, and morally fit should be encouraged. Our future citizens are the boys and girls of to-day. To get them headed right so that in years to come they will think straight and act right is the great aim which the modern educator has in view.

The requests of the School Committee have received careful consideration and there has been cooperation all along the line, possibly because so many of us have been trained in our schools and appreciate their value. The Frank Ashley Day

If we can do this I am sure that 1923 will be a happy year for us and happier still for those whose happiness depends on us.

IN THE SOUTH SEA ISLANDS

Trader and Planter Not in Need of Pity, According to Writer in the Asia Magazine.

It is customary to waste a lot of pity on the trader and the planter in remote places—lonely outposts of civilization—but, from my observation, they do not need pity, declares a writer in Asia Magazine. The man who stays in the islands is fitted for life there; if he isn't, he doesn't stay, and, if he does stay, he can retire after 15 or 20 years, with a tidy fortune.

Of course, the road to fortune is a long and hard one. The average planter starts out with a little capital—say $500. He purchases a plot of land. The price he pays depends upon the locality in which he buys. In regions where the natives are still fairly unsophisticated he may get his land for almost nothing. Even where the natives are most astute, he can buy a square mile for what he would pay for an acre back home. His next step is to get his land cleared. To that end he buys a whaleboat and goes out to recruit natives to act as laborers. He needs five or six blacks. They will build his house and clear his land and plant his coconuts. Since it takes seven years for the coconuts to mature, sweet potatoes and cotton must be planted between the rows of trees. The sweet potatoes, with a little rice, will furnish all the food required by the blacks. The cotton, if the planter is diligent and lucky, will pay current expenses until the coconuts begin bearing.

Though his small capital of $500 may be eaten up early in the game, the settler need not despair. The big trading companies that do business in the islands, will see him through if he shows any signs of being made of the right stuff. They will give him credit for food and supplies, and they will provide him with knives, calico and tobacco, which he can barter with the blacks for the sandal-wood and copra that will help balance his account with the companies. And after the first trying seven years his troubles are about over—if he can get labor enough to keep his plantation going.

POSSIBLE LIFE ON PLANETS

Existence on Moon, Jupiter, Saturn, Mercury, Uranus, Neptune, Improbable, Scientists Say.

The possible existence of life on the planets has lately been discussed in a most interesting manner by American astronomers. This is a summary of the conclusions of these scientists upon the question. It is considered that the existence of a high form of life on the moon, Jupiter, Saturn, Mercury, Uranus or Neptune is extremely improbable. Although Venus greatly resembles the earth, it is generally believed by astronomers that the day and the year of the planet are of equal duration. In that case no life can exist upon it. Concerning Mars, astronomers are not agreed as to whether the much-discussed markings are canals or merely earthquake cracks. There are no permanent bodies of water on the planet. The best that can be said is that, although the temperature on Mars is very low, there may be on the planet, to a limited extent, the conditions essential to life; probably only vegetable and low-order animal life, but no beings of intelligence.

Fur Animals Increase in Kentucky.

Fur-bearing animals are on the increase in Kentucky as a result of the protection afforded by the state game law. The raccoon, opossum, mink, weasel, otter and muskrat are reported in larger numbers by trappers who in the open season collect the skins in paying quantities. Until adequate protection was afforded by the drastic game law some of the species had almost disappeared from Kentucky, but under the new order the stock seems to have been appreciably replenished all over the state. The beaver still is found in some sections of the state and only recently a large colony was discovered in a western county, where the animals had dammed a creek.

Train Insects to Eat Insects.

An ingenious scheme for ridding our gardens of insect pests has been suggested by a Richmond entomologist. His plan is to train harmless insects to kill and eat injurious grubs and flies. Experiments which have been made met with considerable success. It is well known that certain insects are the enemies of other creatures which are garden pests. They lay their eggs in convenient spots, often in the actual nesting places of their enemies, and when the young come to life they feed on the eggs. Scientists are attempting to train these insects to feed upon harmful creatures which at present they do not regard as enemies.—London Tit-Bits.

Hair Dressing.

In France women are dressing the hair to make the head look as small as possible. The locks are pulled straight back and coiled at the neck with the greatest simplicity. There is a tendency over there to keep the outline of the head small, but the hair is arranged softly about the face. This is much more flattering to the average woman.

Disqualified.

A teacher asked, as reported by a London comic paper, "What would King Alfred, if he were alive now, think of the home rule bill?" and the boy answered, "If King Alfred were alive now he would be too old to be interested in politics."—Outlook.

GO ABROAD FOR OPPORTUNITY

"Go West" Slogan Now Passes; Better Chance for Young Man in the Foreign Countries.

Probably no saying of Horace Greeley, the beacon light of multitudes of three-quarters of a century ago, was more widely read, more generally followed, or longer remembered than his continually reiterated exhortation, "Young man, go West!"

That, says the San Francisco Chronicle, was a satisfactory way of relieving what was then thought congestion of population in eastern communities, but it no longer answers the purpose. Today the place for the enterprising young man to look for is in some undeveloped foreign country. It will be a new thought to most of us that the time has come when we must consider emigration as well as immigration—that there are lands of opportunity other than our own.

This was emphasized recently by Frank D. Waterman, a name well known to those who do not habitually use a typewriter, with special reference to the centenary celebration which begins at Rio Janeiro, Brazil, next September. It has become a necessity with us, as it has long been with overpopulated Europe, to seek outlets in foreign countries for the surplus products of our workers. The one way to do it is by commercial missionaries going to foreign countries while still forming their minds and staying there. That is the way Europe has built up trade in undeveloped countries. That is the way we must adopt if we expect to successfully compete with those countries.

ESKIMO HAS EAR FOR MUSIC

Natives of the Arctic Regions Have Exclusive Right to Their Own Compositions.

Knut Rasmussen and Fridtjof Nansen and also Hinrich Johannes Rink, who was sent north years ago by Lady Franklin to find her husband, have given to the world valuable facts about the customs and lives of the Eskimos. Christian Leden's unique contribution from the arctic regions is in the field of music. For years he studied and faithfully transcribed the Innuut melodies. Each Eskimo, he says, is obliged to compose his own song, and no person may sing the song of another without first obtaining permission. The mother has her cradle song, infinitely low and sweet. The hunter has his song of the chase, clear and bold. Even the bad man of the tribe has his song, and it was quick and appropriately brazen.

Harmony has not been developed among the Eskimos. They sing only in unison. But their melodies are weird and wistful, often consisting of only two or three motives, which are strangely effective.

It is during the long polar night that the Eskimo has time to rest in his igloo and sing his songs.

British Silver Stamping Explained.

In this country the word sterling, when stamped on silver, means simply that the manufacturer declares the article to be made of silver eleven-twelfths fine; but the British marks, arranged in column, give a sort of history of the article. Usually the first mark is the maker's sign; next comes a mark that shows where the article was made—for London, a leopard's head; for Birmingham, an anchor; and for Sheffield, famous for its silver, a crown. Dublin has the Irish harp, and Chester uses the city arms. The third mark, a lion, indicates the standard of fineness. The date mark, a letter, usually comes last. Since each city uses a different system for indicating the year when the article was made, it is necessary to know the "plate" of the town in order to find the date of a particular piece.

It Was.

There was an explosion in the powder mill and the proprietor hurried over to ascertain the damage. "How in the world did it happen?" he asked the foreman of the mill as he viewed the wreck. "Who was to blame?"

"Well, you see, sir," replied the foreman, "it was this way. Bill went into the mixing room and inadvertently struck a match. He—"

"Struck a match!" exclaimed the proprietor in amazement. "I should have thought that was the last thing on earth he would do."

"It was, sir," replied the foreman, sadly.—London Telegraph.

New Cure for Fatigue.

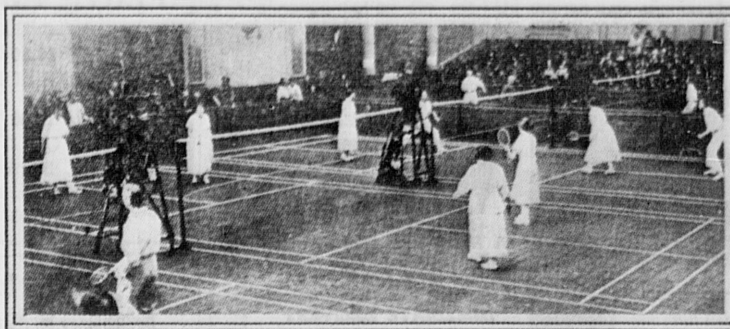

Speaking at the Institute of Hygiene, London, Dr. E. M. Corner, surgeon to St. Thomas' hospital, said that when a person became worked out, run down or depressed the reaction was due to acid in the system. An antidote to acid was an alkaline such as bicarbonate of soda. The amount to be given depended on the patient and should be gauged by the reaction under treatment. The use of gas for operations was slowly coming in again and would in time supplant the other anaesthetics.

A Dull Life.

"Do you think I shall live until I'm ninety, doctor?"
"How old are you now?"
"Forty."
"Do you drink, gamble, smoke or have you any vices of any kind?"
"No, I don't drink, I never gamble, I loathe smoking; in fact, I haven't any vices."
"Well, good heavens, what do you want to live another fifty years for?"

Luxurious In Comfort and Convenience

Four-Passenger Six-Cylinder Coupe—$1895

Complete in Refinement

As the driver of Buick coupe takes the wheel a glance will tell him the speed of the car, the fuel in the tank, the working of the electrical system, and the functioning of the engine lubricating system. He has the carburetor control, the lights and ignition controls at hand. A handsome clock gives him the time of day. Above, a mirror shows the road behind and a wiper and vision safeguard his vision against storms and sun.

Closed car comfort and driving convenience are most perfectly satisfied in the luxurious Buick four-passenger six-cylinder coupe.

From the driver's seat, set forward and at a most restful angle, every control is at the finger's tip, while on the instrument board attractive dials record each function of the car. The large walnut steering wheel guides the car at its lightest movement through the improved Buick steering gear, and the long gear shift lever can be grasped without bending forward.

With a deep plush upholstered seat for two passengers and a comfortable folding seat for a third, with broad windows that raise and lower to any position, with floor heater, dome light and other refinements, this coupe is without a superior among fine closed cars.

DEATH OF MRS. SMITH

Mrs. Elizabeth Garbett Smith, widow of Charles H. Smith, for many years a resident of Jamaica Plain, and of recent years living in Newton Highlands, died Tuesday, in her one hundred and first year. On April 4, of last year Mrs. Smith observed her one hundredth birthday and she was surrounded by the members of her family and was the recipient of many remembrances in the shape of flowers. Her death was due to old age.

Mrs. Smith was a native of Tavistock, England. She came to this country at age of twelve, in a sailing vessel, and was married to Mr. Smith on May 3, 1849, in Jamaica Plain, which thereafter was the family home for a great many years. In 1898 Mr. and Mrs. Smith moved from their Eliot street estate to Newton Highlands, where they lived for some time on Lakewood road, and where, in 1899, they celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Smith died in 1906.

During her residence in Jamaica Plain Mrs. Smith was active in the affairs of St. John's Episcopal Church. The three surviving children are Mrs. Edgar B. Sampson of Newton Highlands, who was Miss Minnie Smith; William H. Smith of Brookline, and Frank Smith of Los Angeles, California.

Services were held at St. Paul's Church on Thursday, Rev. Theodore R. Ludlow officiating, and the cremation took place at Forest Hills.

—The “telephone night” of the Men's Club of Eliot Church has been postponed until Wednesday, January 24th.

"THE BIBLE AND THE SPADE"

Subject of the Opening Rally of Norumbega School of Religious Education

In spite of the bad weather conditions, the opening rally of the Norumbega School of Religious Education was held at the Central Church, Newtonville, last Monday evening. President Fred L. Smith of the District Association presided. Rev. H. E. Levey of the Beth Eden Church, Waltham, led the devotional service, after which Professor A. E. Bailey of Boston University gave an address on "The Bible and the Spade."

"Most illuminating," "that was worth swimming for," "I call it a burning shame that hundreds of people couldn't get out to hear that talk!"—these were a few of the many remarks heard after the address, and for the benefit of those hundreds who would like to have heard the address, a gist of it is given here, though it is impossible through a written report to pass on the spirit of romance and charm which is felt by all who listen to Professor Bailey.

"How very romantic to be a grave-digger! At least in old Egypt! What must be the feeling of those men who, after a long search and with one final blow of the pick, break into a large chamber dug out of the solid rock, which no man has seen since it was sealed up in the 14th century before Christ? It is a great privilege to thus find oneself back most vividly in those olden times, face to face with the very kings and their servants who were the moderns of their day."

"It is through the use of the spade that the Bible, during the past fifty years has been illumined and corroborated in a most striking way. And the Bible sorely needed this. For 1700 years the Bible was a solitary book, the only survival of many ancient civilizations which were contemporary with the Hebrew nation, but whose records had been completely lost. Nineveh, Babylon, Persia—these civilizations, great in their time, were wiped out by a series of wars, only ruins and devastation left. Palaces fell to pieces, rains dissolved the bricks of public buildings. Only shapeless mounds were left. Even the memory of the language was lost.

"Egypt fared no better; one race after another came to rob and plunder and burn. Cities were razed to the ground and covered by the ages, and lost. The language became a picturesque wonder. And so the Bible remained the only survival of the past, and no knowledge was at hand to verify the facts of the Bible through the history of other nations of that day. No wonder the Bible was misunderstood, then defiled, until people thought the Bible should not be studied like other books, but put on a pedestal and called infallible."

"Then the romance began. On one of Napoleon's great military expeditions to Egypt, an engineer was digging the foundations of a fort. He came upon a stone tablet some two and a half feet square, on which was an inscription in three different languages, Greek, demotic and hieroglyphics. This tablet was taken to France. A great French linguist finally suc-

Bailey of Natick and the Garden City Grange Orchestra and an address by Harry E. Gardner on "The Grange."

THE MASCOT

"The Mascot," one of the best of the standard comic operas, will be given by the Newton Amateur Opera Association in Players' Hall, West Newton, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, January 22, 23, 25 and 26. Rehearsals have been in progress for weeks, under the direction of George V. C. Lord, who staged "First Down Egypt," the Pi Eta show.

The local organization has announced that it will give only compositions that have won the highest musical endorsement and have never been presented in this city. The choice of "The Mascot" for presentation this month is believed to be a particularly happy one as indicated by the success of the rehearsals.

The cast and chorus include many well-known favorites. Among those who are to take part are Marie K. Laffie as Bettina, the mascot, Geneva Green as Flaminetta, daughter of the Prince; Robert E. Perry as Pippo, William H. Griffith as Frederick, Francis W. Sprague, 2d, as Rocco, Leverett D. G. Bentley as Prince Lorenzo Dan L. Smith as Matteo and Harold Hambleton as the Sergeant.

The story of "The Mascot" is an amusing one and deals with the machinations of a droll old prince and his attempt to separate devoted lovers for his own selfish ends. Many of the solos and duets of this opera are recognized as examples of the highest grade of light opera.

Others who will take part in the production are Marjorie Bates, Dorothy Pitt, Helen Kellar, Gladys Kidder, Lucy Glover, Irene Cain, Evelyn Chandler, Margaret Bissell, Anna

Palmer, Harriet Edmonds, Rose Manning, Bessie Moore, Dorothy Bates, Minnabel Burch, Marion Hambleton, Doris Carley, Mary A. Sprague, Marion Kellar, Marion McKee, Allister Fraser, Malcolm Harvey, L. Benson, Lawrence O'Neill, Bert Gleason, Raymond Heisler, A. Lythgoe, and A. Henry Anderson.

From all indications there will be a record attendance at the next meeting of the Eliot Men's Club at the Eliot Church, Newton, on January 24th at 7.30 P. M., principally because of the novel and instructive entertainment arranged by Benjamin S. Hinkley, President of the Club, and George R. Grant, General Attorney of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, a member of the Club.

The meeting has been officially designated as "Telephone Night."

Telephone operators and other employees of the Newton offices of the Telephone Company, assisted by the Telephone Orchestra of more than 30 pieces, made up entirely of telephone employees will furnish an evening's entertainment of delight and instruction. Two reels of motion pictures—"Making Telephone History" and "Assembling a Telephone"—will be one of the features of the program. Under the direction of George Lincoln Parker community singing will form another part of the interesting program. During the evening a short talk on Personal Service, applied to the telephone business, will be given by Mr. Grant.

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

To Consider Metropolitan Planning at Its Annual Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

Among the many new bills introduced for enactment at the 1923 session of the Massachusetts Legislature there are few, if any, that promise to be of such vital importance to Newton as the bill introduced by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, through its Committee on Municipal and Metropolitan Affairs and its Committee on Public Utilities, to create a Metropolitan Planning Commission. This involves a plan to apply the principle of city planning to Boston and its environs, treating the entire Metropolitan District in a broader but similar manner as municipal planning is treated by the local planning boards of the various cities. The bill, if enacted, will confer mandatory powers upon the proposed commission to lay out and construct roads, bridges, and other facilities as are of a metropolitan character, the cost to be replaced by apportionment among the cities and towns of the entire district.

Appreciating the importance of the question and realizing that a majority of Newton citizens are as yet unfamiliar with the plan and the various ways in which it may effect Newton, as well as adding to the taxation burdens of the city, the Newton Chamber has arranged to have a speaker on this subject at the annual meeting of the Chamber, at the Newton Club on next Tuesday evening, January 16, at eight o'clock.

Professor Carroll W. Doten of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a member of the Cambridge Park Board and of the Boston Chamber Committee on Municipal and Metropolitan Affairs, has consented to explain the entire plan in detail, and to discuss its various details through questions that may be asked by interested members of the Chamber. Professor Doten is considered one of the best informed men in Boston on this subject and the Newton Chamber deems itself especially fortunate in being able to secure his services on this occasion.

The usual dinner will be omitted in connection with this meeting, which will begin at eight o'clock. At the annual business meeting reports will be presented and officers and directors elected for the ensuing year, the meeting promising to be one of the most interesting and eventful yet conducted by the Chamber.

Plans for organizing and developing a program of work for the Merchants Association of the Chamber are to be perfected at a luncheon meeting of the committee of the Mercantile Division at the Newton Club on next Monday noon, January 15, at 12.30 o'clock. This is to be the first meeting of the committee, when an effort will be made to outline and adopt a series of activities to be conducted under the direction of this committee that will be of benefit to local business men in all sections of the city. The personnel of this committee includes George A. Schade of Newtonville, chairman; Bernard M. Burke, William M. Cahill, and Samuel Marshall, of Newton, Andrew J. Ford and Howard G. Tuttle of Newtonville, E. H. Delesdernier and Ira S. Roe of West Newton, Daniel H. Barnicle of Auburndale, Wendell H. Brayton of Waban, Fred D. Bond of Newton Centre, and George G. Sherman of Newton Highlands. The working plan of the Chamber provides for (Continued on Page 2)

William Phipps, who was elected captain of the hockey team at the end of the 1922 season, has left this school and Henry Crosby, brother of Edgar Crosby of Harvard, has recently been elected captain for the remainder of the season.

On Friday, Jan. 12, the Science Department of the Technical High School will stage its annual show and entertainment, followed by dancing in the library. The proceeds from this are to be given to the library.

On Wednesday, Jan. 3, a trial swimming meet was held in the Y. M. C. A. under Mr. Carling, who has charge of the school's newly organized team. Although the diving was not as good as expected the team showed a great deal of ability, and as a whole, it is rounding into shape rapidly.

The "Feminine Follies" which was held in the Gym on Dec. 21, 1922, was a great success, helping the Senior Class treasury by $92. The committee consisted of Barbara Cooke, chairman, Louise Lovjoy, Hortense Lane, Julius Kohler, Doane Arnold, and Richard Bolster.

Rehearsals for the Senior Play of the Technical H. S. are being held regularly under Miss Wetherbee's direction. The play, which should prove very entertaining, will be given in the Assembly Hall in the early part of February.

Indoor track has aroused a great deal of interest among the students this year, there being over 100 candidates. Coaches Dickinson and Roberts hold bright outlooks for the coming meets, as there is some very excellent material. Weeks, Richards, Barba and Dicks are running especially well, while Johnson, Kohler, and DeMille are doing excellent in field events.

The first meet will be on Jan. 12. At this inter-class meet there will be an award of Varsity football letters followed by dancing, with music by Jack Spaulding's orchestra.

Vaughn and Tedesco were the big factors in beating Boston Latin 4-0 on Bulboughs Pond, on Jan. 3. Diney starred for Boston Latin and Vaughn starred on the offense for Newton.

Lasell

After a three weeks Christmas recess the winter session of Lasell began on Friday morning, of last week, the junior school opening January 8th. There was a very exciting basketball game on Saturday evening, between the faculty and regular school team resulting in the score 20-22 in favor of the latter.

By the request of Mr. G. Porter Russell the Glee Club, assisted by the mandolin club, repeated their Christmas vespers service at the Franklin Square House on Sunday evening.

Due to the severe storm and the necessity of the students going to the main building from the dormitories there was no school on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Edgar Park is to be the speaker at vespers on Sunday evening.

Dr. G. M. Winslow spent the weekend with his mother in Orleans, Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagner have returned from Virginia and Pennsylvania where they have been spending the holidays.

Hyde School

The arithmetic of the A division of the eighth grade has been so organized that a group of sixteen pupils have the opportunity to take advanced assignments with very little direction from the teacher. These pupils are most enthusiastic over this arrangement and are doing splendid work.

On Tuesday, January 23, the South Side Branch of the West Newton Music School is to have an open house in the New Hyde so that the public may visit the school and see the work actually taking place. It is hoped that the community will be well represented.

Christmas Eve a large number of the pupils of the Music School met at the Hyde School and were conveyed in automobiles to the following places, Peabody Home for Crippled Children, Stone Institute and The City Home. At each place they sang carols. They were accompanied by a piano and violin.

Mrs. Arthur Williams of Hyde Street gave a tea for the Hyde School teachers at her home on Tuesday afternoon of this week. A large number of friends were invited to meet the teachers and a very pleasant hour was enjoyed by all.

The children in Miss Greene's fourth grade have received greetings from two of their school-mates who are travelling in Panama and in Germany telling them of their interesting experiences. These letters help to make their geography a very vital subject.

Stearns School

Miss Munn and Miss McLaughlin had the pleasure Tuesday of entertaining their former Supervisor of Physical Training from Spokane, Washington, who has leave of absence for a month to study Eastern methods.

The Newton Girls' Club held its weekly meeting on Tuesday evening, Jan. 9. A chorus rehearsal for the musical comedy to be given Feb. 12th and 13th, was held under the direction of the professional coach, and a committee appointed to arrange the sale of tickets. Plans were made for a group of girls to attend the annual rally of the Mass. League of Girls' Clubs to be held at the Westminster on Saturday, Jan. 27, at 7 P. M.

A "Game" night was the program for the Junior Girls' Club on Wednesday, Jan. 10, at Stearns School Centre. Volley ball and basketball were played in teams and group games followed. Final plans for the mid-winter dance were made by the entertainment committee.

"Just a Little Mistake" a one-act farce, will be given by the Newton Girl Scouts, Troop 6, at Players' Hall, West Newton, on Friday, Feb. 2, at 7:45 P. M. Dancing will be held after the performance and candy will be on sale by the West Newton Troop 5. The three highest per cents in the

Mr. Harry Johnson gave an introductory lesson to both sixth classes last Friday morning. This new work in manual training for grade six shows promise of being well liked by the boys.

Miss Annie F. Darling, who has been absent through illness the entire year since September, was to resume her work in the kindergarten on January 2.

The pupils of grade seven have formed a Book Club and are holding meetings once each week. The Club has these officers: President, Norman Payne; Secretary, Mildred Stuart; Treasurer, Doris Eyre. The officers and a Council of Five are directors of the Club. A fund is to be raised and used for the purchase of books. A concert by the Boston Symphony Orchestra is to be attended next week on Thursday afternoon by an upper grade party of 25 pupils under the direction of the Principal.

At the assembly on Monday morning, Norman Payne gave a reading of Edgar Guest's poem, "Failures."

Mr. Frank Fessenden was re-elected vice-president and William S. Osborne treasurer. There is a change in the secretaryship, Augustus L. Wakefield succeeding Kenneth P. Kempton.

a mercantile division of membership which will be in effect a merchants association affiliated with the Chamber. This will be in a position to initiate and develop activities of its own, aside from the broader activities of the Chamber. The above committee will serve as the board of directors of this division and, beginning with the meeting on next Monday, will meet regularly and frequently in accordance with a schedule to be adopted at the initial meeting.

President Frank L. Richardson of the Chamber has appointed the following to serve as a "Commuters Committee" of the Chamber, Elliot B. Church and James W. French of Newton, Edward N. Goding of Newton Centre, Henry L. Goodman of Auburndale, and E. Payson Upham Jr., of Waban. It will be the purpose of this committee to carefully analyze all rail and trolley service between the several Newtons and Boston, with a view of securing all possible changes and improvements that will in any way serve the comfort and convenience of Newton citizens, and to receive complaints and suggestions of a constructive type from any member of the Chamber.

In accordance with recent action by the Board of Directors, President Richardson has also appointed a special committee to co-operate with and assist the special aldermanic committee, of which Ex-Alderman Philip Nichols is chairman, in developing a traffic ordinance that will give similar advantages to Newton as are enjoyed by other cities that have made a special study of local traffic conditions and have given their citizens the protection and convenience to be derived from aldermanic action of this type. Newton is one of the few cities in the state having no traffic ordinance and the need for one has long been recognized by the police department and citizens generally. The Chamber committee includes Ex-Alderman Henry D. Lloyd of Newton, Chief Walter H. Randlett of the Newton Fire Department, and Henry C. Robbins, president of the Waban Improvement Association.

The Chamber has recently issued in printed form a report of the re-organization, progress, and development of the Chamber and its activities during the past year, a copy of which is being mailed to all members this week. Should any member not receive a copy, or should any citizen who is not a member desire a copy of this little booklet, it will be gladly mailed to anyone notifying the secretary. Requests may be made by mail or by telephoning Newton North 4077.

Y. M. C. A.

H. W. Bascom represented the Newton Association at a Conference held at the Boston City Club Thursday noon, to hear John P. Johnson, commissioner of the Port of Boston. The commissioner addressed the men concerning the needs of the detained immigrants. Perhaps it is not generally known that the Associations of Greater Boston visit the port once a week to entertain and help in any way they can, those who are detained at this Port of entry.

Mr. William T. Halliday, Treasurer of the Newton Trust Company, gave a very interesting talk on Thrift at the Fellowship Club last Monday evening. On Monday, the 15th, Mr. George L. Listman of the Y. M. C. A. State Committee in charge of the physical work of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will speak. He will tell about the new National Athletic Organization which is being formed by the Army and Navy and many other organizations. Supper at 6:30. Any young man is welcome.

The candle pin bowling tournament comes up this last week with the chance for five teams to get first and second places therefore the final matches next Monday and Tuesday will be interesting. Captain Haynes team is leading by two points and three others are tied for 2nd place.

The Boston Pin Tournament begins the week of January 22nd, and now is the time to enroll.

Three State Secretaries, Messrs. Gibson, Merriam, and Combs will spend Tuesday, January 16th, at the Newton "Y" meeting with leaders of boys' work and the Association staff.

Championship Splash

In the local Y. M. C. A. pool Saturday, Jan. 20th, afternoon at 3:00 for boys, and evening at 8:00 for men, the best swimmers of Mass. and Rhode Island will compete for the Y. M. C. A. Championship for these two states.

Newton won the senior title last year and is out to make a strong bid for it again this year in its own tank.

This will be a rare opportunity for those interested in swimming to see real champions in action. Not only will the fastest swimmers be seen but the best fancy divers and plungers will also perform. A large crowd is looked for to root for the home teams.

present its demonstration switchboard to the public. This consists of a complete section of a central office switchboard, with operators on duty. Actual telephone calls are made during the demonstration and the audience is shown just how telephone calls are completed in an exchange. This feature is indeed an educational one. It clearly shows what happens when you make a telephone call and, as the connection is established, the young ladies will explain the process. Many side-lights of comedy and human interest are included in the demonstration.

Members of the Personal Service Committee of the Newton office, consisting of the young women operators, will be ushers at the meeting. Tickets for the meeting may be obtained from Mr. Hinkley or from the Presidents of the other Men's Church Clubs and Pastors of the Churches in Newton. It will be an entertainment well worth attending.

"THE BIBLE AND THE SPADE"

ceeded in comparing the Greek with the picture language, and so deciphered this ancient picture puzzle. This was in 1822, just one century ago. On the basis of this work, secrets have been unlocked and monument after monument found and read.

How did this discovery affect the Bible? We know, of course, that the Hebrew nation was born in Egypt in bondage. Egypt looms large all through the Old Testament history. The events of the days of Joseph live again for us. We know now why the caravan which took Joseph to Egypt was loaded with spices, balm and myrrh; these were the substances needed in great quantities to embalm the bodies of Egyptians. Sculpture on the walls of those old tombs depicts the kind of life that Joseph found in Egypt. The prison life is shown, the butler and the baker pictured at their daily duties in the court, shaved officials are shown—it was official etiquette to be completely shaven for court ceremony in those days. One especially significant relief shows how it fared with the man whom the Pharaoh delighted to employ. Here we see the Pharaoh and his courtiers, the signet ring and the chains of gold, as they are being handed with great formality to some official to whom the king is thus giving authority for some purpose. These signet rings were of even business men had to have them, as a result, many rings are being found in tombs and may be obtained by tourists. (After the lecture, Professor Bailey showed such a ring to those interested.) Pictures are found also of storehouses being filled with grain, a ladder on the outside, men carrying sacks back and forth, and a scribe at a record. Even models, as well as pictures of these storehouses are found in tombs; the idea being that these men who lived in luxury on this earth had these models placed in their tombs, so that when they came to life or went into the next world, they would command the models of men to come to life and supply them with all the luxuries enjoyed in their life time.

The days of Moses also live for us. The body of Ramesses II, thought by scholars to be the Pharaoh of the oppression, has been found, well preserved, inside a marvelous temple, carved out of solid huge granite. Outside of this temple are four statues of this Pharaoh, each 70 feet high. One of the pedestals shows rows and rows of slaves at work, with ropes on their necks; Ethiopian slaves on one side, Asiatic slaves, doubtless including Hebrews, on another side. How this shows us that slavery was the foundation of the throne of Egypt, the man who ruled with a rod of iron.

"Another old civilization bearing on Bible history, was unlocked in 1845, when Henry Rollins found in the Persian mountains a great rocky precipice 1700 feet high, and 300 feet up on one side were several panels covered with hieroglyphs and cuneiforms. At the risk of his life, Rollins constructed wooden scaffolds and laboriously copied every square inch of these panels. Twenty years later, he had old Persia deciphered for us. Excavations began, and as a result we have bushels of books—not books in our sense of the term, but letters which can be read and which gives us knowledge concealed for over 30 centuries from the world.

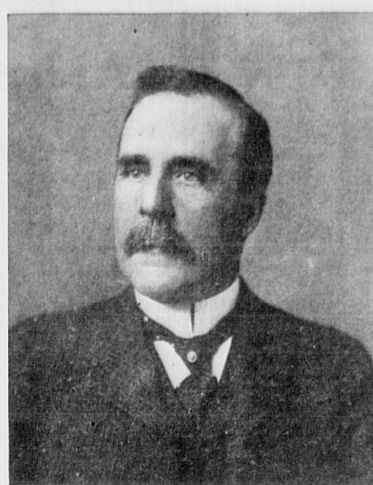

"Another especially interesting discovery came in 1887, when a local Egyptian dealer in antiquities made a trip on foot through southern Egypt, and found that one of the peasants had dug up on his lot of a farm some 300 pieces of stone which looked about like our shredded wheat biscuits. This dealer bargained for a day with the peasant woman, and finally paid her for the whole lot the sum of $10, which looked large to her. The dealer took these shredded wheat biscuits to his shop, and gradually the knowledge of their discovery became known to scholars, and the sale began. The first ten, the dealer sold for $25 apiece. Gradually others were sold, and the last three broken tablets brought $750 apiece! What were they? They were the famous Tell-el-Amarna letters, the royal correspondence between the Egyptian kings of Canaan and the Pharaohs of Egypt about the year 1400 B. C. They describe the raids and conquests of a certain group of people whom they call the "Habiri," and they send urgent messages to Egypt for help. These invaders take all their cities, and there he left no kingdom subject to Egypt in that part of the world. Who were these "Habiri"? It is believed that they were the Hebrews, either those under Abraham, or under Jacob, or under Joshua. Modern scholars incline at present to think these letters refer to the conquest of Canaan by Joshua, because of the fact that there are no letters from the Hebrews to the Pharaohs, but the others which we know from the Bible were already in the hands of Joshua and his troops.

Other very interesting discoveries might be described at length, but these facts show the significance of the excavations for the Bible student. A law code older than Moses, and even older than Abraham, has been discovered; it is called the Hammurabi Code, and shows the complex type of civilization and the laws needed in Babylon in the days when Abraham migrated to Canaan.

Confirmations of later history, such as the time of Ahab, are found by other excavations. Difficult and little understood Bible passages are explained. It is due to many of these recent remarkable discoveries and unlocking of ancient secrets that we are able to find new meanings and assess new values to the Bible more than ever before in the world's history.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

A social hour will follow the regular program. All interested are invited.

THE LATE JOSEPH B. SIMPSON

DEATH OF MR. SIMPSON

Mr. Joseph Bragdon Simpson, a resident of this city for the past twenty-five years, died at his home on Hunnewell avenue on Saturday evening. Mr. Simpson has been in poor health for several years, but with indomitable courage had been actively engaged in business up to within a month of his death. He was born in Sullivan, Maine, March 15, 1851, and received his education in the Eastern Maine Normal School. He then entered the concrete paving business with his brothers and in 1885 became the western representative of the Simpson Brothers in Chicago. He returned east in 1897, making his home in Newton and at the time of his death was the president of the Simpson Brothers Corporation. Mr. Simpson had charge of much important concrete construction, including numerous reservoirs, bridges and buildings.

He is the last of a family of three brothers and two sisters, all of whom were residents of this city.

He was a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank, and a member of the Brae Burn Country Club and of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Simpson married Miss Georgiana Lathrop and is survived by her and one daughter, Miss Dorothy Simpson. He was an attendant at Channing Unitarian Church and a former pastor. Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson of Dorchester, officiated at the funeral services which were held at his late home on Tuesday afternoon, and at which there was a large attendance of friends and business associates. The burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

A NEW INDUSTRY

A new industry established in Allston last August has met with such favor in its immediate neighborhood that trade in the Newtons is now being solicited. We refer to the sweater manufacturing establishment of Hall Brothers, 54 Harvard avenue, near Brighton avenue, in Allston. This is one of the few concerns that is in or around Boston where you can have any kind of sweater made up to your own order and design and color. While many styles and colors are always in stock, the greater part of their trade is custom, hand-fashioned work, pure wool only used. Children's Teddy Bear suits is a feature of the work. A visit to their showroom is interesting and not soon to be forgotten.

BIRD LOVERS INTERESTED

GUEST DAY AT CHANNING ALLIANCE
Nothing daunted by traffic conditions an unusually large number attended the annual Guest Day of Channing Alliance in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon. The occasion was a little additional festivity from the fact of its being the birthday of the president, Mrs. Joseph N. Palmer, who was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses and during the tea with an appropriately decorated birthday cake.

Rev. Eugene R. Shippen, of the Second church, Boston, gave a thoughtful and illuminating address under the title, "A Meliorist's View of Unitarianism." A "Meliorist," he explained, is someone intermediary between the optimist and the pessimist, who thinks that things are growing better "day by day." He pointed out the gradual growth of the denomination from a mere way of thinking into a vital church, showing that a real gain has been made.

Miss Edith Temple delighted her hearers with three piano selections. Both guests and members lingered long over the tea cups.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE—Following 65 weeks in New York and a six months' run through the summer in Chicago, "Just Married," that famous laughing success with Vivian Martin and Lynne Overman as stars, visits the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, beginning Monday, January 15, direct from another record-breaking run of three months in Philadelphia. "Just Married" is described as a rip-roaring comedy splash. The authors are Adelaide Matthews and Anna Nichols, who gave the stage "Scrambled Wives" and "Nightie Night."

Let the Barrett Reputation Protect You

THE reputation for dependable products earned by The Barrett Company through its 70 years of leadership in the roofing field, offers sure protection to all roofing buyers. For this reputation is too precious an asset to endanger by placing the "Barrett" name on goods of uncertain value.

Thus, Barrett Octagonal Strip Shingles, while new in style, possess the dependable quality for which all Barrett Roofings are famous.

With their unique form and fadeless red or green mineral surface, these shingles make one-color roofs of rugged beauty. Or by interchanging strips of red and strips of green shingles, distinctive two-color effects can easily be obtained.

Other popular Barrett products include metal protective paints, roofing cements, shingle stain oil, fly spray and a wood preservative.

EDITORIAL

The editor is most grateful for the gift of a fine travelling bag from his fellow members of the Massachusetts Press Association in recognition of his recent election as president of the National Editorial Association. We shall always appreciate the gift as well as the kindly thoughtfulness which prompted it.

To such men as Capt. Waterhouse of the Newton Fire Department, who has just retired after 45 years of service, Newton owes a deep debt of gratitude. Capt. Waterhouse retires with the best wishes of the whole community.

While the new method of levelling the snow our streets meets the wishes of automobile operators there will be serious trouble when the mountains of snow now pushed to the sidewalk edge begin to melt.

The automobile operators who leave their cars so as to block the narrow crossings which have been made through great mounds of snow on our streets, ought to have their licenses revoked.

A full account of the annual meeting of the Newton Welfare Bureau held last night at the Newton Club will be given in our next issue.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The Great and General Court has been marking time this week waiting for the time limit to expire tomorrow afternoon for the filing of new bills.

The committees are beginning to organize and hearings will soon be assigned on mostly minor matters. Representative Saltonstall has been selected as clerk of the committee on Judiciary, a place where he will have considerable valuable experience.

The writer has been somewhat surprised at the interest which has been taken by both the "drys" and the "wets" particularly the latter, on his bill to make the Massachusetts legal definition of intoxicating liquors, coincide with that of the Federal law as well as the standard in most of the states of the Union. To our mind, it seems as if there would be as much objection to a bill which sought to correct a statute which declared that 2 plus 2 equalled 5. For that is practically the situation so far as Massachusetts is concerned. For its present standard of 2.75% alcohol content conflicts with the Federal and consequently the fundamental standard of one half of one per cent. What possible harm can come from making a uniform standard?

The writer has also filed a bill to make innholders and common victualers forfeit their licenses to do business when they or their servants allow the exposure or drinking of intoxicating liquors on their licensed premises. This bill is to prevent the use of liquor in public dining rooms which is brought into the building by the guests. It is thought that the forfeiture of his license will cause the licensee to be much stricter than at present in such cases.

Representative Whidden of Brookline has started something with his bill which establishes a commission to determine if it is practical to abolish our county officers and transfer their present functions to state or municipal authorities. The row over state control of penal institutions will be child's play to what this measure will bring about.

What with a proposed new state prison, Metropolitan planning commission, new railroad facilities for Boston, new bridges and numerous bills affecting the government of Boston, the present session seems to have sufficient work ahead of it to last several months.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Officers Association of the Newton Council Girl Scouts held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, January 10th, in the Parish House of the Unitarian Church, West Newton. There were 24 Captains and Lieutenants present. Supper was served at 6 o'clock after which a business meeting was held.

Instead of having a speaker as has been the custom for the evenings previous, this meeting was devoted to the discussion of the different problems which the officers have to meet in their respective troops and an exchange of ideas and suggestions. The meeting proved a most interesting and a most helpful one, after the discussions some new games were played and the officers left feeling that they had received much help from this meeting.

NORTHGATE CLUB

There will be a bridge whist at the Northgate Club next Wednesday afternoon in charge of Mrs. Edward Hay, Mrs. Arthur Potter, and Mrs. Louise Sheldon.

On January 31 there will be an evening whist. Monday nights are bowling nights.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—Of all the "teams" that have graced the stage, in vaudeville or musical comedy, drama or burlesque, none is so well known as Weber & Fields—Joe Weber and Lew Fields. There have been many famous names coupled, some dating back many years, including Robson & Crane, Montgomery & Stone, Southern & Marlowe, Williams & Walker, Fulton & Rock, Booth & Barrett, and scores of others, but it is doubtful if any won the affection and lasting fame as has been accorded Weber & Fields, who will be seen in Shubert Advanced Vaudeville at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, for the week of January 15th.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—The play in which Mr. Giles will present the Boston Stock Company at the St. James this week is "The Dawn of Tomorrow," by Frances Hodgson Burnett, whose first work, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," established her as one of the most thorough writers of the century. At the St. James will be the first presentation of this play in Boston in eleven years. "The Dawn of Tomorrow" is a sincere, interesting, gripping drama in which one of the highest principles of humanity is set forth in one of the most interesting phases of playwriting.

SHUBERT THEATRE—The Messrs. Shubert announce the New York Winter Garden's tenth annual revue, "The Passing Show of 1922" for three weeks only, beginning next Monday, January 15, at the Shubert Theatre, Boston. This newest revue from the home of extravagance, the New York Winter Garden, is in two acts and twenty-six scenes. It was staged by J. C. Huffman and produced under the personal direction of Mr. J. J. Shubert. The book and lyrics are by Harold Atteridge with additional lyrics by Jack Stanley. The music is by Alfred Goodman. The ballets and musical numbers were staged by Allan K. Foster.

D. R.

The Sarah Hull Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution met at the Newton Club on Wednesday, Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, Regent, presiding.

Following the business meeting there was an interesting program, in charge of Mrs. Charles L. Pearson. Mrs. Bessie Talbot Salmon, Foshburgh sang a group of Indian songs in costume with her usual charm and grace, accompanied by Miss Bagley, after which Miss Hilla Dalal, a Parsi girl who is studying in Boston Conservatory of Music, spoke on "Home Life in India."

Miss Dalal gave fascinating glimpses of the ways and customs of her people. It was somewhat surprising to learn of the bridge whist parties enjoyed by the ladies of the upper classes in the large cities of India. In contrast to these, however, one learned of the pitiable condition of the very poor, who are ignorant of even the rudiments of how to live a healthy, normal life.

Miss Dalal brought with her a number of very beautiful Indian costumes which were draped by her according to the manner of the different castes represented.

Following the regular program, refreshments were served in charge of Miss Helen Partridge, assisted by Mrs. Charles L. Pearson, Mrs. Henry B. Pinkham, Mrs. William B. Rogers, Mrs. George A. Salmon and Mrs. John H. Sanborn.

The second concert of the season at the Commonwealth Country Club, will be given on Sunday, from 4 to 6 o'clock. It will consist of and orchestral trio, assisted by a reader. On the following day at 11, there will be a luncheon lecture. On January 16, also at 11, the first lesson in Italian Cut Work will be given to Ladies of the Club who have subscribed for this course.

Wednesday evening, January 17, will inaugurate the Evening Auction bridge parties at the Commonwealth Country Club for members and their guests. These evening card parties are in aid of the French Orphans.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

News of the march of the French into the Ruhr section and of the withdrawal of the American Army of Occupation come as the most evident signs that the end is not yet. What will be the outcome of this procedure, no mere Club Editor is wise enough to predict nor is she able at this distance to judge of their merit. One cannot but have sympathy for the feeling of many of the boys who were overseas in their admiration for the French and their appreciation of France's position of danger, and their regret lest our action in removing our army at this time may lead them to feel we have deserted them in their hour of need. Yet, if Germany has defaulted from sheer inability to pay, and some adjustment might have been reached without recourse to an army of invasion, it would seem a pity it could not have been tried. To say the least, the situation is exceedingly ominous. One is naturally led to ask the question, Would it have been different had the United States been more than a mere observer at the deliberations?

Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, responded to the call sent out by the president of the Brighton-Helmston Club of Brighton and Allston for a meeting of club presidents, ministers and heads of schools last Saturday morning to discuss with the representative of the new Olympia Theatre, Allston, the proposition for special movies for children on Saturday mornings. The idea of a wholesome and suitable program for children met with the hearty endorsement of those who attended and a promise of co-operation on their part. Those who were present agreed to act as hosts and hostesses for such a performance next Saturday morning, January 13, at 10:15, when the program will include five reels from "Arabian Nights," one depicting scenes in the childhood life of Abraham Lincoln, and other equally interesting features. Newton mothers desiring clean and wholesome entertainment for their children will do well to bear this opportunity in mind, and they are sure to be pleased with their surroundings in this brand new theatre, with its very fine organ.

State Federation

Whiting, chairman. Mrs. Grace S. Kuntz, supervisor of physical training in the public schools of Newton, will give a demonstration of Postural Work as carried on in the Newton schools. This meeting will be held in the Auditorium of the Auburndale Club on Tuesday, January 16, at 2:30 o'clock.

On Wednesday afternoon, January 17, the Education committee, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, chairman, is conducting a bridge party in the Auditorium for the benefit of the scholarship fund. Other dates of interest are January 30, President's Day, and February 27, Evening Assembly.

Rev. Raymond Calkins, D. D., will speak before the Community Service Club at West Newton next Wednesday, January 17, at 2:30 P. M., in the Parish House of the Second church upon "Politics in Europe and the Near East: Some Personal Observations." Miss Griffet Houston will sing. The hostesses will be Mrs. Robert E. Gross, Mrs. Paul S. Phalen, Mrs. Frederick S. Pratt, and Mrs. C. Sinclair Weeks.

Miss Sophie C. Hart, Professor of English Literature at Wellesley College, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands on January 16, in the Congregational Church at 2:30 P. M. Her subject will be "Common Life in the Middle West," as depicted in the works of Willa Cather, Sherwood Anderson, and Hamlin Garland. A social half-hour and tea will follow the lecture. Mrs. Philip Brown and Mrs. Charles Hawkes serving as hostesses. The Barn Studio, which has been closed since the holidays will open in February with a display of basketry as the main exhibition, January 19, is the date of the next Junior Assembly.

The meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday, which is to be held in the evening at 8 o'clock, in Central Church, will be of unusual local interest, for Mr. Francis I. Bacon, principal of the Newton Classical High School, a graduate of Kansas University, and former principal of the Meriden, Connecticut, High School, will speak on the timely subject, "The Secondary School Situation." This meeting is open to the community with a special invitation extended to parents and teachers. No tickets are required. There will be music, and refreshments will be served by the hospitality committee.

The lecture course on Interior Decoration, to be conducted by Miss Edith D. Deane of New York, and to take place sometime between February 26 and March 26 is still open for enrollment. This course, which is of a very practical nature, is not restricted to club members, but is open to anyone interested. Application may be made to Mrs. Percival A. Evans, telephone Newton North 1497-W.

Under the auspices of the Group Activities committee of the Newton Community Club, Mrs. C. B. Beason will lead the party to the Glass Flowers at Harvard next Wednesday afternoon, January 17. Those going will meet at the Library at 1:30. Owing to traffic conditions the party will go by trolley.

The Literature Round Table of the club will meet on Thursday, January 18, at 2:30 P. M., with Mrs. Charles E. Painter, newly named Mrs. Charles Bemis Gleason will lead a discussion of Recent Poetry.

The Parliamentary Law class under the leadership of Mrs. Electa M. Sherman meets at the Hunnewell Club on Wednesday afternoon. There are still a few vacancies. Those who attended the first meeting on Wednesday of this week were very rapid for their effort. Those who join the next time will find that the first lesson can easily be made up, so none need hesitate on that account. A knowledge of parliamentary law is just as essential to the lay club woman, as it is to the presiding officer; in fact, the latter is helpless if her members do not know the right way to introduce business and steer a meeting to a harmonious conclusion. So many women find the business meeting uninteresting—that is, they think they do, and won't go to find out otherwise. They would be surprised to discover what a difference a little knowledge of parliamentary procedure makes in their interest in the real work of the club.

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle meets on Thursday, January 18, at 2:30 P. M., in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville.

A change has been made in the program for the meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Upper Falls for January 22. Mrs. William James, of Boston, will give a dramatic reading, "The Fifteenth Candle," instead of that scheduled in the Year Book.

The meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday morning, January 18, will be in charge of the Civic Committee. Margaret Deland will speak on "The Opportunity of the Dull Job." Mayor Childs will also speak to the Club. The Class in period furniture under the leadership of Mrs. Miriam B. Pearce of Newtonville meets in the Club House January 22nd, February 5th, and February 19th.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Laura Huxtable Porter entertained the members of the Waban Woman's Club Monday, January 8, with her unique program of interpretive readings and piano selections, which showed "Parallels in Poetry and Music." Two artists, inspired by the same mood, or emotion, will express themselves each in his own medium, whether poetry or music. This similarity or parallelism, Mrs. Porter brought out in several numbers she read and played. After the meeting tea was served. On Tuesday morning, January 9, Mrs. Henry J. Cline gave the first of a course of lectures on modern literature at the Albert Angier School. Her subject, and it will be the same for next week, was "Novelists: Serious and Amusing." Single tickets are not available, members wishing course tickets should communicate with Mrs. Felix A. Burton, 64 Collins road.

On account of the storm the Newton Mothers' Club postponed its meeting of Monday afternoon until a later date not yet announced.

The few women of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club who braved the conditions of the streets on Monday evening to hear Miss Emma L. Coleman's paper on "Indian Captives in Canada" were well repaid for their effort. Miss Coleman gave the records of eight children who were captured, among others by Indians in Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire, and later sold to the French in Canada.

As Miss Heloise E. Hersey, the speaker announced for Wednesday morning, was unable to meet her appointment, the Newton Social Science Club omitted its meeting.

Tuesday morning's meeting of the Auburndale Review Club, held at the home of Mrs. Frank F. Davidson, well repaid the hard road to travel in getting there. The topic for the morning was "Inventors," and Mrs. Nelson Freeman gave a most interesting account of Edison, and Mrs. Charles E. Kattelle, one equally interesting of Marconi and Bell. The "Edison" of the hostess gave many beautiful recollections, including a Rachmaninoff, McCormick, Freda, and a reading of the Scriptures by President Emeritus Seelye of Smith College, and in conclusion the grand Hallelujah Chorus.

Christmas at the Hospital

Members of the Hospital Aid Association will be pleased to know that the recent bridge and reception for Mrs. Bertha Allen, the new superintendent of the hospital, netted $490, also that of the 250 nurses who took the State Board examination in October, eleven were Newton nurses, who all passed, two taking honors. The new building will be ready for occupancy in about a month, and as usual the Aid Association will assume the responsibility of helping in its furnishings.

Mrs. G. W. Talbot has received this week the following description of Christmas at the Hospital, written by Miss Allen:

On Saturday evening of December 23 the nurses enjoyed their annual Christmas party. On Sunday evening at 7:30, the Rev. Guy Miner of St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, with a goodly share of his congregation, came and sang carols outside our doors. It certainly sounded very Christmasy and attractive and was appreciated by all. At eight o'clock there was a special Christmas service, with the Rev. Mr. Arbuckle of Newton Centre as speaker. Special music was furnished by the pupils. After this service, at about 8:45 sixteen of the nurses went through the Hospital corridors softly singing "Holy Night." After the singing the packages for the nurses, which had been collected through the week and which had been held in the office with the permission of the pupils, were taken to the Nurses' Home and opened at the Christmas tree.

On Monday morning about five o'clock the entire School was called and at 5:30 they started out singing Christmas carols through the Hospital corridors and wards. At 6:30 they arrived at their dining room—which had been decorated the night before—and their breakfast was enjoyed. At 7:30 the Newton Highlands Glee Club with their trumpeters came and sang Christmas carols on the Hospital grounds, which was greatly enjoyed by all. At 8 o'clock the Newton Highlands Episcopal Church choir came and for an hour sang carols in the wards and corridors. At 9:30 Santa Claus visited the contagious wards. In the diphtheria ward the children certainly believed the real Santa Claus was with them. In the scarlet fever ward the children were older and realized, of course, that it was not a real Santa Claus, but they enjoyed the fun just the same.

At noon dinner was served, to the patients first and then to the nurses. The doctors were kind enough to allow all the patients possible to enjoy as many of the good things as seemed wise. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon all the children's ward enjoyed Santa Claus and the Christmas tree with the children. During the day the nurses had practically no time off, their time being spent in helping to make the patients happy.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The society began its rehearsals for its spring concert Tuesday night, and considering the extremely bad weather, the attendance was surprisingly good. The evening was spent on two choruses from Haydn's "Seasons," several choruses from which will be presented.

Plans are being forced to secure orchestral accompaniment for this concert.

The following new members were received: Mr. H. Warren Homond, Mrs. Minnie Burch, Auburndale; Mr. C. C. Macomber, Mrs. Ira Provost, West Newton.

The next rehearsal is to be held at the Methodist Church, Newtonville, next Tuesday at 7:45. Now is the time for new singers to come in and tenors and basses are specially welcomed.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Association of Central Church met on Wednesday afternoon. Forty-eight were present and listened with interest to the program prepared by Group IV with Mrs. W. C. Boyden as leader.

Mention was made in the treasurer's report of the high freight charges on the barrel sent to Pleasant Hill Academy. The amount, $16, has been paid by a generous member of the Association. Mrs. Eddy read a letter from Rev. Sherwood Eddy, China. Child labor, low wages, long hours are some of the problems in this country where industrial life is new and greed is unchecked. Mr. Eddy is striving to arouse the leaders to a realization of the injustice of the present system and efforts are being made to prevent children under twelve working in the factories.

To form a background for the subject, "India's Handicaps," a short review was given by Mrs. Frail of "India's Heritage." Mrs. Boyden said that if we would enter into a partnership we should know both assets and liabilities. Miss Henderson told about health conditions. The average length of life, 24 years, as compared with 44 years in this country is significant.

Mrs. Brant spoke of the poverty of India, largely the result of crude agricultural methods. And yet India is a great absorber of bullion and owns much of the gold and silver of the world. Speaking of caste, Mrs. Hartford said the virtue of the Hindu is to stay just where he is, neither raise nor lower his social position. Even a child of five refused to model in clay for fear of being degraded to the poorer caste. Miss Sherman told of the religions, which include one million gods.

Mrs. Boyden, in her usual delightful way, told a story, "Behind Teakwood Windows," showing the longing of the young secluded women for a larger life and the happiness which comes with enlightenment. Mrs. Slade led the devotions and two solos were sung by Mrs. Hanson, adding much to the interest of the meeting.

It had been recommended at a Church Federation meeting on December 12, 1922—"That the united churches establish a sewing day for community needs and interests. That the meetings be held from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. on the third Tuesday of each month, from October to April, inclusive, omitting December. That they be held in the work-rooms of the six united churches. That there shall be a work-room committee of twelve (12), two from each church."

The Sewing Circle has already had calls for sewing from the Red Cross, Newton Home Circle, Pomroy Home and District Nurses Association. It is hoped that a large number from each church will be present at these meetings as the purpose of the Sewing Circle is not only to meet the needs of the community, but to promote community spirit.

Grace Church invites the Sewing Circle to meet in its work-rooms on Tuesday, January 16, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Box luncheon.

A Nation's Tribute to Buick

There is an inspiring tribute to an industry in the universal recognition annually accorded the National Automobile Shows.

Thousands come to these exhibitions from every section of the continent and from foreign lands as well, and their advent is widely heralded the world over.

In the twenty-third National Automobile Show, just opening in New York, and later in Chicago, the nation is provided with a display of its chief means of personal transportation. This display is so complete and so magnificently set forth that all who come may easily carry away a perfect picture of the latest accomplishments in motor car building.

Year after year the national shows receive the homage of the entire country. Year after year they mark by their own increased magnitude and splendor, the increased growth of the automobile industry.

In occupying first place at both national shows for the fifth consecutive year, Buick continues the position in the industry awarded it by universal public opinion.

SATURDAY HALF HOLIDAY

Granted city laborers for rest of the year. Alderman White speaks one way and votes another

The first regular meeting of the aldermen of 1923 on Monday evening, would have been a record breaker for the shortness of the session, if the board could get over the bad habit of holding committee meetings during a recess of the regular session. As it was adjournment was reached at 9:40 o'clock.

Aldermen Madden and N. F. Pratt were the only members absent. Possibly the most popular matter of business for a large delegation of city laborers was the action of the board on the matter of granting Saturday half holidays for the balance of the year. The matter came up on a majority report of the Finance committee, with Chairman White in the minority. The order was favored by Alderman Heathcote who said that the Saturday half holiday had been gradually extended during the past three years first for six, then eight and last year for ten months of the year. The tendency of large manufacturing corporations was in this direction and it was good business judgement. The good condition of our streets this winter was due not only to an able head of the department but to the splendid spirit of the men. The morale of the force had been increased fully 35% in Mr. Heathcote's opinion and was due he believed to the different spirit with which the men were received at City Hall since the days of Alderman Harriman. He said the estimated cost of the order would be from $1,500 to $2,000.

Alderman White said that the alderman was long on the vote catching side of the matter but short on the facts of the case. He figured the cost at the rate of $4000 per month, or $6000 for the extra six weeks added by the present order. He opposed the matter largely because the campaign of a year ago was based on support—

COSTUME BALL

The Costume Ball, held in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville, last Friday evening, was one of the grandest events of the season. Notwithstanding the severe storm, the hall was crowded with beautifully and variedly costumed people, making the affair a complete success.

There were costumes of every description and various nationalities and the scene, as all tripped out the dances, was brilliant and wonderful.

At 10 o'clock the floor was cleared and an attractive Mexican Cafe scene was staged. Signor Lately, Mr. Fred E. Perkins, was the Spanish proprietor, assisted by his waiter, Mr. Allan MacQuarrie, as a Chinaman. Their funny antics amused the audience greatly. Charming gowned Spanish ladies, Mrs. E. P. CELEBRATION OF A 194TH BIRTHDAY

That was a unique occasion when the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton Highlands, assembled on Dec. 27, at the call of the Regent, Miss Annie Sanford Head, at the Boston Masonic Club, to celebrate the 194th anniversary of the birthday of Lydia Partridge Whiting, by an invocation of his charter. After the invocation by the chaplain, Mrs. William K. Crosby, luncheon was served to the chapter and many distinguished guests, including the State Regent and Vice Regent, Past Vice Presidents General, and many State and Chapter Officers.

The following-named charter members were direct descendants of Lydia Partridge Whiting were present: Miss Head, founder of the chapter, and daughter of the late Ex-Governor Nath Head of New Hampshire; Miss Mary H. Cutler, Miss Harriet M. Cutler, Miss Anna S. Thompson, Miss Sara A. Thompson, and Mrs. Harrison T. Hunt, Mrs. Grace Seaman Barnes and Mrs. Frederick S. Schwinn, who reside in Texas, were absent, also Miss Helen T. Miller, who is in California. Other descendants among the guests were Mrs. Edwin A. Daniels, a Colonial Dame; Mrs. Elbridge Leland of the Boston Tea Party Chapter, and Miss Marion Sanford Thompson, a sophomore at Mount Holyoke College, who represents the sixth generation.

The Chapter is indebted to Mrs. Ernest Fewkes for the unique table decorations.

The place cards, which were lettered by Sanford E. Thompson, also a descendant of Lydia Partridge Whiting, bore a quaint likeness of her daughter, Lydia Whiting Sanford. An elaborate birthday cake, bearing the figures 1728-1922, was presented by Mrs. Elbridge Leland. The music of the occasion was furnished by the West Newton Music School and the exercises of the day opened with a violin solo by Miss Mary Pucellarelli, in introducing the first speaker, Miss Head referred to an incident that occurred when she was in the State House in 1904, looking up family records. In conversation with the late Secretary Olin, Miss Head mentioned the name of Lydia Partridge Whiting, whereupon Secretary Olin exclaimed, "If you refer to THE Lydia Partridge Whiting, I shall be greatly interested in your record, you find." Miss Head stated that so far as she knows, her ancestor is the only woman mentioned in the seventeen volumes of "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the War of the Revolution."

Miss Head then called upon Mrs. Harrison Hunt to respond to the toast: "Lydia Partridge Whiting." Mrs. Hunt, whose home is on the Sandford place in Medway, once a part of the Whiting estate, gave briefly some most interesting facts regarding the life of her ancestor: that she was left a young widow with two little daughters; that she cared for her household, ran the mill of her late husband, managed her nine hired men, and rendered service in the Revolutionary War. Tradition says that she rendered service with a gun.

Then followed the special event of the day, the presentation of the charter by the State regent, Mrs. Franklin P. Shumway. In making the presentation, Mrs. Shumway spoke with affection of this chapter, which was the first one she organized after becoming State regent. Nine of the forty-eight names on the charter are those of direct descendants of the woman whose name they honor.

An original poem to Lydia Partridge Whiting was read by Mrs. Rufus K. Noyes. State corresponding secretary, interesting and appropriate addresses were given by Mrs. George Minot Baker, State Vice-regent; Mrs. Charles C. Abbott and Mrs. Frank B. Hall, past vice-presidents general; Mrs. James C. Peabody, State recording secretary, and Miss Ema W. Burt, State registrar. Mrs. Frank Durgin, and Mrs. E. J. Fessenden of Lucy Jackson Chapter, regent of the Boston Tea Party Chapter, brought cordial greetings from that Chapter, of which Miss Head was formerly a member.

The following named ladies whom the regent called upon unexpectedly, Mrs. J. H. Dearborn, past State regent of New Hampshire; Mrs. Stephen Hurd, past regent of the Boston Tea Party Chapter, and Mrs. Sanford E. Thompson, vice-regent of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, responded in happy manner.

The regent was congratulated on her splendid chapter and the chapter on its able regent, who has devoted herself entirely to promote the success of the chapter.

WEST NEWTON W. C. T. U.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. celebrated the third anniversary of National Prohibition on Monday in the Church of the Messiah, Abnurdale.

The hall was filled to capacity. A very pleasing program was presented, consisting of vocal solos by Miss Sweet, readings by Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, xylophone solos by Miss Mildred Beardsley, accompanied by Mr. Raymond Sikes.

The speaker of the occasion was Mrs. Jeannette Mann of Boston who gave a most interesting address on "The Progress of Prohibition." Mr. J. P. Roberts, former Prohibition agent, also told how raids are conducted.

During the evening Mrs. Milly E. Beardsley, president of the West Newton W. C. T. U., was presented with a bouquet of sweet peas and a pearl W. C. T. U. pin in token of her splendid work in the union, and also in honor of her birthday. Mrs. Beardsley responded with words of appreciation for the honor given her.

EDITORIAL

It is most fitting that the week of January 17-23 should have been selected as a National Thrift Week, for it was on January 17, 1723 that Benjamin Franklin, the apostle of thrift was born. The day was observed at various places throughout the country, with appropriate exercises, all of which emphasized the common sense and wisdom of this great American. Quotation after quotation can be made from his writings, all of which would be applicable to this day and generation, but we believe that first place should be given this maxim of Poor Richard, "I would rather have it said I lived usefully than he died rich." Let us all live up to that standard.

The splendid work done by our Street department in handling the vast amount of snow which has fallen the past few weeks, has been favorably commented upon by many persons and has been remarkably good advertising for the city.

While there are many who do not approve of a Saturday half holiday for city laborers, the splendid work they have done the past few weeks has caused many to be most lenient in that direction. The matter came up in the board of aldermen at a psychological moment.

The farcical nature of the civil service law governing removals from office is being shown in the long drawn out hearing now in progress at the City Hall over a discharge of a clerk and stenographer. The hearing is being held by the very official who made the discharge and the mayor of the city, who has the power of removal of the head of the department before whom the appeal appears, testifies in behalf of the clerk.

Our fellow citizen, Hon. J. Weston Allen, who has just retired from the office of attorney general after three years of service, has set a standard for efficiency which will be hard to equal. Mr. Allen has shown a rare degree of courage, an indomitable energy and great ability and deserves the gratitude of the entire Commonwealth for his invaluable services.

Twenty years ago, our streets with the present amount of snow would have been alive with sleighs and the air musical with the ringing of sleigh bells. Today all we hear is the cough of automobile engines striving to make headway against the heavy snow and ice. "Pity 'tis, 'tis true."

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

There are signs that work is actually beginning and a few hearings have been assigned and one or two reports on unimportant matters have been made to the House.

The Newton Hospital was interested in opposing a bill heard yesterday by Public Health and which if enacted would require the Hospital to have a registered physician on duty at all hours of the day and night. The bill applied to all hospitals of 50 or more beds. President William C. Bray and Representative Early opposed the bill.

Mayor Childs has introduced a bill to authorize the city to pay a bill of the Foreman Electric Company for materials furnished with out the usual requirement of advertising.

There was a conference yesterday by the Commission on Public Utilities and the Boston Elevated officials in regard to a loop terminal at or near Braves Field and there are rumors that the Commission will probably approve that project.

"THE SPIRITUAL WAY OF PEACE"

The Spiritual Way of Peace for This Generation is the subject of the five lectures to be given by Miss Bertha Conde, of New York, beginning Monday the 22nd, at 7.15, at Gilbert Hall, Tremont Temple. Miss Conde, known in every part of the Christian world as a leader among women, author of the "Business of Being a Friend" and the "Human Elements in the Making of a Christian," comes to Boston under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. She has been connected with the national association for twenty-five years—for twenty-three years as senior student secretary—and now traveling throughout the country doing evangelistic work among girls.

Miss Conde is a graduate of Smith College and studied theology in the Free Church College, Glasgow, Scotland. She has visited all the leading universities of this country, Europe and the Orient in the interests of Christian work and was a delegate to the World Student Christian Conference in Constantinople. Miss Conde is an inspiring lecturer for she speaks not only authoritatively, but with a breadth of sympathy that comes only from an intimate and understanding knowledge of people.

FEDERATION SEWING CIRCLE

The first all day Sewing Circle, which met in Grace Church sewing rooms on Tuesday, of this week, was a tremendous success. Each one of the five sister churches was well represented, there being approximately one hundred ladies present. Sixty-three garments for the Red Cross Newton Home Circle and District Nurses Association were entirely finished and as many more were partially completed.

The luncheon hour was a merry one and the delicious coffee served by the hostess church added to the enjoyment of all.

Let us all bear in mind that the third Tuesday, in each month for the next three months is Sewing Circle day.

Elliot Church invites the Sewing Circle to meet in its work rooms on Tuesday, February 20, from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. Box luncheon.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

of a small portion of the community for some time, but has warranted an increasing amount of attention during the past three years in which its efforts have been more definitely rendered for the benefit of the community. The Bureau has developed its activities upon specialized lines, and has come to represent almost a centralized organization recognizing with a single purpose the demands of needy families and the needs of family life in the city.

While two kinds of benefits stand out more prominently than others, the work of the bureau is not essentially that of providing medical assistance and financial aid to those deserving such succor.

When an institution such as this believes that it is entitled to general recognition, it is the obligation of the citizenry to accept the worth of its existence, and to give ear and publicity to its good works. To the young of children and the oldest of dependents, the cheer and aid of the active members of the bureau is given, and in numerous instances the necessity of many families is brought to the attention of other societies whose voluntary services are specialized in a similar manner.

The varieties of service run the gamut of legal advice to employment, and the direction of the children of families to the development of good feeling among the members of the families. The present satisfactory condition of many families in Newton can be traced to the activities of this bureau, which has really rescued much family life from more or less destruction.

The work of such a bureau, because it adheres to the policy of serving families and family life, makes it a practical central bureau about which much of the work of all charitable organizations could revolve. It could serve to be a clearing house for the distribution of all charitable attention to the needy; and, with its functioning as a link between the disorganized conditions of the community and the eventual salvation of the families forming the heavy burdens upon the community, it could command still greater attention and support than it is yet receiving.

That the bureau believes in the first principle of true charity, that the best who are deserving need only to be encouraged to help themselves and to be given assistance only at the crucial moment when all hope seems to be fading, is one of the best evidences of the soundness of its foundation and the faithfulness of those who have given considerate service under serious pressure and at times when even the slightest service seemed to be futile.

It would appear under close inspection that every case is thoroughly investigated, and each assisted family is closely watched during the recuperative periods. That alone should assure the community that the service which the bureau is rendering is justified and economically rendered, value to the city in restraining the decay of family life in specific families which would otherwise become waste products of the community.

Dr. John Adams, President of the Massachusetts Association for Occupational Therapy, spoke on the value of this work. It proved a great boon in the hospitals for the ex-service men and has been successfully used since in civilian hospitals and from there followed into the homes. It is curative in its methods, teaching people to work who for years have felt that they could do nothing.

CLASSES IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

About ninety persons were present for the beginning of the second term classes of the Norumbega School of Religious Education last Monday evening, at the Central Church, Newtonville. The classes in "Educational Dramatics and Paganism" and "The Life of Christ" seem to be the most popular, with "Young People's Work" a close second.

On account of the accident some weeks ago of Miss Priscilla H. Fowle, teacher of paganism, Mrs. J. P. Berkeley of Newton Centre substituted for Miss Fowle and started the course in an interesting way.

Professor A. E. Bailey spoke at the Assembly period on "How Our Bible Has Come Down Through the Ages," giving, as he said, "a 2000 year story in 10 or 15 minutes." He made the old monks of the monasteries and the various Bible translators glow with interest and life through his unique way of presenting the subject.

Professor Bailey also substituted for Dr. Gates in the course on The Life of Christ, since Dr. Gates is in Chicago, attending various committee meetings of the International Council of Religious Education. He will be back next week to continue his class as at the Community School. The same is true of Miss Ruth I. Seabury, instructor in the course on Young People's Work, who is also in Chicago.

Some facts of interest concerning Miss Seabury show her fitness to teach the course assigned to her in the School. Miss Seabury is a graduate of Smith College and has taken post graduate work in religious education. For three years she was a High School teacher, and since then has been employed as Young People's Secretary in the Woman's Board of Home Missions. She is a leader at the Girls' Camp at Northfield, a teacher at Silver Bay, and a speaker at Christian vocation conferences held at the various New England colleges from time to time.

VASSAR ENDOWMENT FUND

Much interest is being felt in Newton in the coming lecture by Miss Heloise E. Hersey of Boston on Hutchinson's "This Freedom," to be given in the Newton Women's Club Building in Newton Centre on Friday, Feb. 23, for the benefit of the Vassar College Endowment Fund.

Many prominent Newton women will act as patronesses. Following the lecture tea will be served in charge of Mrs. Elias Bishop, Mrs. George W. Bartlett and Mrs. A. A. Scott. The ushers will be girls enrolled for Vassar and will be in charge of Miss Eleanor Bishop of Newton Centre, a recent graduate.

ORGAN RECITAL

Elliot Church was filled to its utmost capacity, even the seats ordinarily occupied by the choir being taken on Wednesday night to hear Monsieur Marcel Dupré, organist of Notre Dame Cathedral, Paris. Many organists and other musicians from Greater Boston were present.

Monsieur Dupré, who is not yet forty years of age, is recognized as one of the greatest geniuses of the day. In securing him to play in memory of her husband, Mr. Frank A. Day, whose death occurred nine years ago, Mrs. Day gave to the citizens of Newton and vicinity a very rare musical treat, one which will be long remembered.

With the exception of the first number by Bach, the program was composed wholly of French composers. The selections were of great variety, and of different periods, including a charming Christmas Carol of the 18th century written for the harpsichord, and ending with a brilliant Symphony by Widor, which employed the full tonal resources of the organ. The organist played a Prelude and Fugue written by himself which showed his ability as a composer.

At the conclusion of the regular program, he gave a demonstration of his remarkable powers of improvisation by playing in the form of an organ symphony, three movements on themes handed to him by Mr. Truette, organist of Elliot Church. The second movement was particularly beautiful.

Monsieur Dupré responded to the applause which he received by bowing, and, in one instance, by an encore which was much appreciated.

Bigelow Notes

Stearns School

The Junior Girls' Club held a costume party at Stearns School Centre on Wednesday evening, January 17, prizes were awarded to the girls wearing the most original and the most grotesque costumes. A musical program followed games and song contests. Miss Mary Budroft and Miss Ruth Labore had charge of the arrangements.

The Newton Girls' Club met Tuesday evening, January 16th, to rehearse for its musical comedy which will be given February 12th and 13th, at the Stearns School Centre. A short business meeting was held before the rehearsal to discuss plans for the Annual Rally of the Massachusetts League of Girls' Clubs to be held January 27th, at the Westminster Hotel.

Mr. Harry Barber, supervisor of mathematics, visited Stearns School this week.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra gave a special program, Tuesday afternoon, for the children of greater Boston. Four of the Stearns teachers and some of the sixth grade pupils attended and all greatly enjoyed the program.

Miss Wheelock, kindergarten, is absent on account of the death of her mother, Miss Cossar is substituting.

The delivery from both sides was good and the debate was a decided success.

A skit in two acts is to be given by Group V on Tuesday. This group is from the VIII D class. The play is called Lady Wentworth and is taken from Longfellow's "Tales of a Wayside Inn."

A class meeting of Grade Eight was held Thursday, in the Assembly Hall. The officers elected were:

President, Lloyd Osborne; Vice-President, Kenneth Merrill; Secretary, George McNeill; Treasurer, Gerge Wrye.

Interesting lessons on South America are being held by VIII D in Social Studies.

Lasell

Mr. E. J. Winslow gave a most interesting and illuminating lecture before the student body on Saturday morning on the subject of Science and Civilization.

The Sunday afternoon vespers were led by Dr. Edgar Park. Dr. Park's eding is always eagerly anticipated. The service on Sunday was most impressive.

A large party attended the concert by Kreisel on Tuesday evening.

On Wednesday morning, at the Chapel services, Miss Wiggin spoke on the World Fellowship.

Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Winslow will leave on Friday afternoon for Philadelphia, where they will be the guests of honor of the newly organized Lasell Club. They will also be guests at the annual reunion of the New York Lasell Club, which will take place next week, in New York City.

On Friday night, the Union Church men known as the Onions were defeated by the ten man team from The Church of the Good Shepherd known as the Holy Rollers. Alexander Stephen captained the Ontons and Walter Meadows was captain of the Holy Rollers.

On Monday, the East again met the West and again the West were the victor, ten man teams bowling the Boston Pins. James R. Chandler was captain of the men from the West and Henry W. Robbins captain of the East side team.

On Thursday followed the match between Waban Avenue, captained by George Reinhart, and Windsor Road, captained by Walter Meadows; and Beacon Street, Amasa Gould, captain; vs Pine Ridge Road, William Brown, captain; Waban Avenue, took 3 out 5 from the team from the Gold Coast, and Beacon Street 4 out 5 from the team representing the exclusive Pine Ridge Road, section.

NEWTON GIRL SCOUTS

The Patrol Leaders' and Corporals' Association of the Newton Girl Scouts held its mid-winter meeting on the Golf Links of the Brae Burn Country Club last Saturday. It was scheduled for a coasting party but on account of the large amount of snow the program was changed and the girls took skis and toboggans instead of sleds. The skiing was wonderful, it was a perfect day and all those who attended the meeting had a glorious time. A sheltered nook was found where a huge fire was built—Captain Freeman made cocoa for all and the girls cooked bacon, chops and "hot dogs." About forty-two were present. This is the second meeting of this Association, which was formed last Fall when the Patrol Leaders and Corporals from all the Troops in Newton met at Camp May Day. Another meeting will be held in the Spring at the Camp. The girls enjoy these meetings and they feel that they are becoming better acquainted with each other because of them.

On Saturday afternoon, January 27, at 2 o'clock in the Gymnasium of the Newton High School the Newton Girl Scouts will hold an Inter-Troop Athletic Meet. This Meet has been arranged by the Senior Division of Troop 3. They have made out the program of events and with the help of the officers from the different Troops will conduct the Meet. It is the first meeting of this kind that the Newton Council Girl Scouts has attempted and if it proves successful it may be the first of a number of such meetings.

Three Merit Badge tests will be given by the Court of Awards next week. The Home-maker will be given by Mrs. Sandwill at the Junior High School, Newtonville, twenty-one girls have applied for this test. The test for the Athlete Merit Badge will be given by Miss Maida Flanders to two girls at the Vocational High School and Miss Maude Shippee will give the Laundress test to ten girls at the same school.

Mr. Frank P. Sibley, the well-known Y. W. War Correspondent, is to speak at Huntington Hall, 491 Boylston street, Boston, on next Tuesday evening at 8 P. M. His subject will be, "Why I Believe in the Scout Movement." There will be no charge of admission and no appeal for funds will be made. Those who have heard Mr. Sibley speak will be anxious to hear him again and those who haven't should embrace this opportunity.

$75,000 TO CHARITIES

Approximately $75,000 is bequeathed to local charities under the terms of the will of Elizabeth Goldthwait Peirce of Newton, whose will was filed for probate this week. The value of the estate is estimated at $174,500. The Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company is named as executor.

After a number of private bequests, totaling approximately $100,000, the will provides $5000 for the Roxbury Home for Aged Couples, to be held as a permanent fund, the income of which is to be used for the general charitable purposes of the home.

The residue of the estate, approximately $70,000 is left in equal shares to the Episcopal City Mission, Boston, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion, the Industrial School for Crippled and Deformed Children, the Boston Nurses for Blind Babies, the Perkins Institution for the Blind and the Frances E. Willard Settlement. In each instance a permanent fund, to be known as the "John Goldthwait Fund," is to be established, in memory of the deceased's father.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy in our recent bereavement.

D. A. RAYMOND and Daughter,

ANNUAL MEETING

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Unitarian Society of West Newton in the parish house, on January 8th, in spite of the stormy weather. The business meeting was preceded by a turkey supper with a turkey and a host to carve it, at each table. This successful affair was in charge of Mrs. Murray H. Ballou.

Most satisfactory reports were given by officers and committees at the business meeting and these officers elected Clerk, Irving F. Carpenter; treasurer, Francis Newhall; Trustee, Leon B. Rogers; members of standing committee, Mr. Alfred Haskell and Dr. Harold Chandler. Rev. Paul S. Phalen, Mrs. J. C. Jaynes and Mr. Wm. B. Baker were chosen as delegates to the American Unitarian Association. Mr. Louis Fabian Bachrach retires as chairman of the Standing Committee and Mr. Maynard B. Hutchinson will take his place.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

Legislation is the chief topic of interest among the clubs at the present time and conferences are being held almost daily by the Legislative department preparatory to the subsequent action to be taken at the Mid-Winter meeting of the State Federation on February 27, at Somerville. The matters chosen for this season's work include the group of prison measures providing for a new state prison, legislation to increase efficiency of prison labor, and for proper examination, classification, and treatment of convicted prisoners—all of which were endorsed last year; also, the act providing further facilities for educational institutions in the use of non-inflammable films and portable picture machines in schools and colleges. The Federal measures are two: the resolution introduced by Senator Lodge calling for an amendment to the Constitution permitting legislation by Congress on the labor of persons under 18 years of age and of women; and the principle of uniform marriage and divorce laws. A study of the bill requiring jury service for women is also recommended by the Executive Board.

Local Happenings

Dr. Lulu Hunt Peters drew a crowded house last Thursday afternoon for the meeting of the Newton Community Club, which testifies to the interest women have in seeing and hearing a person much in the public eye, as well as their real desire to know how to conform to nature's laws and avoid putting on unnecessary weight with increasing years. Dr. Peters' talk was very informal, Newton, enlivened with sallies of wit, and was at the same time thoroughly scientific and for the most part full of common sense. Ideal weight, she stated, is 110 pounds for 5 feet in height and an additional 5½ pounds for each added inch. The desire to reduce is not merely a question of vanity, she said. As undernourishment presupposes one to certain disorders, so there are even more disorders caused by overweight, such as heart disease, hardening of the arteries, fallen arches, diabetes, etc. Dr. Peters stated that fats contain more than twice the number of calories than protein and carbohydrates, so it is necessary to cut down on the amount of fat in one's diet in order to reduce, otherwise a balanced diet must be maintained. Don't reduce too rapidly, don't starve the rest of the body, and above all, don't take medicine to reduce unless under the scientific advice. It is not necessary to go hungry in order to reduce. Her plan was to do what she termed, "Shrink your stomach," that is go on liquid diet for three days, after that, one seems not to require so much food, and by using judgment in its selection, particularly avoiding the fats, one may keep one's weight down. A light breakfast, a light lunch and a moderate dinner will satisfy and at the same time not increase one's weight. The Home Economics committee of the club arranged an exhibit of the different kinds of food in calorie amounts.

Last week's meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was very enjoyable, the intimate talk by Mrs. Alice Howland Macomber on "The Passion Play at Oberammergau" and the wonderfully beautiful pictures combining to make it so. Mrs. Macomber herself is particularly attractive and the pictures, taken by herself, made an added appeal from that fact.

"Suppressed Desires" was presented at the meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Francis Thompson, Mrs. Charlton D. Miller, and Mrs. Frederick S. Fairchild being the cast. Mrs. M. S. Wallace played several selections, and a social hour with refreshments closed a delightful afternoon.

Professor Edward Whitney of Harvard, gave an unusually interesting lecture before the Newton Social Science Club on Wednesday morning. His topic, "From Feudalism to Monarchy," continued the history of France, which the club is studying and took up particularly the reign of Louis XI, when the country was changing from the feudal form of government to the monarchical. Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. I. Newton Peirce were passed, and Miss Georgia H. Emery announced that the total sum realized in Newton from the drive for the Oriental Colleges amounted to $836.

At the meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Raymond Calkins, D. D., of Cambridge, gave a most interesting presentation of his observations of European conditions as he saw them the past spring and summer. He was most emphatic in his views that America should be participating in the League of Nations, and that things cannot be settled until she is. Miss Griffith Houston of the West Newton High School sang. The meeting was in charge of the Civics committee, Mrs. F. J. Fessenden, chairman, who introduced the speaker.

Francis I. Bacon Addresses The Newtonville Woman's Club

Mr. Francis I. Bacon, principal of the Newton Classical High School, spoke on "The Secondary School Situation" at a public meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday evening, January 23rd, at the auspices of the Education committee, Miss Margaret McGill, chairman.

Mr. Bacon emphasized the fact that the public should know more about the school system, for civilization is advancing faster than the system can keep pace, and the conditions have become varied and complex. Speaking of the financial situation of the schools, he said it is a critical one, due to the hostile attitude towards larger appropriations for educational purposes, and suggested a new viewpoint—that educating future citizens was in the nature of insurance similar to marine insurance, fire, etc.

Mr. Bacon believes in giving the all-round boy a chance, for there are items other than knowledge that count in making one's way in the world. Personality is an important factor, to be overlooked, and the mechanical mind, which often develops into leadership, should have its chance. He would like to see a particular type of school for a particular type of mind.

In considering the social situation of the schools, he said there was great need of unifications. The period from ten to eighteen is one in which the social consciousness is welded, and during this time everything possible should be done to fuse good feeling among many nationalities with many traditions.

He sees great need of organizing new classes in the High School, but no rooms are available, and also the need of a better equipped gymnasium, with more time and instructors, for physical training is more important than knowledge.

There are but a few points taken up by Mr. Bacon, but it is quite evident he has a progressive and constructive program for his administration of High School affairs, and those present were convinced that public sentiment should be aroused and suitable appropriations secured that he may be able to carry it out.

Much praise is due the trio of violin, cello, and piano from the West Newton Music School for the rendering of their musical program before the address and during the social hour which followed.

Newton Federation

Bad going and doubtful weather conditions did not deter the members of the executive board of the Newton Federation from attending Monday morning's meeting at the Newton Club. Many points of interest were brought up for consideration. The Civics committee stated that the Newton Mothers' Club and the Christian Era Study Club were the first to report to the State Federation 100% registration. The clubs are urged to work for that end. The Education committee reported that as a result of the circulars distributed among the parents, relative to the eight weeks' system of vacations in the public schools, returns were overwhelmingly in its favor. What action the school committee will take will not be announced until the time approaches. The Home Economics committee announced that plans for millinery classes are being made. The resolution regarding spiked celery was presented and adopted unanimously.

The Legislative committee brought in a very full report concerning the bill which the Federation has had introduced into the present session of the Legislature providing that minors under 17 when obliged to testify in cases involving moral turpitude should be heard privately as is done in the juvenile court. The bill has the support of many welfare organizations and of Judge Cabot of the Boston Juvenile Court. The bills chosen by the State Federation for the work of the clubs were outlined. It was announced that Judge Jean Norris will be unable to address the Legislative meeting of the Federation in February, but that Judge Cabot of the Boston Juvenile Court has been secured.

Since the date for the regular meeting of the board in April falls on the day of the State Federation Presidents' Conference, it was voted to hold the board meeting on April 9, instead.

Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds reported the sale of Christmas Health Seals, stating that three-fourths of the money goes to Newton for local work, and that there are no overhead charges for the campaign, since the Welfare Bureau takes care of that. Newton's quota was $450, of which $454 has been secured and the committee is still hoping to complete the amount. The enthusiasm and co-operation of the workers has been wonderful.

Mrs. Carrie A. Hull spoke on behalf of the Welfare Bureau, saying that $250 per month is spent in relief work, which is but a small part of the work. Since the date for the aim being to make the work constructive and not merely remedial. She expressed the hope that a Health Centre may soon be established in Newton, similar to those in Brookline, Beverly, and other places, where prenatal care may be given and pre-school aid clinics held among other things that might be done.

The sum of $250 was voted for the work of the Welfare Bureau.

Mrs. Edward P. Kouch reported that $246.40 was realized from the card party in December.

NEWTONVILLE FORUM

A large audience is predicted at the first mid-winter meeting of the Newtonville Community Forum on Sunday, January 21. The Forum meetings are held in the Central Church on Walnut street. The public is cordially invited to attend and take part in these interesting forums on topics of present day importance.

The speaker this Sunday, is Bhaskar Pandurang Hivale a native of India, an eminent editor, a student of present day affairs in his homeland—a forceful, humorous lecturer. His subject "What's Happening in India?" should appeal to every man, woman and child in the light of the tremendous upheavals in process in that great country—a country with more than three times the population of the United States.

The Forum Meeting will begin at 4 P. M. Sunday, January 21. It will last not over an hour and a quarter in all. Special Music will be furnished by Mrs. Vernon H. Moss of Newtonville, who will render a few violin selections.

The Committee in charge of the Forum lectures consists of Messrs. G. W. Harris, Chairman; C. R. Cabot; W. C. Peebles; G. W. Taylor; and E. S. Whitten.

MRS. PRESCOTT'S WILL

The will of Lucy E. Prescott of Newton, who died Jan. 9, was filed for probate this Wednesday. It contains no valuation of the estate, but private bequests alone total in the vicinity of $300,000.

Every employee of the deceased was remembered with a legacy of $100 for each two years of service. Alvida Bolin and Amanda Johnson, servants, were each bequeathed $1000. The will contained two public bequests, one of $6000 to the annuity fund for Congregational ministers, with the provision that the income is to be paid to Rev. Zenas Crowell of East Taunton; and the other of $5000 to the Newton Home for Aged People.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

At the special Neighborhood night, Wednesday, January 24th, at 8 o'clock, Col. Harry K. Eustace will give his famous lecture and pictures, "The truth about savage Africa." This is undoubtedly one of the most interesting and instructive entertainments ever given on the subject. During the winter Col. Eustace has appeared at the Harvard Union, Boston City Club, Beacon Society, and other well known clubs, with great success, and the Hunnewell Club is most fortunate in being able to secure him for this date.

FIRST CHURCH ORCHESTRA

This is the second concert of the membership series, and Mrs. M. H. Eveslin is to be the soloist of the evening. She will play Saint Saens Concerto No. 2 for the piano, and the orchestra will play its accompaniment.

FUEL SITUATION

Interesting Letter from Local Fuel Administrator on Present Conditions

To the Newton Graphic:—

Will you kindly give space in your columns to a few reminders for those who are suffering for lack of coal in Newton?

The coal dealers are trying very hard, under adverse conditions, to take the best possible care of their customers that their supply of coal and the weather conditions will allow. With the snow that has been on the ground the past two weeks, and is likely to be with us for some weeks to come, it is impossible for the dealers to deliver to their customers the full amount of coal that their customers desire, sometimes not all that their customers actually need, but they are doing the best they can.

The snow blockade has also interfered with the arrival of coal by rail, and many cars of hard coal are still on the railways, having been shipped some three weeks ago from the mines, but not yet arrived; so, this condition calls for the greatest amount of patience and cooperation between dealers and their customers.

The function of the Local Fuel Administrator is not to deliver coal to the consumers in Newton, nor to take away customers from one dealer and transfer them to another, simply by reason of a few days' delay in getting the required coal.

There is need of the greatest simple honesty in statements, and cooperative help on the part of the consumers with their dealers, in order to get through the winter without any suffering. Instances have occurred where a frantic appeal for a certain size of coal to a dealer resulted in a small amount being delivered on the statement that the parties had no coal whatever; only to find that there was quite an amount of coal still in the cellar, only of some other size. These misstatements are very irritating to the dealers, who very naturally lose their patience with consumers who bother them for coal with a half statement of facts.

Many consumers when they are unable to get the exact size and kind of coal they desire from their local dealer, are appealing to the Local Fuel Administrator to be transferred to some other dealer, and the statement is made that every other coal dealer outside of their own has plenty of coal. Of course, any transfer of customers from one dealer to another results in three or four days' or a week's delay in customers getting coal, and should be resorted to only for good and sufficient reasons.

There is a plenty of coal, either in our dealers' yards, or on the way there from the mines, to supply all of the reasonable needs of the citizens of Newton, if they will be careful of the burning of coal, use substitutes where necessary, and be absolutely truthful in every statement they make to their dealers, so that when they say they will be out of coal in three days, and it means that, and not three weeks, as has sometimes been found to be the case.

Consumers in the City of Newton, who have any means of transportation of their own, and are short of coal, can help their local dealer very much by going to the coal dealer's yard

TELEPHONE DEMONSTRATION

Successful Entertainment Held Wednesday Night at Eliot Church by Eliot Men's Club

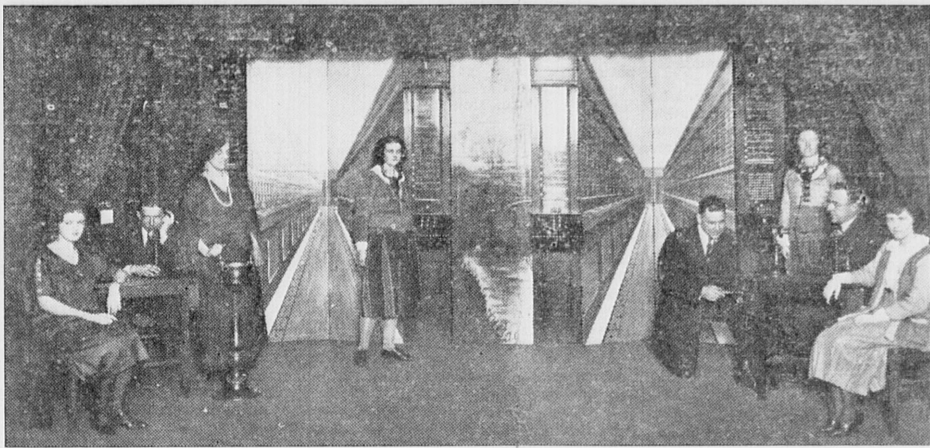

Before an audience of more than 400 people, who braved one of the worst snowstorms of the winter to attend, employees of the Newton Exchanges of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company gave one of the finest entertainments, that, in addition to being entertaining, was also instructive, ever held in Newton, at a meeting of the Eliot Men's Club in the Eliot Church last Wednesday evening.

The program was arranged through the characteristic enthusiasm, led the community singing. The speaker of the evening was George R. Grant, General Attorney of the Telephone Company. After first thanking the members of the Eliot Men's Club for the opportunity to tell something about the personal side of the telephone business, Mr. Grant gave a very interesting talk on personal service. During his remarks he said: "In these days of ever-changing conditions in our industrial life, due to the increased use of machinery, we are apt to think in terms of machinery and to forget the human and personal side of our large business enterprises. In the telephone business the development of the personal side has kept pace with the mechanical and electrical development. The best work in any undertaking is not the result of technical training alone. The spirit of service, the ability to get the other fellow's point of view, must prevail if real success is to be obtained. This is true of work in the office, in the school, in the church, in the store and in telephone exchanges."

Personal service, Mr. Grant defined, is a kindly act, within or without the routine, inspired by an earnest desire to help. It results from a correct mental attitude and from having the spirit of service. Mr. Grant illustrated points of his talk by a number of interesting stories about telephone operators and the heroic work they have done in cases of emergency, fire, storm and such similar circumstances. He brought out that the recent snowstorms in and around Boston materially increased the number of telephone calls handled in central offices, and stated that one more call the co-operation of George R. Grant, General Attorney of the Telephone Company, who is also a member of the club, and Benjamin S. Hinckley, President of the Eliot Men's Club. The Telephone Orchestra, with Claude H. Phillips as conductor, rendered several selections. Each number was enthusiastically applauded and the Telephone Company has a right to be proud of its music lovers who form this orchestra.

In his introductory remarks Mr. Hinckley paid high tribute to the late Theodore N. Vail, former President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and stated that from his observation, the spirit of service, so characteristic of Mr. Vail, permeates the Bell System of today.

During the evening motion pictures of the history of the telephone business and a trick picture showing the assembling of a telephone set were shown, while the orchestra furnished music. George Lincoln Parker, with per telephone per day would mean 340,000 more calls in the Metropolitan Division. He thus showed the increase of operating load due to storm. It is not necessary, in exemplifying the spirit of service, to do heroic acts, explained Mr. Grant, because many cases, though lacking in any degree of heroism and done under the most ordinary conditions are equally important to the relation between the Telephone Company and the public which it serves, and all contribute to a service worth while. Courtesy comes through adequate training and a spirit of service, and courtesy is an important factor in telephone operating.

Mr. Grant pointed out that telephone service is not faultless, and, probably due to the human element

NEWTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Mercantile Division to Hold Meeting of Interest to Merchants at Newton Club, Feb. 5

The first of a series of meetings to be held under the auspices of the Mercantile Division of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, at which subjects of special interest to the merchants of the city will be discussed by visiting speakers, will be held at the Newton Club on Monday evening, February 5. Two subjects of more than ordinary interest to local business men will be considered at this meeting and, because of this fact, the committee in charge of developing the plans and work of the Mercantile Division has decided to issue a general invitation to all business men of the city, whether or not they are members of the Chamber, to attend this meeting.

The guest and speaker of this occasion will be Mr. L. James Parker, secretary of the Taunton Chamber of Commerce, who will talk on Credit Bureaus and explain how they may be organized and maintained as a part of the work of a local Chamber of Commerce. Of the various New England Chambers of Commerce conducting credit bureaus, the Taunton Chamber is generally recognized as having been the most successful and as having developed a credit service that gives the greatest results to its members. This service has been developed by Mr. Parker, who has consented to come to Newton and explain the entire methods of operation, with the results attained, to the members of the Newton Chamber. Following his talk, he will answer questions and discuss the subject informally along any special line in which those present may be interested.

Mr. Parker is also President of the New England Association of Commercial Executives, Chairman of the Advisory Council of the Massachusetts State Chamber of Commerce, and one of the best known Chamber of Commerce executives of this section.

Another matter to be considered will be the plan for providing a co-operative advertising medium for the business men of the city, developed at the recent meetings of the Mercantile Division committee and to be explained in detail by representatives of the committee at the business meeting on February 5.

The meeting will be preceded by a dinner at 5:30 o'clock, to which all members and others who are engaged in any form of business in Newton are cordially invited. Those who cannot conveniently attend the dinner are invited to be present at the meeting, at 7:45. Printed announcements of the meeting will be mailed to members at a later date, while non-members are invited to write or telephone the Chamber, securing further information and making dinner reservations in that way. No advance notice will be required from those who cannot attend the dinner but who desire to be present at the meeting to follow.

The Mercantile Division committee of the Chamber is organizing its work for the coming year and this committee promises in the future to be one of the most active agencies of the Chamber in initiating and developing new activities. These will all be directed along lines that are expected to benefit the local business men in all sections of Newton. The initial meeting was held at the Newton Club on Monday noon, January 15, at 12:30 o'clock, with the following in attendance: Chairman George A. Schade, Fred D. Bond, Wendell H. Brayton, Bernard M. Burke, William M. Cahill, Andrew J. Ford, Samuel Marshall, Ira S. Ros, George G. Sherman, Howard G. Tuttle, Frank L. Richardson, and the Secretary. The business meeting followed an excellent luncheon served by Steward W. J. Howlett of the Club. The second meeting was on Monday of this week, and was another luncheon meeting, the committee voting to hold frequent meetings and to adopt the plan of mid-day meetings that is followed by most chambers of commerce in the development of their mercantile activities.

The two meetings so far held by this committee have been very gratifying.

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by Dorothy Drake

F. A. Day Junior High School

Much to the joy of everyone connected with the Junior High School, the lunchroom opened Thursday, Jan. 18th. As it accommodates but 250 at a time of the 550 pupils, the lunch period is divided into two shifts, from 11.30 to 11.55 and from 12.05 to 12.30. Even with this arrangement there is not room for all in the lunchroom to eat at the tables. Mrs. A. Sandwall is in charge and is serving very appetizing menus, cafeteria style.

The gas has been turned on in the science room so that it is now possible to have experiments.

Everyone is waiting expectantly for the gymnasium apparatus which is expected soon.

Grade VII organized Thursday, Jan. 18. The officers were elected as follows: President, Donald Edmonstone; Vice President, Harold Lodge; Secretary, Virginia Hayes; Treasurer, George Maynard.

The girls' gym classes have been divided into squads which are to compete for points during the remainder of the year.

The mathematics class under Miss Tracy has had some very interesting work. From a magazine which was brought in, the number of cylinders and the diameter of each in different makes of automobiles was quoted. The horse power of every car from a Rolls Royce to a Ford was found. Finding the horse power of different pupils was also very interesting.

The girls of the cooking classes are glad to have the gas turned on so they can really cook, which they have not done so far.

Division I E held a debate during club meeting. It was, Resolved: That we shall restrict still more the immigration. The negative side won.

Class II E also held a debate last week. The resolution was, Resolved: That we shall restrict still more the immigration. The negative side won.

All members of class I E present at the club period on Friday greatly enjoyed it. Mr. Dacy proposed that the period be given to social entertainment. Stories and jokes were told. An hour spent thus once in a while breaks up the monotony and does no harm to student morals.

At the last two meetings of the Lolluquium Club, Philip Ahern and Wallace Fullerton have entertained by explaining the subject of Radio and installing their sets.

Hyde School

Miss Jewett's class, Grade III, has formed a "Top Notch" Club in Arithmetic. If 100% in daily speed tests is obtained they become "Top Notchers." In special tests a colored star is given each member who receives 100%.

The children in Miss Sampson's fourth grade are all feeding their little feathered friends this winter season with crumbs, grain, and bits of suet tied to shrubs and branches of trees.

The English classes of the eighth grade, under Miss Hanscom, are giving declamations half an hour each week in the assembly hall.

Miss Helen Merrill, formerly of the Hamilton School, Everett, is a new sixth grade teacher in our school.

Last Friday afternoon, Dr. Curtis spoke to an interested group of parents on the Schick Test which will be given soon in this school to those who desire it.

Miss Abbott's history and geography classes gave some very fine lantern talks last week. Children from Miss Abbott's class gave talks accompanying pictures of the West Indies. Children from the other sixth grade entertained with "The National Parks of Our Country" and repeated in the afternoon for the benefit of the seventh grades.

The children are greatly enjoying the stories of Miss Jamieson during the story-hours, Saturday mornings at the library.

Last week the January weighing took place in our school with the following results: 512 children were weighed; of this number 290 or 56% are normal weight and over, 181 or 35% are less than 10% under weight, while only 41 of 7% children are more than 10% under weight. Miss Lewis, Miss Pendleton and Miss Sampson had no children more than 10% under weight this month. This is the second month that the two first grades have had this record.

The boys of the Hyde School are forming a hockey team.

Mason School

A portfolio has been sent to grade seven, room 14, from a girls' school in France. It is written in French with an English translation for each letter. It is beautifully written and illustrated. Grade 7 is very proud of it. The Junior Red Cross has asked to borrow it for exhibition purposes.

Mr. Philip Riley of Manomet Road has presented to the Mason School some samples of rubber which will add to the interest of the geography collection.

The teachers of the Mason School were surprised and much pleased to greet again one of their former associates, Mrs. Alden Hall, formerly Miss Carrie E. Hale of Damariscotta Mills, Maine.

The Mason Victrola, which has been in service some years, has been put in good condition and is to be given to the Oak Hill School, together with records.

Ralph Waldo Emerson School

One hundred pupils attended the Story Hour at the Upper Falls Branch Library last week on Thursday afternoon. Miss Hossman of the Curry School of Expression, Boston, told the stories.

A party of about 40 upper-grade pupils attended the concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra last week. One group went on Tuesday afternoon with Miss Lewis. Another group went on Thursday with the Principal.

Miss Manter has been away more than one week on account of the illness of her mother in Maine. Miss Heloise Chase has taught her classes. A new class is to be started next week in the Laboratory Room. New furniture has been provided for about fifteen pupils and Miss Helen Smith of Malden is to assume charge of the class. The aim of the class is to do wholly individual work in making up deficiencies in their studies. Some manual training work will be given also to these pupils.

Prizes were awarded last week to two pupils of the graduating class by the New England Dairy and Food Council, Boston. The Council offered the following prizes "for the best 25 original jingles, verses, or prose about milk." 1st prize, $25; 2nd prize, $20; 3rd prize, $15; 4th, $10; 5th, $5; the 6th to the 25th inclusive $1 each, all payable in milk. The contest was open to residents of Greater Boston and ended on Dec. 31. The pupils of the two upper grades were eager to enter the contest and wrote verses. About 12 were judged good enough to be forwarded, and these were sent just before the holidays. Letters came last week making announcement that the 3rd prize was won by Frances Weeples of the "by Richard Vaisel."

Both prizes being major prizes, Frances and Richard read their verses at the Assembly on Monday morning.

Stearns School

Miss Lotta Clark, instructor of history at the Boston Normal School, was the speaker at the joint meeting of the Mothers' Club and the Junior Girls' Club on Monday evening, Jan. 22nd. Miss Clark emphasized the spreading of good will among families and groups of neighbors and told some interesting stories about children to illustrate her subject. After the program, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Bland served nut-bread sandwiches and coffee. A short committee meeting was held after the regular meeting, by the Program Committee to discuss the Spring Program.

The Junior Girls' Club will hold a mid-winter dance at the "Bungalow" Oak Square, Brighton, on Friday evening, February 2nd. This will be an informal affair with music furnished by Hanlon's orchestra.

At last, after waiting 14 years, the Stearns School Assembly Hall has been painted—and it does look fine.

Lasell

Mrs. Gulick, head of the Gulick Camps, was the lecturer on Saturday, her subject, being the International School for Girls at Madrid.

Dr. Edward Payson Drew gave the talk at Vespers on Sunday evening. Dr. and Mrs. Winslow go on Friday to New York to attend the annual luncheon given by the New York-Lasell Club.

The Senior Class are entertaining the other members of the school with a Snow Carnival on Saturday evening, when the new toboggan slide will be one of the chief attractions.

There promises to be a large party for the week-end at the White Mountains which comes February 9th to 11th.

Bigelow Notes

Mrs. Leeroix, formerly teacher in the Burr School, Auburndale, is substituting at the Bigelow for Miss Ward, who is still too ill to return to school.

There has been a mid-year reorganization of the clubs. The numbers in each club are smaller, the different leaders having chosen those who show special aptitude and ability along the lines of activity for which the various clubs stand. A new club has been added under the leadership of Mr. Chase.

Bigelow started her hockey season Tuesday, Jan. 16, with a practice game. On Saturday, Jan. 20, another practice game was played with Waban. The first period was even; each team scoring one goal. Final score 8 to 2 in favor of Bigelow.

Senior league games will be played Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, beginning Jan. 30. A Junior schedule is being arranged for boys below 7th grade.

The coasting on Burr Playground is excellent, and many of the younger children are taking advantage of it.

POLICE NEWS

Gaetano Spizzano and his wife, Josephine, of 97 Florence street, Thompsonville, were arraigned in the Newton District Court Monday morning before Judge Bacon. Gaetano pleaded not guilty to the charges of illegally selling intoxicating liquors and keeping and exposing liquors for sale. His wife pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault on an officer and in answer to the judge's question said she did not know that Patrolman Joe Kelly, whom it is alleged she hit with a chair, a file and a club, was a police officer. The man was held in $700 and his wife in $200. The cases are continued to Saturday.

Spizzano's place was raided at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Joe Kelly, dressed as a mechanic, bought some wine, and Sergt. Desmond, with Patrolman William H. Dolan and Kelly, raided the house with a search warrant. The patrol wagon, a flivver truck and Street Department pumg with two horses were needed to carry the haul to headquarters. The entire haul, including more than 1000 gallons of wines, alcohol and moonshine, flavorings and the electrical apparatus for agitating the stuff, "10 years in a week," is valued at about $5000. The forfeiture of the liquors will be decided by the Superior Court as, according to the law, liquors valued at more than $1000 must be brought before the Superior Court for disposition.

On Tuesday morning Raffaela Genova, aged 39, of Auburn street, Auburndale, was in the Newton District Court, charged with the illegal sale of intoxicating liquor. She pleaded guilty.

Monday afternoon her home was raided by Sergt. Desmond and Patrolmen T. L. Dolan and J. E. Greene, and more than 1000 gallons of wine were seized, together with five quarts of whiskey, a gallon of alcohol and a number of jugs and bottles.

The woman was fined $50 and costs by Judge Bacon and was given one month's sentence in the House of Correction.

K. OF C. BUILDING FUND

The sacred concert, vaudeville and picture show held Sunday night in the Newton Opera House by Newton Council, K. of C., for the benefit of the building fund, was attended by more than 800. David J. Lynch played several selections on the organ, the Sunbeam Trio sang, Harry McGovern entertained with songs and stories, Miss Helen Tiernan rendered several vocal selections, Frank Cook, the well-known Newton Post, A. L. impersonator brought down the house with his offering, and the vaudeville closed with Carlisle and Sutton in a laughable sketch. The feature picture showed Mabel Normand in "Molly O" and Buster Keaton was flashed on the screen in the "Playhouse." The committee: John Moorehead, Ambrose Doherty, D.G.K., Paul Fitzgerald, John Duntun, Daniel Brennan, Henry J. Kinchla, G.K.; James C. Hodges, Charles Farrell, John Keefe and John Barwise. The ushers: Lena Buckley, Alice Grant, Ruth Kneeland, Florence Keegan, Claire Hodges, Elizabeth Lyons, Elizabeth Boyle and Kathleen Boyle.

BRAE BURN CARNIVAL

The three postponed skating carnival at the Brae-Burn Skating Club was held Friday night, with an attendance of about 2500. There were exhibitions of fancy skating by Miss Edith Rotch, F. F. Munroe, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Van Washburn, Mrs. Channing Frothingham, Miss Martha Brown, and pair skating by Mrs. Theresa Weld Blanchard, amateur champion, and Nat. W. Niles. Instead of the exhibition hockey game between two Newton High teams, there was a game between members of the club and a Cambridge team. Brae-Burn, through the work of Eaton, won 2 to 0. The pond was lighted by Japanese lanterns and colored electric lights strung from the surrounding trees. Music for the skating was furnished by Dominic Annetta and his hurdy-gurdy, and by Teel's Band. There was dancing at the clubhouse the latter part of the evening.

NEWTON CLUB

The concert at the Newton Club last Sunday was much enjoyed by all who attended.

Following the neighborhood dinner on Tuesday night there was an entertainment by a colored troop.

The bowling team won 3 points Wednesday night from Waban in the Newton League Boston Pin Tournament. There will be a formal dance this evening.

ST. JAMES THEATRE—Next week the Boston Stock Company will be seen in Carlyle Moore's play of several seasons ago, "Stop Thief," which enjoyed great success in New York, on the road and in stock. The play revolves around two kleptomaniacs, an old man and his son-in-law to be. On the eve of the wedding when the house is full of presents, the temptation is too much for both of them, and a detective is called to keep the presents from disappearing. The detective fails to arrive, but in his stead comes a real crook who is immediately accepted in his place. A maid in the house is an accomplice of the crook and the disappearance of several articles and the arrival of the police complicate matters for all concerned. The play will call for the full talents of the Boston Stock Company and several extras.

ing in results, and in developing enthusiasm and interest on the part of members of the committee. These are unanimous in their belief that the Chamber can give many types of practical assistance to the business men of the city and that the Mercantile Division offers opportunities for helpful service that are exceeded in no other branch of the Chamber. One of the most important policies already adopted by this committee is to hold monthly meetings for local business men, aside from the regular meetings of the Chamber. The first of these meetings is that already announced for the evening of February 5, when a credit bureau and cooperative advertising will be the subjects of discussion.

The Merchants Division committee is developing a cooperative advertising plan to be placed at the disposal of Newton business men. This is intended to serve as a medium for taking the message of Newton merchants into nearly every home in Newton in a way that will make it welcome and secure maximum results for local advertisers. The plan is being perfected and will be explained in detail at the coming meeting. The committee itself is enthusiastic regarding its possibilities and anticipate having the support of a sufficient number of their fellow business men to make it a vital force in promoting the future prosperity and expansion of the commercial interests of Newton.

The committee appointed to serve as the board of directors of the Chamber, and Development Division of the Chamber, of which G. Wilbur Thompson is chairman, held its first meeting at the Newton Club on Thursday of this week, this committee having adopted the plan of luncheon meetings favored by the Mercantile committee. The new Board of Directors of the Chamber, elected at the annual meeting on January 16, held its initial meeting at the Newton Club on Thursday evening.

President Rupert C. Thompson of the Chamber has appointed the following to serve as the legislative committee of the Chamber during the coming year: Philip Nichols of Newton, chairman; Albert M. Lyon of Newtonville, and George V. Phipps of Waban. It will be the duty of this committee to watch all proposed legislation, study all bills designed to affect cities and towns, the Metropolitan District, etc., and the attention of the Board of Directors, or of this Chamber as a whole to those things promising to directly affect Newton, and to take such other action as may, in their discretion, be consistent and help to safeguard the interests of Newton in any matter pending enactment in the General Court during the present session.

The special committee authorized at the annual meeting of the Chamber on January 16 to analyze the State Department of Public Utilities bill to create a Metropolitan Planning Commission, and report back to the Chamber with recommendations as to the attitude that the Chamber should take in regard to this important measure, has been appointed by President Thompson. Those who have consented to serve on this committee are President Arthur W. Hollis of the Board of Aldermen, City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett, and James Kingman of the Newton Planning Board.

with some kind of a receptacle, paying for a small amount of coal and taking it away with them as an emergency measure. This is the right kind of cooperation to get immediate results, and yet some consumers have been much offended when the Local Fuel Administrator suggested their going to the yard of their dealer and getting a few days' supply. As many as 100 lots have been sold at some dealers' yards in one day recently, which has greatly helped the situation. If more consumers will help their dealers by such cooperation, the results will be highly satisfactory, and relieve our citizens from any suffering.

If the snow goes away quickly and settled traveling results, we should have plenty of coal for all in Newton within the next thirty days, but if the January weather continues another month, there will be great need of the cooperation of all consumers with the local coal dealers to avoid suffering in the home.

A mixture of Pea or Buckwheat with the larger sizes of Egg or Furnace in the heaters will serve a good purpose, and produce as good heat as though all large size coal was used. Coke, where it can be obtained, may also be used to good advantage with the various sizes of hard coal. Soft coal, also in quantities small enough not to clog the draft, may be used in the heaters to good advantage.

It seems to be a time we should all break away from our accustomed coal habits, and try experiments of substitutes in kinds and sizes to help relieve the situation during the present cold weather and difficult traveling.

One of the functions of the Local Fuel Administrator seems to be to suggest ways in which people may help things, and these suggestions are offered to the citizens of Newton for that purpose.

Yours very truly,
OLIVER M. FISHER,
Fuel Administrator, City of Newton.

THE APPALACHIAN CLUB VISITS NEWTON

Some people think that to get good snowshoeing you must go to New Hampshire but not so, especially in a winter like the present one when three feet of snow can be found in woods near Boston. The members of the Appalachian Mountain Club know this and anyone in the vicinity of the Chestnut Hill Reservoir and Hammond Pond last Saturday, would have seen about 90 people on snowshoes and in knickerbockers walking over hills and through fields and woods for about four miles arriving at last with ruddy cheeks and a vicious appetite at the new building of the Newton Centre Woman's Club.

After enjoying a picnic supper, an orchestra of four pieces arrived and a company of over two hundred enjoyed dancing from 6:30 to 10:30 P. M. Members of the Club were present from every city and town in Metropolitan Boston and were very enthusiastic about the new club house and expressed a desire to come again. The party was in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney R. Porter.

DEATH OF MR. ROYCE

Mr. Charles A. Royce, son of James Chamberlain Royce, died at his home on Putnam Street, West Newton, on Monday in his 80th year.

Mr. Royce was born in Wales, Mass., and was educated at Wilbraham Academy. Following his graduation he came to Boston and was in a large dry goods house up to the time of the Boston fire. Later he became associated with the old-time china house of Abram French and Company, for which he was credit manager and confidential clerk. He remained with this concern for twenty years, retiring about two years ago.

Mr. Royce was a member of the Joseph Warren Lodge of Masons. In Newton he was identified with the First Unitarian Church of which he was a member of the standing committee.

Surviving him are a son, Charles B. Royce of Nutter, New Jersey, and a daughter, Miss Anna C. Royce, who lived with her father. Mrs. Royce died in 1919.

Jolliffe of Worcester, and Mrs. Archie Wilson of Newtonville, with whom she had always made her home, also four grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

She attended the Lincoln Park Baptist Church. Services were held at her daughter's residence, 401 Albe-marle road, Newtonville, Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Fred Peakes officiating. Interment was in the family lot in Newton Cemetery.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SECOND CHURCH

The Annual Meeting of the Second Church, Rev. J. Edgar Park, Minister, was held in the Parish House of the Church on Friday evening, January 19.

It was preceded by a very enjoyable Church Supper arranged by the Social Committee under Mrs. Stanley M. Bolster as chairman, at which about 375 were seated.

At the business meeting following, these officers were elected:—

Joseph A. Symonds, Deacon.
William F. Chase, Treasurer.
George H. Fernald, Jr., Moderator.
Joseph D. Wood, Clerk.
Harlan D. Crowell, Church School Superintendent.

Edwin H. Rogers, Member Executive Committee.
Benjamin J. Bowen, Charles J. A. Wilson, Auditors.

The annual reports for the year 1922 were presented and adopted. They show the present membership of the Church to be 808. In the Church School, a good increase in enrollment and attendance is noted. An average attendance of 322. The report of the Treasurer discloses the wide range of benevolences in which the Church has a part, beginning with causes here at home and reaching to China and Turkey, in each of which the Church has an active interest in efficient missionaries. There are already in 1923, 694 individual subscribers to the work of the church.

The report of the choirmaster, Mr. William Lester Bates, showed that all sections of the choir of over 100 voices were now filled, with a waiting list in several sections.

Special gratitude was expressed during the meeting for the splendid services of Mr. Edward M. Hall, who has so graciously acted for so many years as head usher of the church.

After the business meeting a very delightful entertainment was given under the title of Motion Pictures of Second Church Activities. This was under the charge of Mrs. Thomas Weston and Mrs. Philip R. Dunbar. This church has been holding services in West Newton for 163 years.

The new officers of the Woman's Guild are:—Mrs. Thomas Chalmers, 425 Waltham street, President; Mrs. Everett L. Upham, 189 Mt. Vernon street, Recording Secretary; Miss Margaret King, 60 Bigelow road, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Joseph A. Symonds, 15 Davis avenue, Treasurer.

READ FUND LECTURE

The Read Fund course of lectures opened most auspiciously on Monday night at the Hunnewell Club with a reading by Professor Charles T. Copeland of Harvard College.

Professor Copeland is one of the most popular and well known of the lecturers heard here, and a very enthusiastic and responsive audience greeted him.

The lecturer was in one of his happiest moods, and his "asides" were most diverting and amusing.

He began by reading a paper on Barrie in which he emphasized the literary value of "Margaret Ogilvie" and "A Window in Thrums." It is his opinion that there will outlive Barrie's plays, popular as the latter are.

He read a selection from "My Lady Nicotine," one of Barrie's less known works, and one from Stevenson's "New Arabian Nights," and "The Inconsiderate Waiter" by Barrie.

All of the selections were in lighter vein, and the reader did full justice to the wit and humor of the authors.

The selection in regard to "William, the waiter," was particularly well done.

Much to the regret of his audience, Professor Copeland refused to give an encore.

CITY HALL

The fourth and final hearing regarding the discharge of Miss Annette V. Bryson by Building Commissioner Walter R. Forbush on Dec. 23, 1922, was held Wednesday afternoon. Miss Bryson had been in the employ of the city for 15 years and for 11 years was in the commissioner's office.

A statement was read from the Master Plumbers' Association, signed by the President, David H. Kerr, to the effect that Miss Bryson had always treated the association with courtesy and efficiency.

Joseph Lundy, counsel for Mayor Curley of Boston, who is representing Miss Bryson, cross-examined C. C. Chadwick, plumbing inspector, concerning the counter-charge made by Miss Bryson, that Chadwick spent part of the city's time every week Vice-Presidents' Missionary Committee taking his children to dancing school.

Chadwick denied all charges.

Commissioner Forbush also denied the counter-charges that he spent only two hours a week in his office, and read a statement to the effect that he spent three hours a day in his office and the rest of his time outside on city business. Regarding Mayor Child's testimony in favor of Miss Bryson, the commissioner said that the Mayor was never in the office for a longer period than 10 minutes and was in no position to know what was going on there.

Mr. Lundy, in rebuttal, said that in the four days he had been in Newton he had discovered that Mr. Forbush was a fair and honest man, but he could not help remarking on the anomaly which made it possible for a man to sit as a judge on a case in which he was vitally interested. Nevertheless, he said that he thought that Mr. Forbush would give a just decision, even if he were the one who had dismissed Miss Bryson.

Mr. Lundy criticized the action of the commission in dismissing Miss Bryson the day before Christmas and he also criticized the testimony of Chadwick, saying that he had plotted against Miss Bryson.

The Civil Service examinations for the positions of captain and lieutenant in the Fire Department to fill the vacancy caused by Capt. Waterhouse's retirement and the vacancy that will occur on the promotion of some of the present lieutenants to that position, were held today at City Hall.

Snow removal in Newton so far this year has cost the city about $25,000. Since the beginning of the winter approximately $10,000 has been spent. At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen this week, $18,000 was appropriated to the Street Department for snow and ice removal.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SUCCESS

Three years ago a wonderful work for little children was started in our city. This preventive health work for children is covering a great need. No provision had ever been made for this need before the Christmas Seal Fund was established.

Three hundred dollars more is needed to maintain the present work, thus far in this canvas we have raised $430,000 of our $465,000 quota.

Three quarters of our quota goes directly from Mr. Harriman's hands to the Special Health Fund in the Welfare Bureau Treasury. Our fund has no expense for overhead, because we use the services of the Welfare Bureau Secretary, Mrs. Hull, with all the wealth of her previous experience in Tuberculosis work.

Three years ago for the first time money was available for special needs in families where there has been Tuberculosis—for warm clothing outfit when a patient goes to a sanatorium, for milk for the children. Over $100,000 a year is spent on milk alone. But the big constructive health work is our Health Classes for children who are very very much underweight. These undernourished children are found for us by the school teachers.

Our Seal Fund nurse goes into the homes, gets the co-operation of the mother. The children are examined by their family physicians for special needs. Often the result of that examination is a protection to you and yours!

The special cases are handled by co-operating health agencies.

The majority of the children are ready to attend our Health Classes one afternoon a week. The Seal Fund nurse and doctors teach them to play the health games.

In their own groups these children formulate public opinion on health rules. With eagerness they gain health and weight and happiness.

Will you share this happiness? Our fund must pay our Seal Health Nurse, must meet the special needs of Tuberculosis in humble homes, in many homes must put milk for undernourished children, and this year must pay the doctors who attend our health classes. A few interested doctors have, hitherto, given of their time beyond the limit.

More of these classes are needed but to maintain our present work we must make quota.

Why not make a yearly subscription to this work? Begin by sending a check to Henry L. Harriman, Treasurer, 50 Congress street, Boston.

In our Christmas Seal Canvas Waban went wonderfully "over the top" a week before Christmas. Asked for a quota of $300.00, Waban reached $370.00. Newton Highlands arrived at Christmas time and having $300.00 quota reached $332.00. Auburndale with no stated quota, did good work reaching $300.00 Newton Centre, displaying splendid enthusiasm in the work, raising full quota and a bit more, $811.00. Newtonville did well, raised its quota $800.04, the same as last year to a cent!

Chestnut Hill raised $47.00. The Lowe Falls are still working. Upper Falls raised $58.00.

Newton has done thorough work, has $908, and is still working for its $1050.00 quota. West Newton has worked well and has $880.00 of its $900.00.

Some quota's have been delayed by serious illness among the committee. We must make full quota that this splendid work for little children shall not fail.

This is an investment in the future health of your family and of your country. If you don't see that come to the chairman for facts.

Share this health work for little children. Make out your check to Mr. Harriman. Few things are more worth while.

Y. W. C. A.

A Membership meeting of the Newton Young Women's Christian Association will be held in the Association rooms on Friday, February 2nd, at 7.30 P. M. It is hoped that all members of the Association will make an effort to be present, as it is hoped to make this a gathering of the whole membership. The programme of the evening will include a skit by the members, which is to take the form of a living Motion Picture, entitled "How Newton spends a Day at the Y. W. C. A." with an "All Star Cast".

Miss Anne Wiggin, of the National Y. W. C. A. will give a short address on what the Association is doing elsewhere, and what is the opportunity here.

At the close of the meeting, there will be refreshments for all, and also an opportunity for the girls and young women of the Association to become acquainted with its officers.

In a hard fought game on the home court, the Newton Y. W. C. A. succeeded in tying the score in a game against the Pawtucket Y. W. C. A. on Saturday evening, January 20th. Both teams showed the result of good coaching, and at various times during the game, both teams managed to keep the lead on score, but the game ended with a tie score, made in the last two or three minutes, of 25 to 25.

On Tuesday evening, January 24, also on the Newton Court, the Newton team was defeated by the Boston Y. W. C. A. first and second teams. Newton was lacking four of her best players, including the captain, Isabelle McNeil, but managed to play a well-fought game in spite of that fact. The final scores were as follows: 1st Teams, Boston 41, Newton 13. 2nd Teams, Boston 14, Newton 5.

On Saturday night of this week, there will be a dance at the Newton Y. W. C. A. At a series of dances held every month, the attendance has been increasing good, so that it is hoped that there will be a large number on the floor this coming Saturday.

Members of the Association and their friends are welcome and it is asked that they sign up for the dance in advance, in order that there may be enough refreshments for everyone. The music will be supplied by Jack Spaulding, who needs no recommendation, as he is a well known musician in Newton.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The bowling team lost four points to Maugus on Wednesday evening in the first game in the Boston Pin Tournament of the Newton League. A complimentary dinner will be given at the club next Thursday evening to ex-Aldermen Philip Nichols and Theodore E. Jewell.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt

Chief among the reasons given by the majority of women for joining the woman's club of their locality, particularly if she is a new-comer to that community, would probably be, to get acquainted. A perfectly legitimate reason, for no person can really become a part of a community until he or she knows the men and women who compose it. After a year or two, perhaps, of membership in a large club of from 300 to 600 members, how many does the quiet woman know, and what active means has ever been employed to help such to become acquainted? If the truth were told, probably only a very small number. Even the president on the platform still seems the one or two steps of that platform above and removed from her. Special social teas following meetings do help to a small degree, but even then friends naturally flock together. Working together on committees is a great help in this direction, but all women are not suited for that. The experiment of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands with its special tea for new members held in a private home, and the weekly teas of the Auburndale Woman's Club in its new quarters will go a long way toward meeting this need. Let more of the clubs consider this important part of club work.

The Legislative committee will be in charge of the afternoon on Tuesday at Medford, and of another at the Roxbury Club, of Roxbury, on February 24.

Newton W. C. T. U.

Thursday, February 1st, at 2.30 P. M. Mrs. Cyrus T. Schirmer will open her home, 25 Wachusett road, near corner Commonwealth avenue and Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, for a meeting of the Newton W. C. T. U. All are cordially invited to attend. A dramatic reading, "The Fifteenth Candle," will be given by Mrs. E. J. James. The members will be interested in the following announcement:

Tuesday, January 30, from 2 to 5 P. M. the new Harriet E. Sawyer Home for Aged Women will hold services of dedication. This Home was opened three years ago last fall at the White Ribbon Home for Aged Women of the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance Union, occupying buildings used during the war as a hostel for the women relatives and friends of the soldiers at Camp Devens who came to visit them. Last fall it was transferred to its present location, 22 Parker street, Malden, where are now twenty women enjoying the care and comfort needed in the evening of life.

For the dedication Mrs. Arabella Wood Wilson, of Malden is chairman of the committee and has arranged an attractive program of music by Mrs. Lillian Evans Marshall of Beach Bluff and Mrs. Edith M. Wilson of Melrose. Mayor Kimball of Malden will give an address of welcome and Rev. James T. Rider, now of Tremont Temple, but formerly located at Ayer, will conduct the religious portion of the service. Mrs. Mary E. Frost, president of the White Ribbon Home Corporation will speak of the home and of the work of Mrs. Sawyer, for whom it is named and who has recently passed away. Following the program there will be a reception by the officers and tea will be served.

Local Announcements

Mrs. B. R. Gilbert is hostess for the meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. F. H. Stratton is in charge of the quiz.

On Tuesday, January 30, at 10.30 A. M. Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney will give the fourth of her series of lectures before the Waban Woman's Club, on "Modern Literature, her subject being, 'Dramatists Who Stimulate Thought.' Those who are attending Mrs. Gurney's lectures are enjoying them greatly and are being inspired to read more of the authors under discussion. Single tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Felix A. Burton, 64 Collins road.

Cards for Presidents' Day at the Auburndale Woman's Club have been sent to more than fifty presidents and secretaries of nearby clubs. Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole, Mrs. George Minot Baker, Mrs. William H. White, and Mrs. Ralph C. Henry are to be guests of honor, each bringing a brief message to the club. The program will consist of a dramatic impersonation of some Famous Mothers of History by Beatrice King Stodola and Mignon Rounds Goward. This entirely new production will present its heroines by means of costumed pose, music, verse, and story dealing with each particular period from heroic Greece to the present century. Members may invite guests as usual. A reception will follow the meeting, which will be held in the Auditorium of the Club House on Tuesday afternoon, January 30, at 2.30 o'clock.

The program committee, Mrs. William J. Benger, chairman, announces an interesting entertainment for Guest Night, February 27. The Glee Club of Boston University, some forty in number, will render a program of songs, instrumental numbers by the Banjo Club, and specialty features. An orchestra of six pieces from the Glee Club will furnish music for the dancing, which is to follow a unique supper served by the Hospitality committee. Tickets are ready, and may be purchased from any member of the program committee until February 23. The Reception committee, Mrs. E. J. Winslow, chairman, is giving a series of informal teas for club members on Wednesday afternoons. Rehearsals are in progress for a concert to be given on the evening of March 21, in which the Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus is to be joined by the Taunton Woman's Club Chorus. Both of these groups are conducted by Mrs. Julia R. McCormick. The combined chorus will be assisted by prominent soloists.

At an extra meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday evening, January 30, at 8 o'clock, Mr. Herbert W. Gleason will give a travel talk of distinct educational value on the Grand Canyon and Southern Utah, a region characterized by extraordinary rock sculpture and painted cliffs. The lantern slides used to illustrate his lecture were made by Mr. Gleason from original photographs and exquisitely colored from nature by Mrs. Gleason, who accompanied her husband on his trips to this region. Tickets, which may be obtained at the door, must be presented both by club members and the public, to whom the lecture is open.

The Legislative committee, Miss Grace Allen, chairman, is busy with plans for legislative afternoon and a two-act play, based upon obsolete naturalization laws, is being rehearsed with Miss Marion Drew Bassett as coach.

Mrs. Sidney Peterson will give a paper on "Modern English Dramatists—Shaw, Galsworthy, and Barrie," at the meeting of the Newton Social Science Club next Wednesday morning.

Thursday, February 1, the Newton Ladies' Home Circle will meet in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville.

Dr. H. H. Powers will speak on Current Events before the Newton Community Club on Thursday, February 1, after which Mrs. Ralph W. Bartlett, chairman of the Legislative committee, will present important measures before the Legislature with speakers both sides.

Local Happenings

Marshall Livingston Perrin, Professor of Germanic Languages at Boston University, gave the members of the Waban Woman's Club, Monday, January 22, a very real appreciation of "The New China of the Chinese." His stories and personal anecdotes of two years' residence in China as exchange professor inspired his audience with much of his own intense interest in that country. Their kindness and lack of aggressiveness, their veneration for learning, their immediate punishment of offences, their cleanliness, and their honesty—these were some of the Chinese characteristics that he brought out. Mr. William North was unable to play, but his place was very kindly and ably taken by Mrs. Ethel Dixon Knights, pianist. Mrs. Knights is a graduate of the New England Conservatory and a pupil of Charles Deneb's. While tea was served Prof. Perrin continued to talk informally with many of the club members.

The bridge party held at the Neighborhood Club on Wednesday, January 17, for the benefit of the West Newton Music School, was a great success. Candy and nuts were sold during the playing. At 4 there was a recital by two of the most promising pupils of the Music School, vocal and violin, following which refreshments, consisting of coffee, sandwiches and cakes were served. Over $250 was cleared, which more than pays Waban's quota toward the support of this charity. The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. Earle E. Conway, Waban, director of the school; Mrs. Fred W. Webster, Jr., chairman of the Civics committee of the Waban Woman's Club; Mrs. George M. Angier, and Mrs. Joseph Congdon, president of the Club.

Tuesday's meeting of the Auburndale Review Club was one of especial interest for personal as well as geographical reasons. The topic, "Boston Authors of Today," and readings from some of their works were handled most ably by Mrs. Amos R. Wells and Mrs. E. J. Frost. Mrs. Wells, whose husband is a member of the Boston Author's Club, was able to give most intimate glimpses of the best known of literary workers in Boston, and the many readings from their works offered by Mrs. Frost emphasized the value of such a club. Songs were sung by Mrs. Wickliffe J. Spaulding, the words by Denis McCarthy and Abbie Farwell Brown, also added much to the enjoyment of the morning.

Mrs. Samuel N. Braman continued the Newton Social Science Club's study of France with a paper Wednesday morning on the life and reign of Louis XIV under the title, "L'ancien Regime: L'Etat—C'est Moi."

One of the pleasant social events of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands took place on Wednesday, January 24, at the home of the president, when the seventy new members who have joined the club during the past year were entertained by the executive board at a reception and tea. The president, Mrs. B. Walter Godsoe, and the two vice-presidents, Mrs. Lawson Oakes and Miss Marion B. Morse, received from three until six. The former presidents, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, Mrs. Albert S. Hutchinson and Mrs. Grosvenor D. Marcy, acted as hostesses in the dining room, assisted by the directors, Mrs. Edwin Gibbs, Mrs. Loren Fletcher, and Mrs. Henry Skelton. Mrs. Harry P. Sorté contributed several charming songs, and the group of ushers succeeded admirably in the duties assigned to them. The club has now about 500 members.

Unusual Winter
Comfort

Buick reputation for anticipating your ideas of comfort for all weathers, performance and utility, with models of advanced design is strikingly upheld in Buick open models.

Examination shows how the thoughtful application of simple, practical methods of sealing curtain and windshield joints against wind, cold and rain has resulted in a welcome degree of winter and early spring comfort you never thought possible for an open car.

Coldest weather cannot impair the efficiency of the Buick oil pump.
This pump is so designed that should the pump gears be held immovable through freezing, the shaft revolves within the gear.
The heat thus generated thaws out the frozen parts, restoring gear action and oil flow to normal.

GIVEN GOLD WATCH

The second annual banquet of the Newton City Laborers' Union, Local 175, was held Wednesday night at the Newton Catholic Club. Mayor Edwin O. Childs, members of the Board of Aldermen, and other city officials were guests.

A. Leslie Moriarty, who is serving his seventh term as president, has seen the organization grow from 75 members to nearly 400, was toastmaster. On behalf of the city laborers, Mayor Childs presented Mr. Moriarty a gold watch in appreciation of the work he has done to better working conditions in Newton.

The banquet was one of jubilation, owing to the fact that last week the Board of Aldermen voted to give the city laborers Saturday half-holiday all the year. Mayor Childs complimented the union on its loyalty to the city and on the manner in which the men have conducted with the department speakers. The Mayor and the other speakers, touched upon the excellent condition of Newton's streets this winter. All the main highways have been cleared of snow within 24 hours after each storm.

"No strikes, direct legislation, peaceful arbitration," is the motto of the organization, said Mr. Moriarty. Newly every member of the Board of Aldermen was present and the absent ones sent letters or telegrams of congratulation.

The speakers included Aldermen Arthur W. Hollis, G. M. Heathcote, Harry B. Ross, Sinclair Weeks, Harry W. Fitts, George W. Pratt, T. C. Hickey, G. W. Greenstein, Harry W. Ball, Daniel O'Connell, J. C. Madden, Frederick L. Smith, Roy V. Collins, Harold E. Young and William E. Earle, City Solicitor J. W. Bartlett, Street Commissioner Stuart, ex-Alderman T. J. Lyons, Stpt. Green as Flaminia, daughter of Lorenzo; Robert E. Perry as Piero, a shepherd; Leverett D. G. Bentley as Lorenzo; Francis W. Sprague, 2d, as Rocco, a farmer; and Wm. H. Griffin as Frederick, Prince of Pisa, were the featured members of the cast. William G. Hambleton was managing director and master of dancing. Clayton H. Alvord was treasurer, Harold T. Hambleton, stage manager. The opera was repeated Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

entering into it, never will be; that, furthermore, the larger the system becomes the more opportunities there will be for errors to creep in and the more difficult will be the task of giving good and efficient service. He said that, the realization by both subscribers and telephone employees that efficiency means a co-operation of the two will greatly reduce the task.

The principal feature of the evening was the first showing by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company of its new demonstration switchboard. This board typifies any central office with cords, plugs, jacks, and all the rest of telephone paraphernalia upon it.

Miss Mae Rycroft of the West Newton central office, acting as a Newton North operator, and Miss Catherine Madden of the Newton North central office, acting as a Waltham operator, explained what happens when you make a telephone call, how the Telephone Company records the time on measured service calls, how "Line busy" reports are given and how some errors occur in telephone service. The pleasing personalities of these two young ladies made a decided impression upon the audience. While Miss Rycroft had more to say than her co-worker, both the young ladies deserve great credit for what they did and they certainly are an asset to the Telephone Company in being able to explain so clearly and distinctly the many features of telephone operating.

Miss Marie Dunn of the Boston Toll office, explained the whys and wherefores of toll calls and how toll calls are timed. Raymond Forté, a repairman in the Newton North office, gave a very interesting talk on some of the "troubles" that occur in the telephone business.

In connection with the demonstration several sketches were given with Charles F. Donahoe and Frederic E. Cox acting as telephone subscribers making telephone calls. Included in the sketches were bits on local people and interspersed were bits of comedy that showed how subscribers often are to blame for poor telephone service. By and large, the evening's entertainment was one well worth while attending. It gave subscribers a better idea of what it means to be a telephone operator and, judging from the remarks at the conclusion of the performance, many of those who attended will understand the workings of a telephone central office better than ever before.

NEWTON CENTRE SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

Wednesday evening, January 24, the Newton Centre School Association held their annual Father's Night. Considering the extremely bad weather the number gathered was quite remarkable, showing the genuine interest felt by the parents. The program was as follows:

After listening to several well rendered numbers by the Technical High Orchestra, to whom, and Mr. Charles B. Harrington we owe many thanks, Mrs. Howard Winslow, the president, opened the meeting, calling for reports from the Secretary, Treasurer, and committees, from which was learned how much really effective work the women of Newton Centre have been doing. Through the efforts of this organization many new members (and we want more) have been added, with the help of our Superintendent, the Mayor, and Aldermen, we have secured a new long-needed room in the Rice School to be of triple use, as rest room for teachers, emergency room, and for special tutoring. Many adjustable desks have replaced the old, uncomfortable ones, electric lights have been put in, the plea for lights in the Mason School has been made and we hope for results soon as it is impossible for the children to do work in unlighted rooms dark days. The eight weeks system has gone through and goes into action Feb. 15th. Many needs have been met by the Relief Committee. The money from the Candy Sale that evening will meet the cost of the new Mason School, ten dollars having been given already by Mr. Nance towards it. Also we have Mr. Haffnerfeldt to thank for a gift of another victrola, to be used on the second floor.

Mrs. Hayden secured for us our speaker of the evening, Mr. Eugene Smith, whom Mr. Paul introduced, at the same time expressing his appreciation of the work done by the women of this organization. Mr. Smith is one of our foremost leaders in progressive education. The founder of the Park School, Baltimore, and head of the Beane Country Day School, Brookline.

He gave us a most enlightening and comprehensive talk, urging the need of well directed play and careful, scientific analysis of one child's physical and mental growth, not only, but regularly year to year, testing. In this way, spending freely now to reap far better results later, and through careful testing starting the youth out in lines most adapted to their special abilities, and so filling the future with better citizens, even though the parent himself has set his heart on his child accomplishing some one thing which he cannot do possibly succeed by but could do much for the world in other lines.

After the lecture Mrs. C. F. Kendall and committee served us with delightful refreshments and after a pleasant social time the meeting broke up well content to splash through the wet to their homes.

CARD OF THANKS

January 23, 1923.
I wish to acknowledge to my relatives and friends my deepest gratitude for their kind assistance and sincere expressions of sympathy, floral offerings, and spiritual bouquets, during my late bereavement.
